Building Is Located Near Finzer Station, on Top of High Hill.

COURSE IS EXCELLENT

Golf Grounds Are 3200 Yards Long, With Nine Holes—View From Club House Extends Over Valley for Long Distance.

SALEM, Or., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—The new clubhouse of the Illheer Golf Club near Finzer, five miles south of Salem, was opened officially tonight with a grand ball, at which were gathered the leading citizens of this vicinity. The ball was one of the main social events of the season and the interior of the club was decorated for the occasion. The new clubhouse is situated on the top of a high hill overlooking the magnificent sweep of the Willamette Valley for miles, with the Willamette River winding below on the west.

Rustic Finish Prevails.
The building is 40 feet wide by 60 feet long, with veranda on the east and north 14 feet wide, and has a full basement. The outside walls are constructed entirely of eight-inch peed Oregon fir logs, and the same rustic finish is carried on in the interior. The basement contains men's and women's locker rooms, toilet rooms, lunch room, storage room and heating plant.

The first floor has the kitchen, dining alcove and lounge room, 40 by 50 feet. The lounge room is provided with an exceptionally fine dance floor, with a large cobbles-tone fireplace on the south end. Across the south end, over the dining alcove and kitchen, is a gallery from which open living quarters for the caretaker.

The building is a model of convenience and is artistic in design, provided with all the facilities for a modern club building. The building committee included T. A. Livesley, Homer H. Smith and C. E. Bishop.

Course Is Excellent.

The Illheer Golf Club was organized three years ago and has an ideal nine-hole course of 3200 yards and with a natural rolling site has many of hazards. Asst. Bush is president of the club and Ralph Moores secretary. Its membership is composed of residents of Salem, and the success of the club is more than assured with the acquisition of the new clubhouse. Riverside Drive, which leads to the club, is a fine roadway and almost ideal for motoring.

The club has announced that Sunday, November 4, it will hold its first annual golf tournament, this to be an open tournament with meadow play. All clubs throughout the state will be invited to participate.

Commissioner Says Higher Movie Fee Not Justified.

PROFITS ALLEGED LARGE

Mr. Hoff Asserts Increased Moving Picture Prices Will Give Owners Three Cents Profit on Every Ticket Sold.

SALEM, Or., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—Labor Commissioner Hoff today issued a statement attacking motion picture houses for increasing their charges from 15 to 20 cents.

In his statement he says in part: "We should hesitate about sitting in judgment on the man that has nothing but his hands to get himself, his wife and children from misery, when it is a fact that some business men are responsible for the conditions which have been forced upon us—an excuse for fleecing the workmen. This fact does not excuse the workmen for doing that which pleases the enemy, but it does accuse the man who is causing the blood of our boys into increased profits."

Profiteering Is Charged.
"Mr. Hoover gives many instances substantiating the charge of excess profiteering. I will cite but one particular instance of the man which I have investigated to some extent in Portland; the moving picture shows. Some of them have already, and others are going to, raise the admission fee 5 cents. The playhouses which I inquired into have a total attendance in the eight performances during the day of from 2000 to 10,000 each. The collection of the additional 5 cents means from $150 to $500 additional revenue each day. Of the 5 cents extra charge the theater retains 3 cents, giving the Government 2 cents, and the exhibitor a day extra profit.

"In this connection it should be taken into consideration that when wages begin to rise as well, and which shows increased price of admission 5 cents, an increase of 50 per cent. I do not know of any workman getting more than 50 per cent increase in wages, while rent and price of electricity remain the same.

Must Correct Conditions.
"It is such conditions as these, which exist in other trades as well, and which contribute to the feeling that the 'Huns' at home are doing more harm to our cause than are the 'Huns' the boys must face abroad. The latter stab is from the front, while the 'Huns' at home are stabbing them in the back. Such conditions as these are increasing the blood-drenching of freedom's battlefield, and will be responsible for crepe on more American doors, if not corrected.

Progress of the War.

ITALY'S mettle is being critically tested by the tremendous Teutonic drive on the Isonzo front under command of Emperor Charles, of Austria. Apparently virtually the entire Austrian army and strong German forces are pitted against the Italians.

From the first blow General Cadorna's second army has suffered a serious shock, and Berlin claims the defeat of this section of the Italian forces, from which it announces the capture of 60,000 men and 450 guns. These losses seem to bear out the German claim as to the fate of this Italian army, but apparently the crucial hour has not yet come which will determine whether the Austro-German host can be held at the mountain passes and prevented from overflowing into the fertile plains of Venezia.

CIVIL SERVICE IN AIR

State Employees May Be Given Security in Jobs.

STATE PAYROLL $1,635,320

Employees Number 1449, Which Is Considered Fair Average, of Which 1011 Receive Salaries or Wages of $1200 or Less.

