

MAJOR ROOSEVELT WOUNDED IN ACTION

Death of Quentin Confirmed in Note Dropped by German Aviators.

WILSON SENDS SYMPATHY

Theodore, Jr., in Paris Hospital. Officer's Injuries Said to Be Slight—Wife Cables News to Oyster Bay.

OTSETER BAY, N. Y., July 20.—Major Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., has been slightly wounded and taken to a hospital in Paris, according to a cable message received tonight by his father, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, from his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr.

The cablegram was sent from Paris, where Mrs. Roosevelt is in a Red Cross hospital. It read: "Ted wounded. Not seriously. Here with me. Not any danger. No cause for anxiety."

Major Roosevelt was cited for gallantry after having been gassed about three weeks ago.

The news of Major Roosevelt's having been wounded followed immediately the report from Paris that German aviators had dropped a note behind the allied lines confirming fears of the death of Lieutenant Quentin Roosevelt in an aerial engagement.

Captain Archie Roosevelt is recovering from wounds. Kermitt, a fourth son, who served as a Captain in the British army in Mesopotamia, was recently appointed a Captain in the United States Army, and is now reported on his way to France. He was decorated by the British with the military cross for gallantry.

PARIS, July 20.—German aviators have dropped a note into American aviation camps confirming the death of Lieutenant Quentin Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—On learning today that German aviators had confirmed the death of Lieutenant Quentin Roosevelt, President Wilson sent this message to Colonel Roosevelt at Oyster Bay:

"I am greatly distressed that the news of your son's death is confirmed. I had hoped for other news. He died serving his country and died with fine gallantry. I am deeply grieved that his service should have come to this tragic end."

SIX WAREHOUSES FINISHED

Cost of Improvements at Camp Lewis Totals $133,000.

CAMP LEWIS, Tacoma, July 20.—Six warehouses, each 60 feet wide by 168 feet long, have been finished here in the past few days and another will be completed within the next two weeks. Five for the Quartermaster Corps are built together, being separated by brick and concrete walls. The use of the use of the conservation department.

Including the cost of putting in a siding to the existing fire hydrants and of paving beside them, $123,000 was spent on their construction. The storage space of the camp is greatly increased, 70,000 square feet being added, while the truckage facilities also are materially bettered.

JOHN H. KERN BURIED

Funeral of Portland Railroad Employee Held Yesterday.

Funeral services for John H. Kern, who died Thursday at Good Samaritan Hospital, were held at St. Patrick's Church yesterday. Interment was at Riverview cemetery.

Mr. Kern had been a resident of Portland for 22 years. He had been connected with the O.-W. R. & N. and Spokane, Portland & Seattle railroad companies. He leaves a widow, Mrs. Josephine E. Kern, and a daughter, Katherine. Two sisters, Mrs. Belle Lockart and Mrs. Mary E. Kern, and two brothers, M. H. Kern and Daniel Kern, were Portland residents. A sister, Mrs. De Chantel, lives in Belleville, Ill.

FARMERS WILL PICNIC

MULTNOMAH COUNTY GRANGERS TO MEET AT GRESHAM.

In Addition to the Basket Dinner an Interesting Programme Has Been Arranged.

A large attendance is expected at the fourth annual farmers' picnic and field day which will be held under the auspices of the Multnomah County Grangers on the county fair grounds at Gresham next Saturday. An interesting programme of events, not the least of which by any means is the basket dinner, has been arranged.

In addition to patriotic music, the exercises, which will begin at 10:30 A. M., will include an address of welcome by Circuit Judge Stapleton. Other features of the programme include all sorts of foot races, tug-of-war contests, relay and Shetland pony races will be held for the entertainment of the general Grangers and their friends. J. J. Johnson, of this city, will be chairman of the day and a general invitation to the public is extended.

Western Union Employees Elect.

