"They know how to sell anything, be it pins or threshing machines, and will certainly give the sale of war thrift stamps the same attention."

Patriotic Spirit Prevails.
These men have a tactful, forceful way of accomplishing what they set out to do. Now they're imbued with the patriotic intention of selling many thousands of dollars' worth of war savings stamps and they will make good in their ambitions, to be sure. They have sold thousands of dollars' worth of stamps and given valuable assistance in Y. M. C. A., Red Cross and Knights of Columbus drives. Now they are aligned, every man of them, as a stamp-selling agent.

The Oregon division of the Travelers' Protective Association, according to Clyde Evans, secretary-treasurer, has more than 900 members. It maintains permanent headquarters in the Morgan building, in Portland.

Benefit Claims Total $15,000.
During last year members in this state were paid in excess of $15,000 as benefit claims, accident protection being one of the valued features of the association's operations. Direct affiliation is maintained with the National organization, which has 75,000 members, headquarters in 27 states and 300 branches in all principal cities of the Nation. The organization has accomplished all this in five years, having been formed only in 1910.

Mission kindergarten work is the goal of Miss Toshi Otaki, a young woman from Japan. Her ambition is to have a mission kindergarten in Japan, where she will not only teach the children who come to her school, but will do social service work for the whole family.

Japanese Girl Accomplished.
Miss Otaki came to this country in October, 1916, going first to Seattle, where she visited relatives. She entered the Bible University in October, 1917. She had heard of the work of the university from mission workers in Osaka, where she taught in a kindergarten for two years, having a class of 100 little children daily.

police rounding up the soldiers and taking them from the place." Mayor Peterson stated that almost before the stranger had finished telling him what had happened between 400 and 500 soldiers and sailors came down the street, headed for the Hof Brau. The police headed them off, giving them direction to move on. After a time some of the soldiers succeeded in getting through the lines and into the building. A crowd of civilian on-lookers quickly assembled. The officers became more vigorous in their efforts to keep the street open. A policeman told the Mayor to move. He moved over behind an automobile, where he believed he would be out of the way and could get a good view of everything that was going on in front of the building.

Chairman Gilbert True Patriot.

ALBANY, Or., Jan. 19.—(Special.)—No chairman of county council of the State Defense League probably will take more interest in his work than will P. D. Gilbert, of this city, for the Albany chairman has four sons in the service. This fact, as well as Mr. Gilbert's capacity for leadership, resulted in his unanimous election to this position when the council met in Albany Wednesday afternoon to choose a successor to Dr. C. E. Gibson, former pastor of the First Methodist Church here, who resigned when he removed from this city. The new chairman is a former Mayor of Albany.

China Greatest Field.

China is the greatest field in the world for religious work, he says. The people are beginning to realize that Christianity is the only thing that can save China, which is entering upon its sixth year in the Bible University. A great number of trained native Christian workers are necessary to wake up the Chinese people, he thinks. "China needs teachers rather than preachers," he declares.

Going to Portland, he attended the Atkinson and Ladd schools and a mission school also, as preparation for his work at the Bible University. He is this year taking English composition at the State University in addition to his studies at the Bible institution.

ALBANY SCHOOLS PLAN RED CROSS WORK. ALBANY, Or., Jan. 19.—(Special.)—A chapter of the Red Cross is to be established in the Albany schools next month. WOMEN ARE CONSIDERING HEAD-GEAR AND WAR ECONOMY.

New Courses in Millinery Offered in Girls' Polytechnic School Will Be of Interest to Many.

With the coming of Spring the feminine residents of the city are pondering on what can be done to renovate their last summer's hats or how they can fashion some new creation without overstepping the limitations prescribed by war economy.

Beginning with this week there will be new courses in millinery inaugurated at the Girls' Polytechnic School on Fourteenth and Morrison streets. One course will be a regular trade course, in which classes will be held every day, the completion of which will enable the student to accept a position in the millinery world. There will be classes for beginners and advanced students in this course.

Another course will be the housekeepers' course, in which millinery will be studied and adapted to the individual needs of the student. These classes will be held two or three times in the week.

Husband and Wife Plead to Help Crush Germany

Oliver C. Brown Appeals for Citizenship Papers in Order That He Might Fight for Stars and Stripes.

"JUDGE, we are willing to do almost anything and undergo any sacrifice in order to do our part in stamping out Prussianism."

With these ringing words Mrs. Oliver C. Brown stood by the side of her husband yesterday before Presiding Judge Morrow and added her plea to that of her husband, who sought final citizenship papers in order that he might enlist in the Navy at once.

Mr. Brown, who was a British subject, told the court that he was especially desirous of obtaining full citizenship at this time in order that he might join the Navy. Under the Navy Department regulations no alien can enlist, even though he has taken out his first citizenship papers.

In order to make certain that the enlistment of Mr. Brown would cause no hardship in his family, Judge Morrow called Mrs. Brown to the witness chair for examination.

"I will go to work and manage somehow to get along while my husband is away," Mrs. Brown told the examining officers. "I expect to suffer a few hardships and know I will have to practice the most rigid economy, but I will do everything and anything in my power to help crush Germany."

Purchase of the property was recommended by the advisory budget board at a meeting of the court on December 28.

10. To legislation which shall bring to a settlement the public lands question, and the greater development of Oregon's natural resources, including the development of water power, reclamation of arid, swamp and logged-off lands.
11. To the organization and mobilization of all our industrial forces, with a just and proper consideration of the rights of labor, which shall guarantee co-ordination of American efforts during the war.
12. To legislation that will permit the natural resources of the great West and Alaska to be used, including the development of water power, and these natural resources are used economically.
13. To the development of Oregon's area shipping ports, through Federal improvement of waterways, and the maintenance of a Federal merchant marine on the Pacific Ocean, and a just recognition on the part of the Federal Government of the importance, economic, agricultural and industrial advantage of Oregon's location, situation, and harbor, and shipping facilities.
14. To a policy of conservation and reconstruction which shall insure our National integrity, honor and commerce and the moral and civic purity of our people.