SALEM, Or., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—The committee created by the last Legislature to investigate the question of consolidating commissions and eliminating duplications of state activities is seriously contemplating recommending to the next Legislature that state employees be placed upon a civil service basis, according to information which has been received here.

It is understood that the Commission is not a unit yet on this plan, but that some discussions along that line have been indulged in among the members, some of them opposing the idea. Such a recommendation, if carried, would be somewhat revolutionary in its nature. A digest of state employees shows that 1449 were on the state payroll at the close of last year, but the number fluctuates from time to time. This is considered as a fair approximate average. The total state payroll for last year was $1,635,320.

All of these, however, would not come under civil service regulations, it is believed. If the committee should make a recommendation along that line which would be adopted.

In the State Capitol there are 171 employees who come under the head of clerical or stenographic employes, although this number also changes from time to time. Out of the entire list of 1449 employees at the end of last year, 119 received over $2400 per annum; 102 received between $1800 and $2400 and 1011 received $1200 or under.

It is likely that any civil service plan recommended would not extend to such employes as attendants at state institutions, or ordinary laborers, but it is probable that several hundred state employes might be affected should such a proposal come to a head. Civil service for state employes is now a new idea, having from time to time appeared before various Legislatures, but always to be rejected.

BEEMAN QUARRY PICKED

STATE LIME BOARD TO SUPPLY WILLAMETTE FARMERS SOON.

Lack of Funds Likely to Hamper Operations—Aerial Tram Is Needed.

GRANTS PASS, Or., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—After spending two days in a careful study of conditions on the ground, four members of the State Lime Board announced this evening that they had practically determined upon the Beeman quarry, two miles west of Gold Hill, as the most available property for their purpose and that they would soon commence operations there.

The Board has not definitely determined just how they will go about operations. Their funds will not permit the installation of an aerial tram which is the only economical method for handling the proposition and still leave anything for operation expenses. On the other hand, teaming to a siding on the railroad is so slow and expensive the Board feels it cannot be made a fair demonstration of the worth of the project. They hope to be able to get around the difficulty by finding means to increase their funds so as to permit the equipment of the quarry with a tram and still leave funds with which to operate. In any event, lime will be forthcoming for Willamette Valley farmers soon.

Everyone Should Drink Hot Water in the Morning

Wash away all the stomach, liver, and bowel poisons before breakfast.

To feel your best day in and day out, to feel clean inside; no sour bile to coat your tongue and sicken your breath or dull your head; no constipation, bilious attacks, sick headache, colds, rheumatism or gassy, acid stomach, you must bathe on the inside like you bathe outside. This is vastly more important, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do, says a well-known physician.

To keep these poisons and toxins well flushed from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, drink before breakfast each day, a glass of hot water, with a teaspoonful of Limestone phosphate in it. This will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Get a quarter pound of Limestone phosphate from your pharmacist. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, except a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant. Drink phosphate hot water every morning to rid your system of these vile poisons and toxins; also to prevent their formation.

To feel like young folks feel; like you felt before your blood, nerves and muscles become saturated with an accumulation of body poisons, begin this treatment and, above all, keep it up! As soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and purifying, so limestone phosphate and hot water before breakfast, act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.—Adv.

JAPS TO CELEBRATE

Emperor's Birthday Anniversary to Be Observed.

BANQUET WILL BE HELD

Governor, Mayor and Other Public Officials Will Be Guests at Function—Mikado's House Has Ruled 2577 Years.

A little matter of 2577 years ago the first Japanese Emperor ascended the throne. Next Wednesday night Japanese in this city will issue invitations to the Japanese, all of their race are brothers or cousins. The diversity of family names is explained by the ancient custom of the family name of the Emperor of Japan is without name, other than the title of his high dignity. The title of Mikado, commonly used by Occidentals, is seldom heard in Japan or encountered anywhere save in classical literature. The title Emperor of Japan is that of the Mikado, signifying "Heavenly Emperor." Singularly enough, this term was borrowed from the Chinese, even the written character being adopted. The pronunciation, however, varies.

The first Emperor of Japan, who reigned more than 25 centuries ago, was of the family of Jimmu, clan chieftains who were the leaders of the people before the line of Emperors was decreed. But the Mikado does not bear this name, nor the calling of any family. He is the "Heavenly Emperor."

Consul Akamatsu is of an ancient Samurai family, prominent in the annals of Japanese history and in the annals of island folk lore. And the Samurai were the warrior Japanese, the two-sword fighting class.

"It is odd about my family name," smilingly replies Mr. Akamatsu when quizzed. "It is known to all Japanese that my ancestors were of high rank and honored for their services. But at other times—well, an Akamatsu led a great rebellion when the empire was in two factions."

"At school it used to cause me much embarrassment, as we studied our history, to have the class glance at me and laugh when someone read aloud, 'An Akamatsu led the rebellion.'"