CHICAGO, July 20.—The General Assembly of the Association of Western Union Employees today adopted a constitution, elected Joseph P. Hayes, San Francisco, president; named a board of directors and selected Chicago for its general headquarters. The policy of arbitration in wage disputes was endorsed. The next general assembly will be held in Los Angeles in September, 1919.

Evidence Found Insufficient.

NEW YORK, July 20.—The quashing of an indictment charging William B. Thom, president of Thom & Bayley, New York hat dealers, with participation in Army hat frauds, was ordered by Federal Judge Hand today on the ground that the evidence against him was insufficient.

Another Carrier Pigeon Captured.

ROSEBURG, Or., July 20.—(Special.)—A carrier pigeon was captured by Charles Matthews at the old Morris Webber ranch about 6 o'clock last evening. The bird evidently had gotten lost and dropped down for rest and food. There was a band on each of the bird's legs. One of these bore the number 80 and on the other the figures 87 were engraved. A small inside band was discovered on one leg, which is supposed to have held a message, and the letters "P. C." were engraved on the inside thereof.

DIETRY VALUE HIGH

Wider Use of Cottage Cheese Urged by Lecturer.

MUSCLE-BUILDER LAUDED

Value Held to Exceed That of Equal Amount of Meat or Eggs; Menu and Several Available Dishes Are Suggested.

In order to encourage the use of cottage cheese as a food, Mrs. Hallie K. Davis gave a demonstration of various recipes with cottage cheese as the basis yesterday afternoon at Liberty Temple. The lecture was under the auspices of the United States Food Administration with Mrs. F. S. Myers as chairman, and was a part of the programme of the baby clinic, which is being held there.

Mrs. Davis represents the United States Department of Agriculture and she is lecturing in Oregon under the auspices of the Oregon Agricultural College.

"More muscle-building material is available in a pound of cottage cheese than in the same amount of either meat or eggs," she declared. "Cottage cheese is a real food that will take the place of meat in your menus."

Many Dishes Available. Combined with fruits or vegetables, it may be made into attractive, nourishing dishes. Cottage cheese is mild in flavor and blends well with highly flavored foods. The menus that accompany the recipes will suggest good food combinations.

Mrs. Davis said that while cottage cheese has been a part of food for many years, it has been little appreciated and has often been poorly made and unattractively served. "Innocent cottage cheese dishes, egg combinations, soups and sauces made of the cheese, meatlike dishes, potato dishes and sandwiches and breads were discussed."

"Cottage cheese is a food that may form an important part of the diet," she stated. "It may be served either alone or in combination. In soup, sauce, meatlike dishes, salad or desserts, cottage cheese may well be used. As a basis for the main dish of the meal, it will materially reduce expense, appeal to the appetite and save meat."

Big Economies Possible. "Being made from skim milk, which is now either fed to livestock or wasted, cottage cheese makes available directly for human food a valuable but little appreciated dairy by-product. A menu and some variations of uncooked cottage cheese dishes as suggested by Mrs. Davis are given as follows:

Cottage cheese may be served plain, as the main dish of a luncheon or supper in place of cold meat. Various—Mix broken nut meats, chopped pimientos, finely cut green peppers, diced cucumbers, or other crisp vegetables with the cheese. Stir in tomato or onion juice and parsley make a good combination. Season dry cheese rather well, pack into a buttered earthen or enamel dish, chill it, turn it out on a platter and serve it in slices like cold veal loaf.

With both the cheese and a small quantity of leftover ham or corned beef, finely ground, and season the whole with made mustard. Spread this in slices, turn the mold out on a border of lettuce leaves.

Suggested menu—Molded cottage cheese; baked potatoes, lettuce, sliced tomatoes or cucumbers; crisp corn pone or oatmeal.

THE SPIRIT WORLD

Paradise and Hades

By Dr. JAMES E. TALMAGE Of the Council of the Twelve, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints Salt Lake City, Utah.

