PORTLAND IS HOST TO VETERINARIANS

Oregon and Washington Association Meeting Will Be in Joint Session First Time.

STATE EXAMINATIONS HELD

Convention Will Open Thursday Morning at Imperial Hotel, Which Has Been Designated as Headquarters for Members.

Portland is host to the members of the Oregon and Washington Veterinary Medical Associates this week.

During the latter part of the week the Oregon and Washington veterinary physicians and surgeons will meet in joint session for the first time in the history of the two associations. For three days, beginning Monday, examinations will be held in the Morgan building by the Oregon State Veterinary Examiners for all men who desire to practice in this state. A class of 15 is anticipated.

The convention will open Thursday morning at the Imperial Hotel, which has been designated as headquarters. Governor Withycombe will address the delegates, welcoming them to the city and state.

Bray of Mule Doomed.

The annual banquet will be held in the Imperial Hotel Thursday night with the Oregon Veterinary Associates as hosts.

One of the features of the session will be an attempted operation on a mule to remove the bray. French veterinarians have succeeded in a similar operation and it has proved to be of extreme value in connection with army mules.

In the first place, it was pointed out that the braying of the animals disturbed the rest of the soldiers and it also resulted in giving the enemy information of the location of troops. The Oregon and Washington veterinary surgeons are confident they will be able to duplicate the successful work of French scientists.

Clinic Will Be Conducted.

The session will be devoted mainly to papers and addresses of interest to the profession. A clinic will be conducted at the hospital of Dr. G. H. Huthman at East Seventh and Grant streets.

Dr. E. E. Chase, chief meat inspector for Portland, will take the delegates on a tour of the packing-houses and to the city abattoir, where those assembled will witness the killing and inspection of horses for food purposes.

A trip over the Terwilliger boulevard and the Columbia River Highway have been arranged for the entertainment of the visitors.

Convention Programme Outlined.

The complete programme follows:

Thursday, June 13—9 to 11 A. M., registration at Imperial Hotel (headquarters for business and social sessions); 11:30 A. M., address of welcome, Governor James Withycombe; 12:30 P. M., luncheon; 1:30 to 6 P. M., papers and discussions; "Importance of Meat Inspection," Dr. E. E. Chase, chief meat inspector, city of Portland; "New Zealand and Australian Meat Inspection System and Its Possible Adoption by the Pacific Northwest States," Dr. E. C. Joss, United States Federal Inspector in charge of the Western Division; "The Intra-Palpebral Mallein Test," Dr. C. W. Lassen, Pendleton, Or.; "Electro-Therapy and Its Application to Veterinary Practice," Dr. E. R. Sparks, Portland; "So-Called Walking Diseases in Horses," Dr. W. H. Lytle, State Veterinarian for Oregon; "Investigation of a Disease of Cattle," Dr. C. H. Schultz, Seattle; "Salmon Poisoning in Dogs," Dr. R. E. Hunt, Roseburg, Or.; "Diarrhoea in Horses," Dr. J. W. BOYS' SCHOOL TO OPEN

Y. M. C. A. ARRANGES COURSES FOR VACATION SEASON.

Classes Will Open June 17 and Continue Until July 31—Intensive Training Is Planned.

In line with the recommendation of United States Commissioner of Education Claxton, the Portland Y. M. C. A. Educational Department has arranged for a vacation school for boys, operating from June 17 to July 31, with one session daily, 8 A. M. to 12 M.

Plans for this school include features for the strengthening of boy life.

While in the classes, which will be arranged so that personal attention may be given each pupil, the boys will be under the supervision of teachers experienced in grade work, thus offering a continuation of school courses by men who make their teaching personal and intensive. It is the aim to provide for those who have just moved to the city or who, for sickness or any reason, are out of adjustment and who by a few weeks' study may be enabled to take their place in the regular school programme.

In addition to the regular school work, the boys will enjoy outings and hikes, arranged by experts and under proper supervision, as well as the use of the gymnasium and swimming tank under the association's physical directors.

F. J. Tooze, superintendent of the Oregon City schools, has been selected as principal of the vacation school. He will have as assistants, Charles H. Boyd, principal of Highland School, and W. A. Petteys, principal of Peninsula School.

