Mrs. John L. Riddell, (Ethel Malpas) One of The Brides of the Week

Miss Ethel Malpas, Who Assisted in Red Cross Benefit Dance Tuesday Night

Neu's, was of lavender and white sweet peas. The bridesmaids wore dresses made alike, of the palest green organdy, with tulle. The gowns were especially suggestive of the Spring flowers and were enhanced by the silver baskets of Spring flowers that each maid carried. Mrs. Schnabel, mother of the bride, wore a stunning gown of old Spanish lace, gleaming through the foundation of gold, and she also wore a corsage of deep-toned orchids.

Only relatives of the couple and their intimate friends were asked to attend the ceremony, and at 5 o'clock additional guests joined them for the reception. A buffet supper was served, and the artistically appointed table being presided over by Mrs. John H. Besson and Mrs. William W. Kerns. Receiving with the bride were Mrs. J. J. O'Neill, and his grandmother, Mrs. M. T. O'Neill, of Santa Cruz; Mr. and Mrs. Schnabel and the bride's grandmother, Mrs. C. E. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Neill left for a fortnight's trip through California, and upon their return they will go to Camp Lewis, where Mr. O'Neill is stationed in the United States Army. Mrs. O'Neill wore for traveling a smart dark blue tulle, with small black straw hat, and a corsage of violets and orchids.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Schnabel, one of the oldest families of Portland, who occupy a prominent place in society and the general activities of the city.

She was graduated last June from Miss Harker's school in Palo Alto, and since her return to Portland she has been in demand at all the social functions, although she never has been formally presented to society. The younger set have entertained her almost continuously since the announcement of her engagement a few weeks ago.

Mr. O'Neill is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. O'Neill, and he is a popular Phi Kappa Psi man and a student of Stanford University.

Miss Mary McBride, of Victoria, who came to this city to attend the wedding of Miss Helen Wood and Lieutenant Randall, having been entertained extensively by well-known matrons and maids during the past week. One of the delightful affairs in her honor was a tea given Wednesday by Miss Helen Wood. The rooms were aglow with dainty Spring flowers and the tea table was presided over by Mrs. Henry Dickinson, Mrs. Lovelle D. Winters. They were assisted by Misses Alberta Blair, Margaret Ayer, Ruth Shull and Dorothy Stronbridge.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Almsworth were dinner hosts Monday evening honoring Mr. and Mrs. Gordon MacTavish, brother and sister-in-law of Mrs. Victor A. Johnson, with whom they are visiting. Additional guests were Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. David T. Honeyman.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott R. Corbett also were dinner hosts in honor of the visitors on Tuesday evening and the following evening, Mrs. Helen and Corbett presided at a dinner complimenting Mr. and Mrs. MacTavish.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Richardson, of Joseph, Or., are visiting in Portland for several weeks with the latter's sister, Mrs. Francis J. Bailey. Later they will go East.

Miss Maud Almsworth is sojourning in Southern California, recently registering at Hotel Darby, in Los Angeles.

After visiting with friends at the Multnomah Hotel for the past few months, Miss Jean Porter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Porter, of Spokane, left Friday for her home. Miss Porter is an attractive young maid and during her visit here was honored at a number of delightful affairs. Friday night she was guest of honor at a dinner party at the Multnomah, followed by a theater party at the Hotel, with H. L. Cloutier as host for both affairs.

Society of this city, as well as in Spokane and Seattle will be tremendously interested in the announcement of the engagement of Miss Kathleen Kimball, of Spokane, to Fred Angus Young, now of Pueblo, Colo., formerly of Seattle. The announcement was made recently in Spokane, where the young bride-elect is one of the leaders in social circles. She is not only most attractive, but one of the enthusiastic and energetic workers in Red Cross and other war relief service. For the past three years she has been secretary of the Red Cross Society of Spokane and she always occupies a prominent part in all activities, whether of a purely social nature or for philanthropy. Mr. Young is a son of the late Angus Young, a pioneer of Seattle. Miss Kimball has hosts of friends here among the younger set, as she has visited here several times. The wedding will be a notable event of June.

Mr. and Mrs. John Claire Monteith, Mrs. W. J. Furnish and Mrs. May Van Dyke Hardwick returned last week from a short stay in Hood River, where Mr. Monteith appeared in a concert given for the benefit of the Red Cross. While in Hood River they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Moore

J. Schnabel, in West Park street. The service was read at 8:20 o'clock by Rev. U. S. A., who came down from Camp Lewis for the event. The church was adorned with tall standards of Easter lilies and palms, and an artistic programme of wedding music was played by Carl Denton. Frederick C. Malpas gave his daughter in marriage, and the affair was attended by a number of close friends of the couple, as well as the relatives of the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony a few of the bride's school and college mates, with a group of intimate friends of the families, adjourned to the Malpas residence for the ceremony of cutting the bride cake and visiting with the couple for a few minutes.

Lieutenant Riddell and his bride left for a 19 days' trip, and upon their return will make their home in Tacoma, adjoining Camp Lewis, where the former is stationed with the 44th Infantry.

The couple have been engaged for several months, but a formal announcement was withheld until the bride had concluded her term at the University of Washington.

Lieutenant Riddell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson Davis Riddell, who came originally from the South, later making their home in Kansas City, and for the past Winter in San Francisco. He is named for his grandfather, Dr. John Leonard Riddell, a famous surgeon of New Orleans. He received his commission in the Army last Fall, and he was stationed first at Vancouver Barracks and later at Camp Lewis. He was graduated from Hamilton College, where he was a popular Sigma Phi.

Since the announcement of the engagement of this young couple, they have been delightfully entertained, especially the bride, as Mr. Riddell was only down for week-ends, at which time he shared in the social gaieties.

Charming in its simplicity and decorative scheme was the wedding of Miss Katharine Elizabeth Schnabel and Edward Alexander O'Neill, solemnized Thursday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles (Kathleen Furnish), who gave a reception in their honor following the concert. The rooms were decorated with Spring flowers and presiding at the beautifully appointed table in the dining-room was Mrs. Furnish, assisted by Mrs. C. W. McCullough and Mrs. Monteith.

Mrs. Thomas Joyce, who has been visiting with her husband, Major Joyce, in Baltimore in one of the hospitals where he is taking a special course for war service, returned home the latter part of last week.

One of the many line parties at the Heilig Theater on Friday evening was that for which Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Schnabel were hosts in honor of several of the wedding attendants and house guests who were at the wedding of their charming daughter, Miss Katharine Elizabeth Schnabel, to Edward A. O'Neill Thursday night. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. J. J. O'Neill, Mrs. M. T. O'Neill, of Santa Cruz; Miss Florence Ackerman, of San Francisco, who was maid of honor, and the two bridesmaids, Misses Dorothy
