Written with a swing and a realism that includes a few "swear-words," this novel of the war in France is so graphic that it wins easily the reader's liking...

Sergeant Baldwin is an Englishman who emigrated to Canada, and who was working in the rail yards when he learned that his father was in Belgium...

In passing through the crowds on the way to the training camps on Salisbury Plain, England, Baldwin was annoyed when tender-hearted critics among the spectators called out that it was a pity to send such a child as he was to stem the on-rushing Huns...

Baldwin is a modest man and he pretends that he is timid and often afraid as a soldier. But he fought all day in facing the Huns. He learned the utility of the British Lee-Enfield rifle and places the Canadian Ross rifle into the discard...

America at War, edited by Albert Bushnell Hart, St. George H. Doran Company, New York City.

Americans are agreed that America is engaged in a righteous war to crush German militarism, and there is no debate about it.

But the why and whereof of the conflict, so far as speakers, writers and thinking people are concerned, want to visualize the present international situation, and here is a little book that will help them. It is edited by Mr. Hart for the committee on Patriotism Through Education of the National Security League...

WIVES OF WAR LEADERS WORKING, LIKE HUSBANDS, FOR VINDICATION OF RIGHT

Mrs. Josephine Daniels, Besides Giving Two Sons to Nation, Works for Y. W. C. A.—Lady Carson Perpetually Active in Varied Lines.

Mrs. JOSEPHINE DANIELS, like her husband, the Secretary of the Navy, is busy with her work. Mrs. Daniels' interests, however, are on the women's side of the war. She is a member of the National War Work Council of the Y. W. C. A. and was recently in attendance at the conference in New York City.

Lady Carson, wife of Sir Edward Carson, is active in many war movements in Great Britain. She has made herself well known by her perpetual industry. She never stops, but is always doing something that means comfort and joy to fighters.

Her two sons are in the service of the country. Josephus Daniels, Jr., enlisted in the Navy as a seaman and has won his first promotion. Worth Bagley Daniels has been appointed to Annapolis.

A message was sent recently by carrier pigeon from New York to Washington by Mrs. Whitman, wife of New York's Governor, inviting Mrs. Woodworth Wilson to attend a military and naval meet and ball at Madison Square Garden, New York. Mrs. Wilson's reply regretting her inability to attend has already been delivered by pigeon.

As a rule this is about as safe a proceeding as going into a lion's den (full of hungry lions on rations). However, our H. S. is of a milder disposition than some other I have known and I like Daniel, emerged alive.

Three pledges of $50 each were made at a meeting of the vestry and additional pledges amounting to $350. The campaign for funds will be carefully organized, and it is expected that work will begin in about three months.

Head of Detective Bureau Wins Commendation for Work.

Today in the Christian Science churches in the city and in East St. Johns, "Matter" will be the topic of the meetings.

NEW YORK, March 5.—A suspicion of tears was in the eye of more than one policeman recently when Acting Captain William Devey called to his office the 50 men of the First Branch Detective Bureau, of which he has been in charge since its organization, and told them he had applied to be for him. Captain Devey has been on the force 21 years and is 55 years old. There is no doubt that his retirement will be good.

Dr. Louis Albert Banks, of Boston, recently met with the vestry and they over the situation carefully, and reached the conclusion that the present edifice has been completely outgrown because of the rapid growth of the parish.

AGED WOMAN BUSY KNITTING.

Even King George has to have his ration card and precisely the same allowance of food as anybody else. Candy is getting less and less in quantity and less in quality. It does not even taste sweet. We shall have to eat sugar with it soon. Sometimes one dreams of magnificent boxes of chocolates. My supper last night was a little more than I had eaten before. I do sometimes feel that a real Paris treat would do me a world of good.

MOSCOW, Idaho, March 14.—Mrs. Alwida Smith, more than 75 years of age, has knitted 15 sweaters, two pairs of socks and four pairs of wristlets for soldiers since November 1. Mrs. Smith served as a nurse in the Civil War, and when her husband was wounded is declared to have enlisted as a private in order to reach the front and care for him personally. Two sons were in the Spanish-American War and a grandson enlisted last March in the Navy.

For some unknown reason there was no Sunday in that dream. My cousin dreamed the other night that she was eating brownbread and butter, thickly with butter. She told us what a delicious dream it was at breakfast time. That very day we got our butter! So there is something in dreams after all. Dreams are not always caused by overeating oneself at supper time, either. Food is a very leveling topic, and everybody joyfully swaps cookery recipes. Even Mr. Ponting, of the Scott South Sea expedition, has written to the papers recommending whale and seal meat. He ended up feelingly: "Whale steak is excellent, I wish I had piece now!" Up to now food rationing has amused more than it has alarmed people.

JURORS GET THRIFT STAMPS.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Col., March 14.—Jurors and witnesses appearing in Judge Karl W. Farr, of the county court here are said to be paid in war savings or thrift stamps, unless they object. The payment in stamps is ordered by the judge, who recently sold a quantity of the stamps in his courtroom. The judge expects to dispose of a large amount of thrift stamps in this way.

Second only to the art of camouflage, the art of making one's own clothes, my "civvies" are still of the vintage of 1914, slightly rechauffe. Even my uniform is getting shabby and I am in a quandary as to what to do. The Navy has an unfortunate way of getting white at the seams. My buttonholes have already been reworked once. I wear the official Red Cross motor cap with a patent leather band and a Red Cross badge in the front. Instead of a hat, it is most sensible and serviceable and also most unbecoming to any but a pretty flapper. I do sometimes feel that a real Paris hat would do me a world of good.

At Rose City Park Presbyterian Church this morning, Dr. Robert H. In the evening, closing the series of sermons on "Great War Hooks," Dr. Milligan will review "The Challenge of the Present Crisis," by Harry Emerson Fosdick.

Dr. Arthur F. Bishop, pastor of Central Presbyterian Church, was welcomed back to his pulpit last Sunday by his congregation after an absence of several weeks owing to illness. The East Side Christian Church, East Twelfth and East Taylor, will observe the pre-Easter week by a series of