Jail Sentence Given Alien.

Sentence of 30 days in jail was pronounced yesterday by Federal Judge C. E. Wolverton on George W. Harrell for violation of the President's proclamation in entering districts proscribed to aliens.

ONE OF PORTLAND'S MOST ATTRACTIVE AND POPULAR MAIDS, WHOSE ENGAGEMENT TO ARMY OFFICER IS ANNOUNCED.

The engagement of Miss Mary Stuart Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Smith, of this city, to Lieutenant Curtis Bailey, 348th Field Artillery, U. S. A., was announced yesterday by Mrs. Vernon A. Cartwright at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan J. Malarkey. A small informal knitting party was arranged to make known the delightful news and only the bride-elect's close friends were asked to share in the gayeties. Owing to the fact that the 91st Division, of which Mrs. Bailey's battery is a part, soon will leave Camp Lewis, it is probable that the wedding will be solemnized in the next few weeks. Both Miss Smith and her fiance are very popular in the younger contingent in this city. Mr. Bailey is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Meredith Bailey, of Philadelphia, and a brother of Meredith, Jr., of Sisters, Or.

HARDY TO BE FETED

Public Reception Will Be Held in Honor of Old Mariner.

CITY TO PAY ITS RESPECTS

Man Who Sailed With Perry Will Tomorrow Evening Tell in Public Auditorium About His Two Trips to Japan.

They called him the "grandfather of Japan," all those little boys and girls of the land where the cherry bloom blows, and even the Mikado delighted to honor the hale old hearty who sailed with Perry—and who is last of that company of American bluejackets who roused a slumbering empire to might among the nations.

It seems but fitting, then, that Portland should extend recognition to Captain W. H. Hardy, in observance of his return from an extended visit to Japan—the first he had made since that morning when he pulled the bow oar in the Commodore's barge across Yeddo Bay.

It is for no other purpose than that the city should honor a citizen whose years are many, and whose life chapters are of more than usual historical significance, that a public reception is to be tendered to Captain Hardy tomorrow night at the Auditorium, when all Portland will be given an opportunity to pay its respects to the last of Perry's crew.

Patriotic Note to Be Struck.

The reception has the sanction of civic officials and will strike a keynote of high patriotism, at a time when the Oregon country is rife with the spirit of the cause. No ordinary evening this, promise the committee in charge, but one to be remembered long afterward.

Invitations have been sent to Governor Withycombe, various state officials, officers at Vancouver Barracks and in Portland, Consuls of the allied nations and city officials to lend their presence to the deference of the occasion.

Friends of long standing with Captain Hardy are the Spanish War veterans, and it is from this organization and from their members enlisted in the Oregon Military Police that the ushers of the evening have been chosen. They will appear in their blue service uniforms and will serve both as ushers and as guards of honor.

When Captain Hardy returned from Japan he brought a wealth of rare Japanese art and curios—the gifts of citizens and cities during his progress through the empire. The finest of these tokens will be on exhibition at the reception.

Treasures to Be on View.

There are ancient samurai swords, one more than five centuries old; armor such as the knights of the Orient wore when Christianity was young, wondrous vases and silver work, and huge collections of coins minted by ancient emperors.

Preliminary speeches will be brief, for the evening is to be given over for an hour to Captain Hardy's own account of the Japan that he knew more than half a century ago and the Japan that welcomed him when he sailed back again as the guest of the Japanese people.

Never before has this story been told to a Portland audience. Friends who have heard it assert that the great-whiskered old sailor has a genuine message to America—and that his recital of the trip brings with it a flood of light upon modern Japan, her attitude toward America and the real heart of her people.

Some time tomorrow morning the committee in charge will bear to Captain Hardy, at his home on Kings Heights, a hand-illuminated invitation to be the guest of the city at the reception in his honor. Whereat the Captain will expand his aureole of iron-gray whiskers in a smile worth seeing.

Woman Serves on Kalama Board.

