

HOUSEWIVES' DRIVE TO PLEASE PALATE

Best Ways of Preparing War Foods Is End Sought in New Campaign.

FATS MUST BE CONSERVED

Food Administrator Ayer Realizes One Must Eat War Dishes With Gusto or Spirit Behind Conservation Move Will Be Lacking.

By means of a "housewives' campaign" to be started by the food administration tomorrow evening, accurate knowledge of the best ways of preparing the foods ordered by the administration in connection with the new stringent regulations is to be carried to every housewife in Portland.

College Is Called On. Accordingly, arrangements have been made with the department of home economics of the Oregon Agricultural College to teach the gospel of Hooverized cooking to Portland women.

These meetings will not be open to the public, but will be attended only by 250 women, selected from all parts of Portland, for their capability as housewives and ability to talk before an audience.

It is expected that the lesson to the select 250 tomorrow evening will be on the subject of war breads. During this week, each of the select will teach her neighbors the proper methods of making bread from the various substitutes for white flour.

Housewives Are Listed. In order that every housewife may keep informed as to the meetings in her own locality, a list of women able to give information has been furnished by Arthur N. Churchill, of the state food administration, who has charge of the campaign.
