ushers were Arthur Forman and Edmund Ducommun. The bridal party and immediate relatives were entertained at a reception at the home of the bride, on South Chapel street, after which Mr. and Mrs. Jones left for a brief wedding trip, their destination being a secret. They will be at home to their friends at 309 South Chapel street when they return.

Mrs. Jones is one of Alhambra's charming and popular young women, a vocalist of ability and the possessor of a large circle of friends. The groom is well known and respected here and has won considerable fame as a singer. Joseph Thomas Jones is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Jones, 1143 East Main street, of this city.

Mrs. Walter F. Burrell was hostess on Monday at a luncheon at the University Club. Covers were laid for Mrs. Clarence Jacobson, Mrs. Edmund Neustadter, Mrs. Melville Schweitzer, Mrs. Brice P. Disque, Mrs. C. V. Potter, Mrs. Rufus Zogbaum and the hostess.

A farewell tea was given Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Dorsch in honor of Roswell Dorsch, who left on Monday for the Presidio.

Miss Harriet Cumming was hostess Wednesday for ten young people whom she entertained at supper at her home.

One of the attractive brides of the week was Miss Barbara Holcomb, whose marriage to Frederick Failing was solemnized Wednesday at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Edward Failing. Little Jean Failing was the bridal attendant. Rev. O. C. Wright officiated. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Cecil Holcomb, sister of Eliot Holcomb and grandniece of Miss Christine MacConnell. The bridegroom is a prominent young business man.

At a simple wedding ceremony at the First Methodist Episcopal Church, South, July 13, Miss Marie Chambers, formerly of Sandusky, Ohio, became the bride of Roderick Lee Bradley, of Portland, Rev. J. T. French officiating. The bride, who is an attractive brunette, wears a smart suit of Burgundy color and carried roses and orchids. The bridegroom, who is the son of Harry L. Bradley, is well known in business circles. He is connected with the well-known sale house of M. L. Kline. The bride, since coming to Portland, has endeared herself to a wide circle of friends. She is active in church and patriotic work.

Mrs. Harry L. Spillman, a prominent matron of San Francisco, is visiting relatives and friends in this city, and at present is the house guest of Mrs. Claude De Pue. Later Mrs. Spillman will visit in Washington, returning to her home in October.

Mrs. J. O'Sullivan, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Jetty, left Saturday for her home in Vancouver, B. C., after a visit of several months with her daughter, Miss Catherine O'Sullivan, of the Multnomah Hotel.

Cards have been received from France announcing the safe arrival of Dr. J. R. Johnson, a member of Base Hospital No. 46. Dr. Johnson was at Camp Kearney, near San Diego, from September until he started for the East to go across Mrs. Johnson, who was at San Diego for several months, has returned to Portland and now is with her sister, Mrs. Lloyd H. Smith.

Mrs. Johnson, while in the South, played the great Spreckels organ at Balboa. Several outings and luncheons were given. Her music was much appreciated.

Mrs. Sumner M. Smith, bride of Captain Smith, was a recent visitor here, the guest of Mrs. Carl Munson (Helen Cornwell). Mrs. Smith was en route from Tacoma to San Francisco where she will reside while Captain Smith is in France.

Mrs. J. E. Hanrahan and her daughter, Frances, are in Chicago where Miss Frances is appearing in the Parisian Folies production as a premier dancer. Frances is well known here as she frequently appears at society and club affairs and gave her services generously for patriotic benefits. After the close of her tour she will be at home in Detroit, where Mr. Hanrahan is in business.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Martine, after a brief visit here following their wedding, left early in the week for Oakland, Cal., where the bridegroom is a prominent attorney. The bride was Miss Alice Munna, of Minneapolis. She is a niece of Mrs. C. W. Holmes, of Vancouver, and her wedding took place at St. Luke's, with Rev. Mr. Holmes officiating. Dr. John F. Munna and family, of Bremerton, came to Portland and attended the wedding last week.

The bride is an attractive young woman. She is socially popular and will be a charming addition to society at Oakland.

