The large sale of tickets under the direction of James A. Beckett and the general enthusiasm indicate a record breaking crowd. No matter how large the crowd, the club has ample accom-modations as the grounds are large, and, being in the form of a natural amphitheater encircling the half-mile track, afford a good view for all to see the races. The spacious veranda of the clubhouse also commands a view of the entire course. All men in the Army and Navy serv-ice will be the guests of the club and admitted free. Elaborate plans are being made to make this meet one long to be remem-bered and practically everything is in readiness. Many familiar faces will be missed when the entries are lined up as a large percentage of the club's who are left are "bending to with a will" and putting in more than their usual enthusiasm to make the affair a great success. The various cleaning establishments have kindly donated their services to clean these gloves, and soon they will be fashloned into warm and good-looking jackets for avlators overseas by the group of women who have volunteered their time for this purpose. This work will be done in the Liberty Temple, beginning this week, and it will include making the patriotic league bags. Another division that will open this week is Uncle Sam's canning kitchen in the Sargent Hotel, Grand avenue and Hawthorne. All equipment has been donated for this work, and by Thurs-day it will be running in good shape. Fruits and vegetables that would therwise be permitted to go to waste will be canned and preserved for the convalescent soldiers and sallors. Jams and jellies also will be made in the kitchen for the convalescents. Various organizations of women have promised to give their time different days for
