

JUDGE RYAN SEEKS TREASURER'S PLACE

Clackamas County Jurist Announces Candidacy on Republican Ticket.

THREE OTHERS IN CONTEST

Ed D. Cusick, of Albany, and O. M. Plummer and William Adams, of Portland, Already in Field for Office of State Treasurer.

Judge Thomas F. Ryan, of Clackamas County, now Assistant State Treasurer, yesterday announced his candidacy for State Treasurer on the Republican ticket, making the fourth to enter the field for that office. The other aspirants are Ed D. Cusick, an Albany banker; O. M. Plummer, Portland School Director and livestock man, and William Adams, of Portland, now City Treasurer.

Judge Thomas F. Ryan, of Oregon City, Who Announced His Candidacy for State Treasurer Yesterday.

While Mayor of Oregon City Mr. Ryan inaugurated, among other things, the creation of a board of water commissioners, through which Oregon City procured its present system of pure mountain water. He was also the promoter of the movement which resulted in giving to the city of the Falls its municipal elevator, the first of its kind on the Coast.

County Judge Eight Years. For eight years he served as County Judge, and his administrations were characterized by efficiency and economy. He was re-elected by one of the largest majorities ever given a public official in the county. He also served as school director for Oregon City for 18 years.

Judge Ryan is a recognized authority on estate inheritance tax law questions. During the time he has served as Assistant State Treasurer he has represented the state in several hundred inheritance tax cases in court, in all of which he has obtained favorable decrees, resulting in recovering for the state thousands of dollars.

He is a member of the Grange and during the last year his extensive experience rendered valuable assistance to the committee of the Grange and Farmers' Union in preparing and securing the passage of the Oregon Good Roads Association and campaigned the state urging the construction of roads from farming sections to market places. Judge Ryan has always been recognized as a leading Republican and stands high in the councils of his party. He is also prominent as a worker in city fraternal and charitable organizations. He has always been interested in horticulture and agriculture and is the owner of the Ryan fruit farm near Oregon City. Judge Ryan is married Miss Inez Marshall, a Portland teacher, in 1897 and has two sons and two daughters.

No Campaign Contemplated. In announcing his candidacy, Judge Ryan said he would make neither a speaking nor a traveling campaign in behalf of his candidacy, declaring that during the present world struggle for democracy it is the duty of all citizens to devote their energy, time and money towards aiding to win the war.

"For the past seven years I have occupied the office of Assistant State Treasurer, and in the coming primaries I expect to be elected to that position," said Judge Ryan. "With the world at war and our Nation sacrificing the flower of its manhood and wealth, democracy may triumph and gain a world-wide foothold. It is the duty of every citizen to devote as much of his time, energy and money as possible to aid in winning the war, and I shall make neither a speaking nor traveling campaign, but shall submit my qualifications to the people and leave my candidacy to their verdict. This is no time for political and costly campaigns; no time to be touring and scouring the state for votes to gratify political ambitions.

Credit Given for Work. "I am proud of the system that has been inaugurated in the State Treasury Department by State Treasurer Kay and myself. The National examiners have given us credit for performing more work with less money than any other treasury in the Union, and also with having the best regulated and most efficient office. If I am nominated and elected, I pledge myself to maintain the present high standard of the office that the Oregon Treasury Department may continue to hold first place among the treasuries of the United States.

Having, as Assistant State Treasurer, made a study of the several state institutions, I feel that I am thoroughly conversant with their requirements, and also the duties of the boards and commissions on which the State Treasurer serves as a member. I also believe that my long residence in Oregon and years of service as a public official have made me familiar with the needs of the agricultural, horticultural, drainage, irrigation and other industrial interests of the state, and if nominated and elected I will endeavor to be the best of my ability to promote the welfare of these industries and to give the people an efficient, economical and business-like administration."

Because the last will of the late Mrs. E. Meyer was not properly executed, County Judge Taxwell yesterday revoked the appointment of executor heretofore issued to her surviving son, Melville Meyer, but again appointed him as administrator of the estate. Investigation showed that Sam Boyer, one of the witnesses to the will, had not signed it in presence of Mrs. Meyer or any of the other witnesses. Mrs. Meyer left an estate valued at $26,000, which was left to the son except for a bequest of $1000 to a sister. She died in Portland December 19 last.

Night Smelt Fishing Allowed.

KEELO, Wash., Jan. 12.—(Special.)—In response to the appeal of Kelso fishing interests for a clear definition of the smelt fishing regulations, State Fish Commissioner H. B. Parker issued a statement to the effect that no changes have been made in the laws since the 1915 fishing code was adopted, but that the clause in that code, which forbids fishing for smelt with gill nets, will be enforced within Washington's jurisdiction. Mr. Darwin says he has no authority to suspend the regulations of the code, and that stopping of dip-net fishing for smelt at night has never been contemplated. The Cowitz River fishermen will be injured by the gill netting regulation, as the Oregon fishermen are busy now taking smelt with gill nets, while the local men are not permitted to.
