

OREGON FIRST OVER IN WAR CAMPAIGN

Indications Point to State Raising $1,000,000 in Excess of Allotment.

ALL OREGON IS PRAISED

C. N. Wonacott Reports Increasing Demand for "Baby Bonds" in All Parts of Oregon—Wheeler Far in Lead.

Following compilation of the results of the big war savings stamp drive campaign concluded during the week ended June 23 National leaders in the war stamp movement are unanimous in their praise of Oregon's record and organization.

Frank A. Vanderlip, chairman of the National committee, has sent his congratulations to the local war stamp headquarters, as has Federal Director E. G. Bradley, and both give the state credit of being first "over the top" and in getting completion of results to headquarters at Washington.

With five months to go, there is indication that Oregon will subscribe millions of dollars more in excess of its quota of $1,755,740 in war savings stamps. Since the pledge week campaign, as shown by the books of the local committee, the "baby bonds" have been in increasing demand. C. N. Wonacott, associate state director, reports that those who signed pledge cards are not only buying stamps in keeping their pledge, but are in many cases exceeding their pledge obligations to considerable amounts.

The total quota for the state, according to compilation made August 1, is 45 per cent subscribed. Multnomah County's quota of $4,322,250 is half subscribed. Wheeler leads all counties with 74 per cent subscribed. Multnomah County is at the bottom of the list with but 18 per cent subscribed.

APPEALS ARE SENT OUT

Suburban Cities Offer to Take Care of Overflow if Portland Is Unable to Provide Quarters.

With but two weeks before the 52d annual G. A. R. encampment opens in Portland, less than one-fourth of the rooms needed to house the veterans have been listed at the Liberty Temple by Portland residents, according to Thomas J. Swivel, of the committee on accommodations, amounting to 2100 out of 10,000 desired.

Appeals are being sent to all civic organizations, social clubs, churches, fraternal organizations and other places for places to accommodate the overflow.

Oregon City, Hillsboro, Forest Grove and other nearby towns are threatening to show Portland up in hospitality. Every effort is being made to secure several offers of accommodations from those places providing transportation can be arranged. Disposition of these offers of assistance is awaiting the response of Portland's citizens.

The "Lang Syne" society of Portland is sending out to all its members letters urging that each list one or more rooms with the committee.

Arrangements for the entertainment of the visitors during the week of August 10-14 will be made at the Columbia. On Friday it is planned to take the veterans to Bonneville, half by land and half by water, and on Saturday by rail to Astoria.

Registration and arrangements for housing the visitors will occupy the first day of the encampment, Monday. Tuesday will be devoted to the big parade, and Wednesday and Thursday are encampment days.

Plans are being made for 25,000 visitors. Early reports indicate that this number may be exceeded. Three special trains are coming from California and others from Middle Western States.
