CRY RAISED FOR ARMISTICE

German Newspapers Plead That Opportunity Be Given for Nation to "Clean House" at Once.

BY ARNO DOSCH-FLEUROT. Staff Correspondent of the New York World. (Copyright, 1918, by the Press Publishing Company, the New York World. Special Cable to the World. Published by arrangement.)

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 18.—The tone of all of Wednesday's German newspapers reaching here shows that the majority front on President Wilson's peace note demands in the hope of saving what is possible from the military wreck. All ignore the question of immediate unconditional withdrawal of the troops from the occupied territories, but emphasize the need of an immediate armistice. They show an almost pathetic faith in the President's sincerity, even while accusing him of assuming a new dictatorial attitude.

They plead that Germany is democratizing as fast as possible, and ask to be let alone, expressing a fear that if peace negotiations are broken off the reactionaries within Germany might try to re-establish autocracy on the basis of despair.

Military Leaders Ignored.

In the connection they carefully refrain from mentioning the shaken power of Hindenburg and Ludendorff, one, or both, of whom is expected here to be forced to resign.

George Bernhardt, in the Berlin Vossische-Zeitung, starts by accusing the President of protracting the discussion in order to establish the entente military supremacy, but soon drops the pugnaous note. He writes:

"President Wilson promised the world a peace of justice. He now asks a whole series of guarantees. Can there be a better guarantee than the fact that Germany is changing her Government to the very fundamentals and peace negotiations Germany trusted the words of the President, but when the President asks further guarantees, Germany may be permitted to ask what guarantees the President gives the German people?"

"It is self-evident that the submarines will continue sinking ships as long as the war lasts, but they do not sink life boats. The President can end the war with one stroke."

Reform Bill Proposed.

"Probably it has not come to the knowledge of President Wilson that the new government's first act was to submit to the Reichstag a bill by which the omnipotence of the German Kaiser alone to decide on war or peace is abolished. It is self-evident that the transition to a parliamentary government would nullify such action, so no obstacle remains to prevent the negotiations for which Germany has asked."

"Wilson has not exactly facilitated matters by the tone of his proclamation, but he shows that he himself desires to continue negotiations, so while the latest note may delay it does not mean a breaking off."

Theodore Wolff in the Tageblatt evidently is trying to put on the entente the onus, if the war continues, asks if President Wilson means that the question of an armistice lies with the military advisers of the entente and not those of Germany, or does he mean that the question of the armistice forming of the proposed mixed commission. The submarine warfare would cease immediately if the commission was formed, he asserts. He criticizes the spirit of the Wilson note, saying:

"Wilson is the prophet of justice, reconciliation and the happiness of nations, but the spirit of his new note shows a will to use power and force to gain his ends. In every succeeding note Wilson increases his demands and keeps a dagger in his cloak. While the contents of the present note create no insurmountable obstacle for the new Germany will not forget Wilson's dictatorial tone."

Vorwaerts Pleads for Peace. Vorwaerts appeals for an immediate armistice and peace. The majority Socialists, speaking through the Vorwaerts, evidently feel that their success in inducing the Socialists to refrain from discussing the Max Hohenlohe letter in this critical moment can be secured by an armistice relieving the tense inner political struggle.

The new government has declared a willingness to accept President Wilson's formula. Vorwaerts says "so it is not necessary to demand reforms on the outside, for reforms are going on within. The government methods now being abolished, obsolete, obsolete, are the fall of Czarism. Germany is in a transition state. Before Wilson's note came the Bundesrath had decided to change article XI of the constitution that the decision for war or peace is left to the popular assembly. Wilson gives no promise to take the establishing of peace in his own hands, but evidently contemplates continuing the war. We urgently advise him not to overstrain the bow."

The German people are ready for peace as they never were before. They are willing to make great sacrifices to get a peace secured by a league of nations. A reversion of feeling is possible if their opponents are unwilling to refrain from the last desperate fight. In that event many things would be lost.

