187 OREGON AGGIES TO GET SHEEPSKINS

Only 99 Will Be Present June 3 to Get Degrees in Person Because of War Service.

SERVICE FLAGS ARE LARGE

One Flag Has 1056 Stars, of Which Five Are Gold, and Second Banner, Also Bearing Many Stars, Will Be Formally Presented.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COL-LEGE, Corvallis, June 1 .- (Special)-The Oregon Agricultural College class of 1918, with almost half its numbers in the service in France and the United States, will have its graduation exercises Monday morning, June 3. Out of s.class of 187, 99 will be present to receive their degrees.' Interesting plans for the commencement exercises have for the commencement exercises have been carefully worked out and a large number of visitors will attend the graduation and other phases of the closing of the year.

Of those who were to have received masters degrees, only two are expected to be present, and both are Hindus. Thakur Singh, of Sultanpore, India, and Taimie Parapaila, of Nesei, Wash. The engineering and agricultural courses have been more heavily depleted by the war than have other courses, and this year the women's course in Home the war than have other courses, and this year the women's course in Home Economics will be the biggest, numbering 65. All but 11 will be present in person. Two girls will receive the master degree. Of the class in agriculture, 42 of the 55 have gone into the Army and other branches of wartime service; in the engineering courses many have gone into emergency military work and of the electrical engineers, numbering seven to receive degrees, only one will be present.

Service Flag Is Large.

A feature of the commencement will be the presentation of the second service flag, a huge silken banner made by the girls of the school and donated by the student body. The first flag of 1055 stars, including five golden bues, is inadequate, and the second flag has already many stars. Both these flags will be hung in the new library. The Clara H Waldo prizes, which amount to $100, will be awarded to women of the college selected for their prominence and womaniy qualities, and those receiving hondrable mention will be officially recognized by Dr. Kerr.

The noted editor, William Allen White, of Emporia, Kan, will deliver the address of the morning. He is widely in the school of music. Dr. Kerr will give the degrees to the graduates.