Miss Helen Hutchinson, youngest daughter of Rev. and Mrs. A. L. Hutchinson, of Piedmont Presbyterian Church, left on Wednesday to spend the summer in Tacoma with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Sharp and daughter, Dr. Gray of Sharp, of Paul, Cal., accompanied by Mrs. Louis H. Sharp, of San Francisco, have been visiting Mr. Sharp's nephew, Federal Judge Bean, and family during the past week. They motored from California and report a pleasant trip and the roads in fairly good condition.

Mr. Sharp is a prosperous walnut and orange grower. He spent his boyhood in Oregon. While here he visited Yamhill county and located the place where his father and mother spent the winter of 1852. He also found the birthplace of Judge Bean. The party returned to California by way of The Dalles and Crater Lake.

During the past week Mr. and Mrs. William M. Wilder, of Everett, Wash., and Mrs. George Taylor, of Tacoma, entertained Miss Anna Christoffersen, of Tacoma, will be new. Yesterday Mrs. Samuel C. May entertained at an informal tea for Dr. and Mrs. Powers and a few society and literary folk.

A wedding of interest solemnized in Rochester, N. Y., last Monday was that of Miss Helen Barber, of Portland, and Paul Matteson, of Providence, R. I. The bride is the daughter of the late Dr. S. J. Barber and the sister of Mrs. L. R. Alderman, Dr. Joseph L. Barber, Lieutenant-Colonel John Barber and Colonel Alvin Barber. She is a graduate of Wellesley and popular in social and educational circles. She was married at the home of her aunt, Miss Adeline Barton, the old family home in Rochester where the bride's mother spent her girlhood days. There is a lovely, interesting garden shaded by fruit trees and as the day was ideal it was in the garden that the wedding took place. Mr. Matteson is the son of Judge and Mrs. Matteson, of Providence, and represents an old and well-established family. Several Portlanders attended the marriage.

Mrs. C. E. Curry and Mrs. F. J. Cobbs, who had charge of the cafe chantant and dinner at the Italian benefit fete on Wednesday announced yesterday that the returns from the undertaking netted about $600.

In compliance to Dr. Harry Huntington Powers and Mrs. Powers luncheon will be given on Thursday promptly at 12:15 o'clock in the University Club with the Portland Art Association, the Wednesday Morning Art Class and the Professional Woman's League as hostesses. Dr. Powers' lectures will be given as per schedule at 4:30 P. M., beginning tomorrow at the Portland Art Museum. The place originally chosen for the lectures was the Lincoln High School, but the Art Museum was considered more appropriate.

A cordial welcome is being extended to Mrs. Edward W. Clark III (Hazel Dolph), who has returned to Portland to be the guest of her mother, Mrs. Cyrus A. Dolph. Mrs. Clark will remain here for the summer.

Notes of congratulation have been sent to Lieutenant and Mrs. Lloyd Robert Gray (Edith Olds), of Bridgeport, Conn., whose home has been gladdened by the arrival of a son, who has been named Robert Olds Gray.

Prominent visitors in Portland this past week were Mrs. Hope Slater and Miss Mary Gwynn, of Washington. They were entertained at dinner Monday by Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett and on Wednesday by Mrs. W. D. Whedwright. They left Thursday for California to visit Mrs. W. H. Crocker, in Burlingame.

Mrs. George Perkins Baxter and son, Geoffrey Hassall Baxter, are visitors here from Berkeley, Cal. They will be at the Mallory Hotel while they are in the city. Mrs. Baxter has many friends here and in Salem and will be entertained here extensively.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Johnson are being congratulated on the arrival of a little son born Tuesday. The baby has been named George Pfeuffer Johnson in honor of his young uncle, George Pfeuffer who is in the overseas service with the Third Oregon. The baby's mother was Miss Margaret Pfeuffer, of San Antonio, Tex.

Mrs. E. B. Morden, wife of Lieutenant-Colonel Morden, is visiting in Portland and is being cordially entertained by friends here. As Verna Wentz, Mrs. Morden was one of the popular members of the social set.