"The democratizing of Germany, a league of nations and lasting peace are great things to be reached if armistice is soon attained and if peace negotiations start, but those great things will be wrecked if the advocates of ruthless ruin and irreconcilable subjection prevail."

SENATORS GET THREATS Letters Sent to Those Who Want Unconditional Surrender.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Oct. 19.—Since members of the Senate recently made vigorous protest in public addresses against any peace with Germany on terms short of unconditional surrender, numerous threatening letters have been received by leaders who have given voice to such sentiments.

One of particular vindictiveness was received today by Senator Chamberlain, signed only with a representation of a skull and crossbones.

Most of these communications are turned over to the Department of Justice. But since they are all anonymous there is little expectation that the writers will be apprehended.

LARGER QUARTERS TAKEN

RED CROSS TO MOVE TO GASCO BUILDING OCTOBER 28.

Portland Chapter Creates National Record for Efficiency, Volume and Quality of Output.

Having outgrown its quarters in the Corbett building, the Portland Chapter, American Red Cross, will move, on or about October 28, to new quarters on the fifth floor of the Gasco building. Sufficient space will there be available for the headquarters of all the multifarious Red Cross activities.

In place of a score of Red Cross telephone numbers representing different Red Cross activities, there will be a greater output with the Red Cross shop, salvage bureau, workroom, canteen, etc., all on the same exchange; direct wires leading to the different activities. A complete information bureau regarding the Red Cross activities both in Portland and abroad will also be maintained.

The workroom will still be maintained on the eighth floor of the Lipman-Wolfe building and the headquarters of other activities where they now are, but all the office detail and general information will be centered in the new offices in the Gasco building.

The Portland chapter has created a National record by reason of its efficiency, the volume and quality of its output, and it is said, but few chapters in the country, and none in cities of the same size, can compare with it. The Red Cross workroom is larger and has a greater output than any Red Cross workroom in the United States.

PACK ANIMALS TO BE USED

Coos County Men Plan to Carry 5 Tons of Chrome Ore Daily.

MARSHFIELD, Or., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—C. E. Bradford and G. Norris, of California, are the first to open active mining in Southern Coos County and are launching a big undertaking as the initiative.

This firm, who are from California, plan to start at once 90 pack animals carrying 200 pounds each between the mines and Powers, a distance of 18 miles. They hope in this manner to deliver at the railroad terminus an average of five tons of chrome ore daily. Their market has been secured in the East, where the ore will be reduced and the metal used for ammunition manufacture.

The force of pack animals will be controlled by six men, each of whom will be in charge of 15 horses and mules. Bradford and Norris also are interested in several copper properties in Southern Coos, but will probably not develop these until 1919.

TARS HAVE 'SEA' QUARTERS

Sigma Chi House at University Now Good Ship Galleon.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Oct. 19.—(Special.)—With a naval section of the Student Army Training Corps organized at the university, the good ship Galleon appears in the offing. For such is the name given the old Sigma Chi house, the quarters of the 50 lads who make up the navy unit.

The "craft" is well built, well equipped, and will be manned by a stalwart crew of young sailor lads. Temporarily it is toasting in a troubled sea of influenza, with several of its crew out of action.

The Galleon is a three-decker. The main and lower decks are more popular than the upper (weather) deck during the rainy days; but the sailors soon will be indifferent to wind and weather.

The Galleon is so anchored that the fo'castle commands a view of everything navigating. The porch is called the promenade deck, and the steps are known as the gangway. The corners and angles of the house are spoken of as fore, aft, starboard, port. Anyone referring to the deck as the floor is scorned as a landlubber.

TEACHERS GATHER AT MORO

Sherman County Educators Hold Successful Institute.

MORO, Or., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—The weather was ideal last week for the Sherman County Teachers' Institute. Hotels and private homes were crowded with attendants.

The institute instructors were State Superintendent Churchill, Dr. J. P. Brumbaugh, of Oregon Agricultural College; J. H. Ackerman, president Oregon Normal School; Dr. Carl G. Doney, president Willamette University; Dr. C. A. Gregory, University of Oregon; Mrs. Margaret Curran, Oregon Normal School, and Miss Helen Cowgill and L. J. Allen from the Oregon Agricultural College.