KALAMA, Wash., June 8.—(Special.)—Because of the failure of the two remaining members of the Kalama School Board to agree upon who should fill the position on the Kalama School Board left vacant by the death of M. H. Royer, according to the provisions of the law in such cases, the vacancy was filled by Miss Lucia Jenkins, County Superintendent of Schools, who appointed Mrs. A. B. Chapman to the board. This is the first time a woman has ever served on the Kalama School Board. Mrs. Chapman always has been very active in the life of the town, and her appointment is considered a worthy one.

PORTLAND PLANS MONSTER FOURTH

Foreign-Born Residents Will Express Loyalty to America at Great Mass Meeting.

IDEA IS NATION WIDE

President Wilson's Request Will Be Followed and Committee of Representative Naturalized Citizens Will Be Selected.

Plans are being formulated for a monster Fourth of July celebration in Portland.

An opportunity for foreign-born residents of Portland to express their loyalty to the United States and its cause will be given at a great mass meeting planned on the evening of the Fourth in the Auditorium.

Secretary of War Baker and Secretary of the Navy Daniels recently transmitted a letter to Mayor Baker stating that leaders of the foreign-born citizens of the Nation had requested President Wilson to formulate Nation-wide plans for a great meeting, where the representatives of each foreign-born body might express the loyalty that members of each set have for the United States.

President's Wishes to Be Followed.

In accordance with the wishes of President Wilson such a meeting will be held in Portland. A committee composed of the representatives of foreign-born bodies will be selected to carry out the plans of the meeting.

A parade, which will include every military organization in Portland and probably a large representation of troops from Vancouver, will be held in the morning. Shipyard workers will be asked to co-operate, and in addition a large number of floats of a patriotic nature are expected to be entered in the pageant.

The afternoon of the Fourth will be devoted to competitive athletics at Columbia Park. Every shipyard in the city will be asked to enter their various teams, and the plans are for an "old-fashioned" Fourth of July programme of sports. A baseball game will probably be included in the afternoon's programme.

Soldiers' Dance Arranged.

Following the evening's meeting the city plans to conduct a dance for the soldiers. The dance will be held in the two dance pavilions of the Auditorium, with the use of two orchestras. Members of the flying squadron of the National League for woman's service will serve as partners for the soldiers, and a list of prominent patronesses will also serve as chaperones.

Charles M. Schwab, director-general of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, is expected on the Pacific Coast in the early part of July. Should Mr. Schwab visit Portland on the Fourth of July some change will be made in the present plans in order that the chief of the shipbuilding industry in the United States will be properly entertained, and so that Portland citizens, and particularly those engaged in shipbuilding, may have an opportunity of seeing and hearing Mr. Schwab.

COWLITZ DIKING PLANNED

7000 Acres Near Woodland to Be Diked—Kelso Acreage Increased.

KELSO, Wash., June 8.—(Special.)—Organization of diking district No. 5 of Cowlitz County, Washington, comprising 7000 acres of Columbia River and Lewis River bottom lands in the vicinity of Woodland, was completed this week by the Board of County Commissioners at Kalama.

The plans and estimates, prepared by G. J. Poysky, of Kelso, who is also engineer for the diking projects at Kelso, show that the completed cost will be about $225,000, and construction will involve building more than 10 miles of dike along the Lewis and Columbia Rivers. Nearly all the property owners favor the improvement, although three or four of the large holders have been fighting it and threatening litigation. Unless court action is started construction will be started this Summer.

On Wednesday the first step was taken toward organizing the seventh diking district in the vicinity of Kelso, when petitioners representing about 1000 acres between diking district No. 7 and the Matchette dike west of Kelso asked organization of a district. The board ordered Mr. Poysky to investigate the feasibility of the project. Completion of this project, which can be diked by the construction of a low and inexpensive dike along the bank of the Columbia, and of the work already started in diking districts Nos. 4, 6 and 7, will increase the total diked area adjacent to Kelso to 11,000 acres.

MANY ARE ILL AT POWERS

Mysterious Malady Affects 200 in Districts Along Coast.

MARSHFIELD, Or., June 8.—(Special.)—A mysterious illness has gripped Powers for the past three weeks and its cause is laid to various origins, from poisoned water to la grippe. One report is that alcohol of a very bad quality is being manufactured and sold in the neighborhood. People who do not indulge in intoxicating drinks are being stricken as well as others.

