put on the market at reduced prices. Con-sequently a ranswed vigor has taken hold of the feeder market within the last 10 days, and this condition seems to have affected more especially warm feeders, many of which have gone out from the cattle department at 8c to 9c. The general transactions in the gaitle department have been about steady, with prices previously quoted, and a renewed activity is calling into the yards a fair supply and a heavy demand for all classes.

"The struction in the feeder department of the hog alleys is showing some signs of renewed vigor. Many of the large feeders who took out stock some 60 days since are returning their finished product to the mar-let and creating a new demand for feeder material.

In the sheep department the demand con tinues strong with little or no offerings. A considerable shipment of every class in the sheep department could be handled at this

MOVEMENT OF GRAIN TO MARKET HALTED BY STORM.

Corn That Reaches Chicago Cannot Be Inspected-Only Five Cars of Oats Received.

CHICAGO Jan 12.-Bitzzard condition which implied a practical halt of the crop movement, brought about something of an advance today in the value of corn. Prices closed steady, %c to %c net higher, with January $1.27% and May $1.25% 6$1.25%. Oats gained %c to %c %c. Provisions finished unchanged to 7%c up.

With indicand traffic nearly paralyzed, the outlook was that considerable time must necessarily elapse before receipts of corn would again reach even a fair-sized total. Accordingly prices showed an immediate bendency to rise, although, on account of the crippling of wire service, commission houses had but few orders. Owing to the severity of the storm, what corn had arrived could not be inspected and there were no samples available as a basis for cash trading. Week-end adjustment eased the future deliveries market a little in the hast cash of the session, after a moderate upturn in prices.

Oats hardened in price, influenced by the half of the session, after a moderate upturn in prices.

Outs hardened in price, influenced by the same means which was effective to corn. There were receipts of only five cars here coday of outs.

Hardly more than half a dozen trades were made in provisions. Prices averaged ligher on account of the curtaliment of the log supply. The scanty business done was onfined almost entirely to lard.

PROFESSIONAL WEEK IN WALL STREET Slight Public Interest in Stock Market Operations.

Operations.

NEW YORK Jan. 12.—Trading on the stock exchange this week was almost whelly restricted to minor groups of professional operators, who seized upon every opportunity to take small profits in the narrow swing of the dull and irregular session.

Of public interest there was scarcely the slightest indication, and investment buying, for many years an inevitable accompaniment of most January markets, was most conspicuously absent.

Stocks were at lowest levels in the final session. The list received a pronounced setback on news that the Government purposes asking Congress for power to requisite all issues of securities during the war. General interest converged around the President's message on war aims, prospec-
