VIOLENCE IS FEARED

Russellites Cancel Meeting Scheduled for Today.

LEADERS OF SECT WARNED

Policy of Non-Resistance Declared, Even If Men and Children Were Butchered and Enslaved and Women Were Violated.

CORVALLIS, Or., April 20.—(Special.)—The Russellites have canceled by telegraph the meeting scheduled for Corvallis tomorrow afternoon. It was called off at the request and advice of the Benton County Council of Defense, who warned the leaders here that any attempt to hold the meeting would result in violence.

The local Russellites had invited Pastor Lewdon, of Portland, to address them Sunday. Fearing a repetition of the the Medford attempt, they asked the Mayor for permission to meet.

Suspecting that the proposed address could not be in harmony with the Nation's war policy, the Mayor invited them to outline what might be expected to the executive committee of the Council of Defense.

The Russellites were represented by John Senger and A. B. Brown, who stated among other things that they recognized the American flag as the best flag in the universe, but that they owed it no other allegiance than to pay their taxes and be law-abiding citizens. They professed to be internationalists in the spiritual sense of the term, but denied belief in Socialism or I. W. W.ism.

Armenians, they said, had no moral right to resist the atrocities committed upon them, and they themselves would not resist if the German army should invade Benton County, even though they knew beforehand that women and young girls would be violated, men and children butchered and enslaved and crops and cities destroyed.

They denied being pro-German and said that members of their sect had been imprisoned in Germany for refusing to fight.

The committee decided that the meeting could not be held, and warned the leaders any attempt to hold it or to propagate that kind of doctrine in Benton County would result in severe penalties, legally if possible, and through the vigilance committee in case the law did not cover the technicalities of the case.

INDUCTEES ARE NAMED

LOCAL BOARDS PREPARE LISTS OF REGISTRANTS FOR SERVICE.

Induction and Entrainment, of Quotas to Take Place Within Five-Day Period Starting May 1.

While the official time for entrainment of registrants to be sent to Fort McDowell, California, under special induction call No. 176, has not been announced, local boards are compiling and giving out the names of eligibles as early as they find it possible to do so. Induction and entrainment of these quotas must take place within the five-day period starting May 1.