The illness is painful for a few days at the start and cramps frequently accompany it. All the victims soon recover, however, and show no ill effects. A. H. Powers, of the Smith-Powers Logging Company, says the illness is simply grippe. About 200 cases have occurred in Powers and the logging camps near by.

Eggert Leaves Large Estate.

The board of appraisers yesterday filed with the County Clerk an inventory of the estate of Frederick Eggert, showing an aggregate value of $359,-193.58. Included among the personal property were $70,000 of the second liberty bond issue. With the further exception of stocks and bonds to the amount of $35,000 and real estate appraised at $4200, the remainder of the estate consisted entirely of notes and mortgages.

Officials to Boost Stamp Sales.

Federal employes of Oregon have been called to meet tomorrow evening at the Central Library to consider ways and means of promoting sales and purchases of war savings and thrift stamps. Speakers at the meeting will be Lieutenant J. D. Plamondon, who has seen five months' service in France; Captain T. Templert Powell, of the British Army, and United States Marshal George F. Alexander. Musical numbers have been arranged.

14th Year in Portland

DR. E. G. AUSPLUND, MGR.
My Practice Is Limited to High-Class Dentistry Only.

Let us all try to find our weak spots. If we try, we can make them strong points in our favor

There's usually something wrong with people who don't make good

The survival of the fittest will always be the law of nature. If you don't succeed in business or your profession, nine times out of ten it's your own fault—or, rather, weakness. You may be too sparing of "the midnight oil" when others are studying and perfecting themselves for the battle of life.

You may be bright, ambitious—even brilliant—and LACK STAYING POWER.

You may be TOO EASILY SATISFIED or too easily discouraged—and give up without a struggle for supremacy.

Somewhere in your makeup there's a weak spot that you must locate and overcome.

I can honestly claim, without a trace of egotism, that I am a competent Doctor of Dental Surgery and entitled to the respect of the public and profession—YET THERE ARE THOUSANDS OF OTHER DENTISTS EQUALLY AS COMPETENT AND SOME WHO ARE UNDOUBTEDLY PROFESSIONALLY SUPERIOR, who are wasting their lives and talents in dark, obscure offices, eking out a bare living, because they have not found their "weak spot."

Some of these dentists are still causing their patients unnecessary pain—some are still "making caps over teeth" and calling them crowns; some are using inferior materials, others are incapable of giving their patients artistic, durable dentistry—and many are charging entirely too much for their services.

My success in building up so large a practice has been due to forsaking the path of custom and striking out over the rougher and less certain road of originality.

I found a way to lessen pain; I found a system that enabled me to save over half the waste in time and material in my office; I found that hard work, hour after hour and day after day, enabled me to handle double the number of patients satisfactorily.

These had all been "weak spots," common to the profession, and as soon as I overcame them I took the public into my confidence, showed them how I could give them better dentistry for less money, how I could save them time and pain and risk. It sounded true because it was reasonable—and IT WAS REASONABLE BECAUSE IT WAS TRUE.

It does not take the public long to beat a path to the door of the man who deserves patronage.

"CYRANO" TO BE GIVEN

OREGON UNIVERSITY TO PRESENT AMBITIOUS PRODUCTION.

Professor Reddie Billed in Title Role With Miss Margaret Crosby Interpreting Woman's Lead.

Classes in dramatic interpretation at the University of Oregon are training intensively for the great event of the year, the production of Rostand's "Cyrano de Bergerac" outdoors on the evening of June 14.

The play, to be produced under the direction of Professor Fergus Reddie, head of the department of public speaking, will be one of the most ambitious efforts ever undertaken by the department, which has put on in the past such plays as "Peer Gynt" and "King Lear."

The part of Cyrano will be taken by Professor Reddie. The part is exceedingly taxing and requires the memorizing of 90 typewritten pages of manuscript.

The woman's lead, Roxane, in which Margaret Anglin made her early reputation 20 years ago, will be in the hands of Miss Margaret Crosby, of Riddle, a senior who has made nearly a perfect record in her work in the department.

