

NEW LIBRARY DEPT. INTERESTS WOMEN

Technical Department, Just Established, Appeals to Housewives Generally.

MANY PROBLEMS SOLVED

Books to Be Found There Dealing With All Phases and Features of Home Life — Innovation Proving Its Worth.

BY EDITH KNIGHT HOLMES.

To meet the needs of the time the Portland Library Association has established a new department which will appeal directly to the up-to-date practical woman who wants to keep her home, her children and her work well ordered. The innovation is known as the woman's technical department and it is located on the second floor in the former school room.

Miss Margaret MacLachlan, who is in charge, is most enthusiastic about this department and declares it will solve all sorts of household problems, reduce the cost of living and help to make the modern home efficient.

In the new department the woman who wants to get all the latest food conservation tips, who has a child to be accommodated immediately, if she is a home person with a baby to care for and a hubby coming home for lunch and she can't possibly get down to the library, she may call up on the phone and find out how to make bread or some meat substitute dish. If she wants to know what means to use in feeding her growing boys and girls she may have books on the subject. And if she would care to read the 500 books and Government documents for her to refer to. What to eat, food values, how to get the most for the money—all these things anyone may know by applying to the library.

Many Home Problems Solved. Then there are books on house furnishing, arrangement of house furniture so that one need not walk a mile in preparing luncheon. Few women know how great an assortment of books can be found in this wonderful department.

A big circulation is noted in books on the care of children. Whenever the library folk notice an announcement that a baby has arrived in a household, they send a postal telling the mother they have books on infant care and the young mothers and the fathers, too, apply immediately for these books. The other day a woman asked for some of the best volumes on the subject of caring for children. Tears came to her eyes as she said: "I have lost my child because I didn't know how to care for him. I want to know now so that I may be able to help some one else."

Department Is Appreciated.

The women who know about the department are appreciating it and the librarians want all who would be informed to avail themselves of the opportunity and visit the room, so quiet and restful, where the women will find a wealth of knowledge waiting for them. There are books on crafts, textiles, dress, coloring of clothes, magazines and all sorts of subjects that a woman should be versed in. The days of the grandmother's way of housekeeping are gone with modern appliances and new cooking rules, which lighten the burden of the housewife of today that Miss Mary Frances Ison, librarian, and her assistants have planned this new department to which the woman housewives, mothers, apartment-house managers (for there are books for their special benefit), teachers, brides-elect and all who would know how to be right up to the minute. An additional feature is the division in which are found suitable books for children of 14 or over. Book lists are compiled for mothers who wish to be sure their boys and girls are getting the right sort of literature. It's a splendid and helpful institution, this woman's technical department.

DAMAGE SUIT THROWN OUT

George King Fails to Collect $10,000 From City of Marshfield.

MARSHFIELD, Or., June 8.—(Special.)—The case of George King vs. the City of Marshfield and all the municipal officials ended suddenly when City Attorney J. T. Whitehead's dismissal was allowed by Judge John S. Coke. Mr. King sued for damages of $10,000. Mayor Cooper, City Attorney J. T. Whitehead and several police officers broke open a trunk in his room belonging to George King, expecting to find a fully equipped home liquor. They found only a pint of whisky which, according to the revenue stamp, had been purchased before the home-dry law went into effect. The action was produced by the city, whose evidence formed the basis for throwing the case out of court.

HIGH SHERIFFS OF THE SOUTH NOW CONVINCED

Sheriff Mangum, of Atlanta, Ga., Sheriff Anderson, of Houston, Texas, Sheriff Lewis, of Marion, Ark., and Sheriff Kelley, of Odessa, Texas, Come Out With Strong Statements and Tell What Tanlac Has Done for Them.

FOUR leading Sheriffs of the South in widely separated states— have recently given their unqualified indorsements to Tanlac. The word of men whose records for honesty and uprightness have won and held for them the highest county office in the gift of the people of their own communities, cannot be doubted, for if there is any office that demands a man of unimpeachable integrity, it is the office of Sheriff.

"Tanlac has certainly helped me and I recommend it for the good it has done in my case," said Hon. C. W. Mangum, ex-Sheriff of Fulton County, Georgia, who resides in Atlanta and who has been one of the most popular officials in the state, having served three terms as Sheriff of Houston, where he resides, for seven terms and served the people of his county for fifteen years as Sheriff. Mr. Anderson was chief of police of the city of Houston, where he resides, for several years, and there is not a better known man in Harris County. "I was continually belching up undigested food," he continued, "and I would blost and swell up like I was poisoned and suffered from neuralgia pains of the worst sort and nothing relieved me. I began to feel better after taking the first bottle of Tanlac and have just started on my third and feel like a different man already. I sleep like a log now and can eat my dinner, everything I want without the slightest discomfort afterwards."

Texas Sheriff's Endorsement. "I needed a general all-around building up for the last seven months and Tanlac has done that very thing for me," said Hon. S. A. Kelley, Sheriff of Ector County, Texas, who resides at Odessa, Texas, and who is one of the most popular officials in that section of the state. "I'm mighty glad now that I took Tanlac, for I had been in a badly run-down condition for several months. I had no appetite and didn't enjoy what I did eat and at times I suffered terribly with rheumatic pains. My back ached all the time and my liver was so sluggish and out of shape that I had a dull headache continually. "I have taken only two bottles, but I feel like a different man already. My appetite is fine and what I eat gives me nourishment and strength. The rheumatism is much better and my liver is in good condition. I am relieved of my headache and feel more active and energetic than I have in months."
