

EVIDENCE IS GAINED IN BADGER GAME

William Tyler Admits Having Paid $15,000 to Harry Henderson "Injured Husband."

MAN AND WIFE GO AWAY

Deputy Constable Who Made Arrest Narrates Suspicious Circumstances Which Lead to Opinion His Arrival at House Timed.

Mill stronger evidences of a "badger game" were brought to light yesterday by Deputy District Attorney Dempsey in his investigation of the settlement of the $100,000 allegation of affectionate suit started last week by Harry L. Henderson, husband of Ethel Henderson, who was found living at an East Side home with William Tyler, a wealthy middle-aged man.

Facts Learned From Attorney. Additional disclosures were given to Mr. Dempsey by Deputy Constables Glass and Watkins, who arrested Tyler and the Henderson woman early last Thursday morning. Many of their facts were gained, they said, from George A. Hall, attorney for Henderson, and Mr. Hall accompanied them to Tyler's home and was present when they placed Tyler and the woman under arrest.

Although the authorities say that Mr. Hall appears to be above suspicion, Mr. Dempsey declared that it looks as though the attorney apparently had been grossly deceived by Henderson, whom he represented. It was Mr. Hall who directed the deputy constables to the room where they found Tyler and the Henderson woman.

Suspicious Are Aroused. "The thing looked suspicious to us from the start," said Deputy Constable Glass. "When we arrived there during the early morning hours we found the outside doors all unlocked. We learned, too, from Tyler that a dog which is usually kept in the kitchen at night was locked up in the bedroom that night for the first time Mrs. Henderson had been living with him. This dog, they told us, usually barked when strangers came about the place.

Both Tyler and the woman also admitted to us that Mrs. Henderson had been sleeping in an adjoining room and had entered Tyler's room just a short time before we arrived. This indicated that if it is a "badger game" she knew just when to expect us and had entered Tyler's room to place him in a compromising situation when we entered the place.

The whole thing looked mighty suspicious to us because it had been arranged to arrest them a night or two earlier, but had been put off at Hall's suggestion. He said Henderson thought we should wait until early Thursday morning. In fact, we have found that the exact time of our entering the place had been decided upon, apparently by Henderson and his wife.

Henderson and Wife Gone. It was learned further by Mr. Dempsey that immediately after she was released from custody, following her arrest, Mrs. Henderson registered at a downtown hotel. Here she met Tyler several times while at the same time she was slipping off to Vancouver at night, it is said, to stay with her husband.

No trace has yet been found of either Henderson or his wife, although Mr. Dempsey yesterday increased Mrs. Henderson's bail bond to $1000 and issued a warrant for her arrest. He said that action would probably be taken Monday to notify the Anglo-American Bank at San Francisco to withhold payment of the $2000 draft drawn on Vancouver by Mr. and Mrs. Henderson until the investigation is completed.

Tyler Willing to Drop Matter. Although he says he is certain that he has been duped out of the $15,000 in a "badger game," Tyler yesterday told Mr. Dempsey that he had no desire to swear out a warrant for either Henderson or his wife. He said he believed he had been "strung," but was willing to let matters drop for the sake of peace. He bestowed the publicity given him.

It was learned yesterday from Vancouver that Mrs. Henderson had been named as co-respondent by Tyler's wife in a divorce action there. It was also learned that Tyler was plaintiff. That suit was dropped and Mrs. Tyler subsequently secured a divorce in the local courts. Later she returned to her former home in Illinois.

WASHINGTON SURVEY ON

Farm Help Specialist J. C. Scott Has Charge of Work in State.

WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE, Pullman, Feb. 2.—(Special.)—Announcement of Washington's farm survey to be completed during the month of February, has been made by Farm Help Specialist J. C. Scott. The Washington state survey will include estimates of labor needed for 1918, both seasonal and year-around; the amount of livestock on hand a year ago, and now; the amount of livestock to be bought and sold.

Mr. Scott says that one important function of the survey will be to facilitate the exchange of commodities, such as livestock and seed, between farmers of different states and different regions within the same state, who now are handicapped by not knowing what may be bought or sold in other regions.

"Every Dollar for Relief"

-A PROCLAMATION From President Wilson

Tells the Need for

Armenian Life Saving Week

THE WHITE HOUSE WASHINGTON

AN APPEAL TO THE AMERICAN PEOPLE.

One year ago, in compliance with resolutions passed by the Senate and by the House of Representatives, I appointed days upon which the people of the United States might make such contributions as they felt disposed for the aid of the stricken Armenian and Syrian peoples.

American diplomatic and consular representatives and other American residents recently returned from Western Asia, assure me that many thousands of lives were saved from starvation by the gifts of the American people last winter. They also bring full assurance of the continued effective distribution of relief and report that the suffering and death from exposure and starvation will inevitably be very much greater this winter than last unless the survivors can be helped by further contributions from America.

Reports indicate that of orphans alone there are more than 400,000, besides women and other dependent children, reaching a total of more than 2,000,000 destitute survivors. The situation is so distressing as to make a special appeal to the sympathies of all.

In view of the urgent need I call again upon the people of the United States to make such further contributions as they feel disposed, in their sympathy and generosity for the aid of these suffering peoples. Contributions may be made through the American Red Cross, Washington, D. C. or direct to the American Committee for Armenia and Syrian Relief, Cleveland H. Dodge, treasurer, One Madison Avenue, New York City.

29 October, 1917.

Woodrow Wilson

—never a cause more worthy

—Indorsed by the American Red Cross, which also helps support the movement.

The President thought the case of these suffering children of enough importance to you, me and other Americans to issue this proclamation. Every agency for good in this world has indorsed it. It is the most urgent appeal from a people ridden by "German Kultur" that you have yet had a chance to answer. On every dollar you give will depend a life. It will be the biggest task in the world to save all those who today are dying from lack of even the most necessary things to sustain life.

In other words, it is up to you as to just how many of these must suffer the most horrible of fates.

WILL YOU SAVE A LIFE?

Of course, you will—but act quickly.

Every cent that is collected will be transmitted almost overnight to those who are suffering. Every way of sympathy and the helping hand is doing its utmost to bring those Christians relief and to BRING IT QUICKLY.

The committee is doing its part. How about YOU?

—So This Is—

Armenian Life Saving Week February 4 to 10 "SAVE A LIFE"—BUT DO IT QUICK

DADDY CLUB TO PROTEST

ORGANIZATION PLANS TO REMEDY MAIL SERVICE.

Matter of Soldiers Not Getting Letters Sent to Them to Be Taken Up With Government.

A campaign to remedy conditions which for some reason or other make it impossible for soldiers and sailors to get mail promptly from home, is to be started by the Fathers of Soldiers and Sailors of Oregon. The organization, which is better known as the "Daddy Club," has appointed a committee comprising Sumner Merrick, S. B. Huston and T. Dahl to formulate plans for a campaign.

At a meeting of the club Friday night at the Library, notes were compared and it was found that soldiers and sailors do not receive all the mail sent to them and that letters from them to their homes get lost in some strange manner. Members of the organization spoke of having written three or four letters a week and having received letters from their sons months later asking why they had not written.

Also it was said that the boys have mentioned in letters received that they have been writing regularly several times a week and the letters have gone astray. The same is said to be true of packages. Members of the committee spoke of having complained to Government officials without avail. The plan now is to urge the organization of "Daddy Clubs," throughout Oregon and to have them appoint committees to aid in protesting against the practice. It is planned also to take the question up with other states and get the same sort of organizations. The committee believes that by getting enough strength behind the protest they may be able to correct the trouble.