The comedy part of Ragueneau, the pastry cook, has been given to Norvell Thompson, of Portland, whose work as "O'Flaherty, V. C.," a Shaw one-act play recently put on here, delighted two audiences. Other important speaking parts are taken by Robert McNary, of Portland, as Le Bret; Henry Foster, of John Day, as Christian; Miss Lillie Miller, as the Duena, and David Lloyd Stearns, of Portland, as Carbon de Castel-Jaloux. The play contains more than 40 speaking characters.

Particular interest centers in the production at present, from the fact that the fourth act is placed at Arras, in the heart of the present battlefront in Flandere.

LANDS AID TO CRANBERRIES

Clatsop Growers Say Fruit Color Is Improving Each Year.

ASTORIA, Or., June 8.—(Special.)—Renewed interest is being taken in the black sands at the mouth of the Columbia River. While the peculiar magnetic quality of these sands has been known for many years, it was only recently that they proved their value to the horticultural development of the community.

The new cranberry industry is the beneficiary. Iron, as is well known, produces the desired color in apples and other fruits. In their natural state the peat in the marshes of the Lower Columbia River district is covered with a layer of black sand consisting of miniature particles of iron. Such is its purity that it has resisted the action of the elements for ages and still exists in its original state.

It is a noticeable fact that the cranberries from these bogs have been improving in color each succeeding year since they were first planted.

Foresters Convene Today.

Delegates from all parts of the state will convene this morning at 10 o'clock in the triennial state conclave of the Catholic Order of Foresters, the largest Catholic fraternal insurance order in Oregon.

The convention will be held in Gregory Hall. Officers for the next three years will be elected and two delegates to attend the international convention of the order in Duluth, Minn., in August will be named.

Stop Corn Agony In Four Seconds

Use "Gets-It"—See Corns Peel Off!

The relief that "Gets-It" gives from corn-pains—the way it makes corns and calluses peel off painlessly in one piece—is one of the wonders of the world. The woman in the home, the shopper, the dancer, the foot traveler, the man in the office, the clerk in the store, the worker in the shop, have today, in this great discovery, "Gets-It," the one sure, quick relief from all corn and callus pains—the one sure, painless remover that makes corns come off as easily as you would peel a banana. It takes 2 seconds to apply "Gets-It"; it dries at once. Then walk with painless joy, even with tight shoes. You know your corn will loosen from your toe—peel it off with your fingers. Try it, corn sufferers, and you'll smile!

CHRIST'S UNIQUE STATUS

As Redeemer and Savior of the Race.

By Dr. JAMES E. TALMAGE
Of the Council of the Twelve, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints; Salt Lake City, Utah.

To hosts of earnest and thoughtful people, comprising many who devoutly believe in the efficacy of our Lord's atoning death as a means of redemption from death and salvation from sin, it is a matter of surpassing wonder that the sacrifice of a single life could be made an effective means of emancipation for mankind.

Scriptures ante-dating the Savior's earthly life plainly aver that the Atonement to be made by Him was to be a vicarious sacrifice, voluntary and love-inspired on His part, and universal in its application so far as human-kind would avail themselves of its beneficent means. These conditions were confirmed by the personal affirmations of the embodied Christ, and are attested by Scriptures post-dating the tragic consummation on Calvary.

The concept of vicarious service, in which one may act or officiate for and in behalf of another, is as old as the race. It is, however, fundamentally opposed to the unscriptural assumption that the merits of one man may be accounted to the cancellation of another's sins. Scriptures both ancient and modern, the traditions of the human family, the rites of altar sacrifice, and even the sacrileges of heathen idolatry involve the basal conception of vicarious atonement. This principle, of Divine establishment in its original and uncorrupted form, was revealed to Adam (Pearl of Great Price, Moses 5:5-8), who offered sacrifices in the similitude of the then future death of the Lamb of God, and was taught and practised by later prophets down to the time of Christ.