Charles A. Malarkey, according to his custom celebrated his birthday last Sunday by entertaining his children and grandchildren. Forest Hall was the scene of the delightful gathering. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Hamlin and their daughter, Miss Ruth, and son, Clark, of Seattle; Senator and Mrs. Dan Malarkey and their daughter, Mrs. Vernon Cartwright, and son, Thomas; Mr. and Mrs. James A. Malarkey and son, Herbert; Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Malarkey and the host. Three grandchildren, Dan J. Jr., and Ngil, sons of Senator and Mrs. Malarkey, and Huntington, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Malarkey, were unable to be present at the birthday dinner this year, as they are serving with the Army in France.

One of the attractive ushers at the Cort Theater in San Francisco Friday was Mrs. Philip S. Kamm. The Cort was the scene of a benefit for the Sellers' Lodging-House to be established by the San Francisco Navy and Marine auxiliary. The acts were all donated and there was a reception following the programs.

William P. Castleman, motored last week to Seattle and Mount Rainier.

Major and Mrs. E. G. Griggs, of Tacoma, who spent some time at the Hotel Portland, have taken a house, as they expect to make this city their home, Major Griggs being attached to the Spruce division at Vancouver.

Mrs. George M. Winter, well known in artistic circles, left Thursday for her summer place, the Clubhouse, at Manzanita Beach, where she will entertain during the season.

Mrs. Mabel S. Conway entertained at a luncheon early in the week in honor of Miss Catherine Tyler, an art student home from Chicago to visit her parents, and Miss Anna Russell, a bride-elect. A musicale followed the luncheon.

Clever in every detail was the linen shower given last Tuesday by Miss Mildred Woodruff for Miss Gertrude Cowgill. The house was decorated in snap dragons and gladioli. The way in which the honor guest was presented with the gifts was quite unique. Miss Betty Jane Stratton, a dainty little maid in a charming summery frock, brought in a huge basket, apparently filled with sweet peas and snap dragons, and gave it to Miss Cowgill. The flowers concealed a large number of gifts, each tagged with an appropriate verse.

The guest list included Misses Gertrude Cowgill, Mary Packwood, Louise Wilson, Eunice Cowgill, Thelma Stanton, Elvira Thurlow, Lois Cowgill, Ella Dewe, Pauline Beals, Kathleen Kem, Edith Fiere, Margaret Conklin, Nellie Parker, Ada Mathews and Mrs. Jeanette Nelson and Mrs. L. Leslie.

Miss Woodruff was one of the attendants at the Vincent-Cowgill wedding last night.

The Baptist people are planning a liberty carnival to be held on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. James Failing's residence on Friday night. Speeches from prominent speakers, patriotic music and various other features are on the programme. The party is given in the interest of liberty bonds and a general invitation to attend is extended to all.

The Holy Trinity Episcopal Church, on East Grand avenue, Alhambra, Cal., was the scene of a most beautiful and attractive wedding Wednesday evening, June 12, when Robert Moorhead gave his daughter, Theodora, in marriage to Joseph T. Jones.

The ceremony took place under an arbor of pink carnations and ferns, where Rev. Milton Runkle read the service. The floral decorations throughout the church consisted of carnations and ferns, which made a very dainty combination.

The bride wore a gown of net, fashioned with satin ribbon; she wore a long tulle veil, caught with a coronet of orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of cyclamen, Ceil Brunner roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Edward Moorhead, gowned in white and carrying a bouquet of pink sweet peas, acted as matron of honor, while little Misses Eleanor March, Leah Currier and Wilma Jones, nieces of the groom, served as flower girls. Miss Helen Parker carried the ring in the center of a large, pink peony. All were dressed in pink and white. Edward Moorhead, brother of the bride, was Mr. Jones' best man. The wedding march, from Lohengrin, was played by Mrs. Fitzgerald and solos were rendered by Mrs. O. H. Schluessner and Haydn Jones, of Los Angeles. The