It is a common practise to designate the place, the time, or the state of existence following death as the hereafter; indeed, that term is defined by lexicographers as the future life. The application is a broad one, too broad to be regarded as descriptive except in the matter of sequence.

Nevertheless, the expression is a convenient one, and is practically synonymous with the poet's phrase "the bright unknown." Its usage is a confession of uncertainty or ignorance of what awaits us beyond; and as to duration it embraces eternity, whether divisions or periods either as to condition or time. Holy Scripture is more definite, and like Paul's commanding call, on "Mars' Hill, to worshipers of the unknown God," summons us to hear and learn the truth.

The world of the disembodied was known to the Hebrews as Sheol and to the Greeks as Hades; and these terms meaning the unseen or unknown world, are translated Hell in our version of the Old and New Testaments respectively. In a few New Testament passages referring to the state of the damned, Gehenna is the original of the term Hell.

Paradise first appears in the Bible in the Savior's utterance from the cross promising the penitent thief a place there (Luke 23:43); and the word occurs subsequently but twice. Paradise is distinctively the home of the righteous during their period of disembodiment, and is in contrast with the "prison" tenanted by disobedient spirits. (1 Peter 3:19, 20).

The several places or states mentioned above have reference to the existence of disembodied spirits, and therefore embrace only that period of the hereafter between death and resurrection. Beyond the spirit world, within its Paradise and its prison, lies the eternity of the resurrected state, in which men shall endure, with spirits and bodies reunited, redeemed from the thralldom of death, and according to the record of their mortal lives, saved or condemned.

The hereafter, therefore, comprises severally the disembodied and the re-embodied existences of the individual; and these must be distinctly segregated in any rational conception of the future life based on Scripture. Read the testimony of the prophet Alma:

"Now concerning the state of the soul between death and the resurrection. Behold, it has been made known unto me, by an angel, that the spirits of all men, as soon as they are departed from this mortal body; yea, the spirits of all men, whether they be good or evil, are taken home to that God who gave them life.

"And then shall it come to pass that the spirits of those who are righteous are received into a state of happiness, which is called paradise; a state of rest; a state of continued pleasure; a state of rest from all their troubles and from all care, and sorrow, etc.

"And then shall it come to pass, that the spirits of those who are evil; yea, for behold, they have no part nor portion of the Spirit of the Lord; for behold, they choose evil works rather than good; therefore the spirit of the devil did enter into them, and take possession of their house; and these shall be cast out into outer darkness; there shall be weeping, and wailing, and gnashing of teeth; and this because of their own iniquity; being led captive by the will of the devil.

"Now this is the state of the souls of the wicked; yea, in darkness, and a state of sorrow, and of anguish; a fiery indignation of the wrath of God upon them; thus they remain in this state, as well as those who have no knowledge, until the time of their resurrection." (Book of Mormon, Alma 40:11-14).

It is evident that the final judgment of mankind is to be reserved until after their resurrection; while in another sense judgment is manifest in the segregation of the disembodied, for in the intermediate state, like will serve like, the clean and good finding companionship with their kind, and the wicked congregating through the natural attraction of evil for evil.

The essential features of the intermediate state are deducible from the Lord's parable of the fig tree, and the parable of Lazarus. Read Luke 13:6-9. While it would be critically unfair to affirm doctrinal principles on the basis of an ordinary parable, we cannot admit that Christ would teach falsely even in parable, and therefore we accept as true our Lord's parable of the fig tree in the spirit world. That righteous and unrighteous dwell apart between death and resurrection is made clear. Parady is a state like the Jews liked to designate that blessed abode, "Abraham's bosom," is not the place of final rest, but a state of probation, in which the rich man's spirit, is the final habitation of the lost.

Between the two, however, there is a great gulf fixed; that is, the intermediate state of existence men's works do follow them (Rev. 14:13); and the dead shall find that in their bodily condition is that for which they have prepared themselves while in the flesh.
