BENEFIT TEA TO AID WORK

All Interested in Association Are Invited to Attend Valentine Tea at Home of Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett, on February 14.

To care for the sick and needy who have he funds with which to pay for medical service is the mission of the Visiting Nurse Association, for the benefit of which a Valentine tea will be given at the home of Mrs. Helen Ledd Corbett on February 14.

During the year just passed 1649 pa-tients were cared for, with a total of 5000 visits made at the various homes 5000 visits made at the various homes by the nurses employed by the association. All appears that come in to the headquarters at 438 Medical building are answered remardless of the race or creed of the individual. The organization is strictly non-sectarian. The work done by these nurses is for the good of the community in building up the health of the poorer classes so that they will be able to work and support themselves.

The city is divided into districts and a nurse is assigned to each district. Her duty is to see that the needy sick in her district are taken care of. Two distinct clinics are supported by the association, the tuberculosis clinic and the children's special clinic. The tuberculosis clinic in maintained in connection with the Portland Free Dispensary on Fourth and Jefferson streets, which is under the direction of a joint board composed of the University of Oregon medical department, the People's Institute and the Visiting Nurse Association.

The National Council of Defense has written to the Visiting Nurse Association asking what Portland has done to establish and maintain a committee on maternity and child conservation.

Miss Julia Lethrop is chairman of the committee which has been egiablished by the National Council of Defense in New York. These committees are being established as fast as possible in the different cities because the people realize how important it is that the mothers and babies be cared for during the time of the war.

East Side Case Pitiful.

Over on the East Side, for example, there is a young mother with a little gard baby boy. The father has recently enlisted. This little family came here from Montana some time ago, with rosy plans for the future. The father was atricken with personal and was ill for some time. During this time the baby was born. When strong enough will be able to take care of his family and keep up payment on a little homestead in Mostana, where they may go, if fortune permits after the war. The baby is ill and the nurses are caring for it. There are absolutely no funds in this house and most of the time no food or fuel. That is but one of many such cases in Portland. The Red Cross Society is constantly referring cases of illness in soldiers' families to the association.

In order to take care of the increased demand for medical assistance there must be more money in the treasury. For this purpose a Valentine tea will be given February 14 at the home of Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett, to which everyone who is interested in the Visiting Nurse Association and in the poor time Nurse Association and in the poor are shortness and high prices of some are shortness and high prices of some form of the commodities, what the individual can office of toward encouraging home industry office of the city cage to know all that we have to tell them about food conservation and the food situation in given familiar with the important points and able to answer the puzzling questions.
