WOMEN AT SEASHORE DO NOT FORGET NEED OF WAR SERVICE

Knitting, Red Cross and Other Activities Take Up Many Spare Hours That World Can Be Made Safe for Democracy.

SEASIDE, Or., July 20.—(Special.)—Women who have come to the seashore have not forgotten the needs for women's service in the war. There is abundant evidence of this in the good attendance at the Red Cross work rooms, where many dressings of sphagnum moss are daily being made and by plans for benefits for war work soon to be held. Saturday, July 27, will be Forget-me-not Day under the auspices of the Oregon Committee for Relief of Children in Belgium and France, and it is expected that the citizens of Seaside and the visitors will be very grateful for the opportunity of helping in this splendid work of mercy. All the workers are most enthusiastic and a splendid result is expected. Mrs. Julius Louisson is general chairman for Seaside, with Miss Gertrude Talbot chairman for Gearhart.

An attractive programme is being arranged for a concert and jitney-dance to be given for the benefit of the Red Cross of Seaside, Saturday evening, August 10. Mayor Paget is chairman of the committee which is undertaking to procure the best possible talent for the concert.

LONG BEACH RIOT OF COLOR

Gardens at Their Best and Flowers Galore for Everybody.

LONG BEACH, Wash., July 20.—(Special.)—Gardens make this section of the peninsula a veritable bower of marvelous coloring and bloom. Sweet peas and dahlias are especially admired, the H. H. Tinker gardens being particularly noted for their wonderful sweet peas, and the North Beach Inn gardens for their splendid specimens of dahlias. Deftly arranged between rows of blooms are vegetables and small fruits, raised for family consumption. The flowers are generously donated to all friends of the growers and many of the small girls and boys sell them to the cottagers for the Red Cross fund and other patriotic purposes.

Thrift stamps are the incentive for many of the young salesmen, who are eager to fill several books during their Summer vacation. They also dig for clams and catch crabs to sell for money to purchase thrift stamps.

SEAVIEW GARDENS NEGLECTED

Farmers Desert Tracts for Work in Cities and Plots Go to Waste.

SEAVIEW, Wash., July 20.—(Special.)—War is showing its effect on gardens, farms and homes in this part of the peninsula. The lack of help has caused farmers to abandon their tracts and homes for more remunerative employment in the cities, consequently, garden truck is being wasted. It is almost impossible to get fresh fruits or vegetables. Year-round residents have their own gardens tended by the women of the households and in several cases, they sell a small amount of vegetables and fruits to the Summer visitors.

One of the largest bonfire parties of the season was given by Miss Oritae Williford on Friday evening on the beach in front of the Hackney cottage. The party, which included many prominent Portland girls and boys, was chaperoned by Mrs. T. C. Bloomer, Mrs. A. G. Findlay and Mrs. H. T. Mutzig. Games and singing to the accompaniment of ukeleles, and dancing to graphaphone music were the features of the evening. Later many appetizing concoctions were prepared over the bonfire.