The Scriptures relieve us from the assumption that any ordinary mortal, by voluntarily giving up his life even as a martyr to the best of causes, could become a ransom for the sins of his fellows and a victor over death. Jesus Christ, though He lived and died as one of the human family, was of unique nature. Never has another such as He walked the earth. Christ was the only Being among all the embodied spirit-children of God suited to and acceptable as the great sacrifice of atonement, in these definite and distinct respects:

1. He was the One chosen and foreordained in the heavens to this specific service.

2. He was and is the Only Begotten of the Father in the body, and therefore the only Being ever born to earth who possessed in their fulness the inherent attributes of both Godhood and manhood.

3. He was and is the one and only sinless Man who has lived in mortality.

Concerning our Lord's foreordination as the Redeemer and Savior, He has given us personal testimony with which the utterances of prophets who lived before His birth and apostles who taught after His death are in harmony. Twenty-two centuries before the meridian of time, the then unembodied Christ revealed Himself to a Book of Mormon prophet, saying: "Behold I am he who was prepared from the foundation of the world to redeem my people. Behold I am Jesus Christ." (Book of Mormon, Ether 3:14). Unto Moses the Father spake, saying: "Thou art in the similitude of mine Only Begotten, and mine Only Begotten is and shall be the Savior." (Moses 1:6). These Scriptures are in accord with Peter's testimony of Christ as "a Lamb without blemish and without spot, who verily was foreordained before the foundation of the world." (1 Peter 1:19-20).

As the Eternal Father's Only Begotten Son in the flesh, Christ possessed the inborn power to withstand death indefinitely, and this just as naturally as that He, being the offspring of a mortal mother, should derive the ability to die. Jesus Christ inherited through the operation of the natural law of heredity the physical, mental, and spiritual attributes of His parents—the Father immortal and glorified, the mother human. He could not be slain until His hour had come, the hour in which He would voluntarily give up His life, and permit His own decease as an act of will. How else are His definite asseverations concerning Himself to be construed? Consider for example this: "Therefore doth my Father love me, because I lay down my life, that I might take it again. No man taketh it from me, but I lay it down of myself. I have power to lay it down, and I have power to take it again." (John 10:17-18). And further: "For as the Father hath life in himself, so hath he given to the Son to have life in himself." (John 5:26).

Christ died, not as other men have died or shall die, because of inability to escape death, but for a special purpose by voluntary surrender. Thus, the atoning sacrifice was no usual death of an ordinary man, but the decease of One who had the power to live. It was a sacrifice, indeed!

As a sinless Man Christ was exempt from the dominion of Satan; and was sublimely conscious of His own perfect probity. He challenged assailants with the pertinent demand "Which of you convinceth me of sin?" (John 8:46); and in the hour of His entrance into Gethsemane solemnly averred: "The prince of this world cometh, and hath nothing in me." (John 14:30).

Had our Lord died as the result of Satan's power over Him through transgression, His death would have been but an individual experience, expiatory in no degree of any offenses but His own. His absolute freedom from spot or blemish of sin made Him eligible, His humility and willingness rendered Him acceptable as the propitiatory sacrifice for the sins of the world. In these respects, as in that of His having life in Himself and therefore power over death, He was of a status absolutely unique among men. With this knowledge spake the ancient Hebrew prophet, saying: "As the Lord God liveth, there is none other name given under heaven, save it be this Jesus Christ of which I have spoken, whereby man can be saved." (Book of Mormon, 2 Nephi 25:20).

TOBACCO HABIT

A very interesting book has been published on tobacco habit—how to conquer it quickly and easily. It tells the dangers of excessive smoking, chewing, snuff using, etc., and explains how nervousness, irritability, sleeplessness, weak eyes, stomach troubles and numerous other disorders may be eliminated through stopping self-poison by tobacco. The man who has written this book wants to genuinely help all who have become addicted to tobacco habit, and says there's no need to suffer that awful craving or restlessness which comes when one tries to quit voluntarily. This is no mind cure or temperance sermon tract, but plain common sense, clearly set forth. The author will send it free, postpaid, in plain wrapper. Write, giving name and full address—a postcard will do. Address: Edward J. Woods, 12-P, station E, New York City. Keep this advertisement; it is likely to prove the best news you ever read in this
