ditional guests were Mrs. Charles E. Beebe, Mrs. William MacMaster, Mrs. E. C. Hall, Mrs. George S. Young, Mrs. Alfred Smith and Miss Failing.

After the luncheon the party motored for an hour or more and then had tea at Mrs. Henry Ladd Corbett's home.

Mrs. John Latta was hostess for 16 guests at a luncheon during the week. Several others found the club an ideal place for the dispensing of summertime hospitalities.

One of the loveliest of the season's brides was Miss Gertrude Cowgill, whose marriage last night to Dean Vincent was solemnized in St. David's Episcopal Church in the presence of a large assemblage of friends of the popular couple.

Miss Nell Warwick, maid of honor, who came from Marshfield for the occasion, was pretty in pink tulle with a large hat of silver lace. She carried Ophelia roses.

The bridesmaids were the Misses Lois and Eunice Cowgill, Mary MacDonald and Mildred Woodruff. Their gowns were different in coloring. Each wore a large garden hat to match her gown and carried a bouquet of Spring flowers.

Mrs. William Schmitt played the pipe organ, Mrs. J. H. McMenamin the violin and Miss Ruth Diehl the harp. The music was a beautiful feature of the ceremony.

Walter Cary was best man and the guests were ushered by friends of the bridegroom including W. J. Hofmann, G. P. Ketcheson, F. C. Felter and Walter Holland, of Westport.

Among the most admired members of the wedding party were Wilma Deute, aged 4, and her brother, Walter, aged 8. Wilma wore a pretty French frock of white lace. Her hair bow and were entertained later at the Cowgill residence at a supper in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent. The house was decorated in pink roses and the table was centered with some choice half blown buds mingled with maidenhair fern.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Cowgill, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Vincent and the bridal party and the wives of the married men who were ushers.

Dean Vincent is well known in the business world and in civic affairs. As prime minister of the Royal Rosarians, he has distinguished himself by his ability and leadership. He has been identified with several civic enterprises and patriotic affairs.

The bride is popular socially and in college circles she is a favorite. As a member of Pi Beta Phi she is beloved by her sorority sisters, many of whom entertained for her after the engagement was announced a few weeks ago.

Miss Edith Pirie was hostess on Thursday at the Pirie home on East Forty-first and Knott streets and the guests were all Pi Phi girls.

Mrs. David E. Lofgren was hostess yesterday for the bride and girls of the bridal party.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent left last night for a wedding trip. They will be gone about a month and on their return will reside at 476 East Fifty-third street North.

Bright lights, shaded by oriental lanterns, cast a mellow light over "On-the-Hill Tea Garden," the country home of Mrs. Lee Hoffman, Wednesday night, and the moonlight added a share in making the Italian fete a bright and beaming success.

The affair was arranged by a capable committee, of which Mrs. C. E. Curry was chairman. Mrs. F. J. Cobbs had charge of the dinner, which was cooked by real Italian cooks, with the assistance of a popular Italian restaurant as master of ceremonies. The large attendance attested to the interest felt in the cause of the Italian war relief, for which the fete was planned.

Machines lined the side of the road and scores of autos were parked on the Barnes road, just outside the entrance to the estate. The house and grounds presented a gala scene. Maids and matrons in light summery frocks and hats, and men in business suits or white flannel, mingled merrily with the pretty girls serving as waitresses or ticket sellers. Many of these wore the picturesque and becoming costumes of Italian peasant girls.

Everyone was tagged with a big red baggage tag, a receipt for their entrance fee. The dinner was served at most reasonable prices.

In addition to all the delightful attractions of the summer evening at the beautiful country place and the carefully planned dinner was the programme of several artistic numbers, the dancing jivey fashion, and the orchestra seeming to play just a few bars when they'd stop and another nickel would be forthcoming for the Italian war relief, and before the evening had passed there was a great bag full of times and dollars for the good cause.

Donald Spencer, Folger Johnson and several other men whose wives were interested in the undertaking worked like Trojans making themselves generally useful as salesmen and speakers. Artists who gave talents toward making the programme delightful were Miss Susie Smith, Miss Constance Piper, Miss Winifred Forbes, the Misses Woodcock, Miss Dorothy Frazier, Dent Mowrey, Harold Parrish Williams, and others. Miss Piper accompanied some of the soloists and then played a finely interpreted selection. Miss Berenic Langton, a fascinating Peter Pan, with all the grace and youth and inspiration of the character, danced, with Miss Piper accompanying at the piano. Miss Susie Smith was attired in gypsy costume and danced attractively. Marie Gammi, an Italian girl, put poetry and grace into the folk dance that she contributed to the programme.

Miss Edith Grant was presented to society. The Grants are at their magnificent home at San Mateo. Their country-place seat is one of the show-places of California. They have a handsome town house on Broadway in San Francisco and will open it late in the Fall.

This will be a different sort of season for the society buds. Most of the boys have gone to war and there will be but very little formal entertaining or lavish display as there was once upon a time, because now there is the war to be considered and the buds will get little attention compared to what would have been theirs had things gone on as they were a few years ago. There are several Portland girls who will be ready to make their formal bow to society and step into the places vacated by the bevy of girls who married Army men, but just how much entertaining these fair ones will get can't be predicted. They all are such fine loyal girls, however, and probably will not care. At present they are busy doing war work, knitting, making bandages, working on committees and making themselves generally useful.

Dr. and Mrs. Huntington Powers are visitors in the city at the Mallory. Dr. Powers is a writer and lecturer of international fame. He will lecture Monday at 4 P. M. at the Art Museum on "Japan" and on Tuesday at the same place on "The British Empire." The members of the local British set are planning to attend and it is expected that lively interest will be shown in the address, as Dr. Powers is a great traveler, and in the course of his career has known many ambassadors and statesmen and men who are in touch with public affairs. He will show the friendly spirit of England toward the United States and give sidelights that (Continued on Page 4.)

TODAY'S AID TO BEAUTY

Hair is by far the most conspicuous thing about us and is probably the most easily damaged by bad or careless treatment. If we are very careful in hair washing, we will have virtually no hair troubles. An especially fine shampoo for this weather, one that brings out all the natural beauty of the hair; that dissolves and entirely removes all dandruff, excess oil and dirt; can easily be used at trifling expense by simply dissolving a teaspoonful of Canthrox (which you can get at any druggist's) in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid—enough so it is easy to apply to it all the hair instead of just the top of the head. This chemically dissolves all impurities and creates a soothing, cooling lather. Rinsing leaves the scalp spotlessly clean, soft and pliant, while the hair takes on the glossy richness of natural color, also a fluffiness which makes it seem much heavier than it is. After Canthrox shampoo, arranging the hair is a pleasure.—Paid Adv.

is more than a cosmetic because it contains certain ingredients which tend to contract the pores of the skin, producing that velvety softness, and because of peculiar transparent and adherent qualities which cause it to blend with the skin. It is not a mere surface coating. The result is a natural and genuine effect. White, natural and brunette. In hinged-cover boxes 50c. Sent postpaid anywhere in the U. S.
