1. Chlorophyll a (Chl a) and Chlorophyll b (Chl b) are the two main photosynthetic pigments in green plants. They are responsible for capturing light energy and converting it into chemical energy through the process of photosynthesis. Chl a is the primary pigment, while Chl b acts as an accessory pigment, transferring energy to Chl a.

HERE'S THE WAY A SALT LAKE FIRM BOOSTS THE OWN-A-HOME IDEA AND THE FOOD SAVING CAMPAIGN AT THE SAME TIME.

"Plan to plant and win the war," is the message the National Emergency Food Garden Commission would like to see carried to the people via every store window in the United States, according to a statement by Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the Commission. "Now is the time to do the planning, for the time to plant will be here before you know it," says Mr. Pack, "and we must have the biggest drive ever in the world—ever saw. Real estate men are taking up the campaign and Kimball & Richards, of Salt Lake City, have produced a prize-winning window that brought great deal of praise. Everyone with window space should co-operate in this Nation-wide campaign. The National Emergency Food Garden Commission will for a 2-cent stamp to pay postage send its war garden primer free anywhere in the United States. Put every window in the country to work in this great movement."