The keynote of the institute was win the war and prepare the schools for the greatest reconstruction period. Each speaker emphasized the importance of war work.

On Monday evening a large audience heard an address by Dr. Doney, who told about his recent trip to Europe in the interest of the Y. M. C. A.

Before the close of the institute the teachers gave 100 per cent support to the State Teachers' Association in membership. This was the second time that Sherman County teachers have gone over the top in support of the association.

By unanimous vote a resolution was adopted favoring two more state normal schools, one in Southern Oregon and the other in Eastern Oregon and to be built after the unconditional surrender of the Kaiser.

CASTLE ROCK BOY RETURNS

17-Year-Old Everett Crane Back After Year in France.

CASTLE ROCK, Wash., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—Everett Crane has returned after two years' absence, having been with the Canadian army in France for over a year. He enlisted with the Canadian 49th Infantry Battalion and spent the first three months in the Forestry Battalion and later took part in some of the hardest fighting of the war, the Fourth Division being driven back 40 miles, with many losses.

He was gassed and underwent great hardships experienced by the Canadians, on one occasion being five days without anything to eat and two and three days without water, except what was in the shell holes. There were 217 British Columbia returned soldiers reaching Vancouver, B. C., with him. Everett is only 17 years old now and

The National Council of Defense has demanded that the business interests of the Country shall curtail their Holiday activities and has asked them:

Not to increase their working force by reason of the Holiday business.

Not to increase the number of working hours of their force during the Christmas Season.

To spread the period for holiday purchases over the months of October, November and December.

The General Secretary has it on the highest authority that it was the intention of the National Council of Defense to discourage Holiday business entirely until through the representations of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States it was demonstrated to the satisfaction of even the highest in authority in the National Council of Defense that such a programme at this time would mean irreparable damage to the business interests of the Country, since in all lines merchandise had been bought and delivered for Christmas uses.

FISHERMEN MAKING GOOD

Coos Bay Reports Big Silverside Salmon Catches.

MARSHFIELD, Or., Oct. 19.—(Special.)—Silverside salmon are being caught in Coos Bay and the Umpqua River in larger numbers than for years past. The fish companies at Reedsport are shipping an average of nearly 15,000 pounds daily to eastern markets.

Record catches are reported by individual boats and one on the Umpqua took 2500 pounds in one night. Two men fishing on Coos River brought 160 silversides to market one morning this week. The gillnetters especially are prospering.

Equally good reports come from Rogue River, where the silverside run is said to be excellent. One draft of the Mackay seine on Rogue River gathered 8000 pounds of fish. Coos Bay's catch is also being forwarded to northern points for re-shipment to Eastern markets.

Sidney Dean, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Dean, was also in the same drive. For 12 days they did not sleep with their shoes off, and were under shell fire for 10 days. On the return they marched nights from 8 o'clock until dawn and were on the road a week before getting to a place where they could write a letter. When he was able to write from a Y. M. C. THAT JESUS IS THE CHRIST

By Dr. JAMES E. TALMAGE Of the Council of the Twelve, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, Salt Lake City, Utah.

Two national histories, separate and distinct, written on opposite hemispheres, unite in circumstantial testimony of the Lord Jesus Christ as the world's Redeemer; and these are embodied in independent volumes of Scripture—the Holy Bible and the Book of Mormon.

The evidence of witnesses, whether individuals, cities or nations, refutes itself if it fall in consistency, mutual support, and agreement in all substantial. The most critical examination of these two compilations of Scripture as to this vital feature is invited.

Among the outstanding facts of profound import recorded in the Bible concerning Jesus Christ and His mission are these:

- 1. His preexistence and antemortal Godship. 2. His foreordination as the Redeemer and Savior of mankind. 3. Predictions of His embodiment in the flesh, as the Son of the Eternal Father and of mortal woman. 4. The fulfillment of these predictions in His birth as Mary's Child. 5. The sending of a forerunner, John the Baptist, to prepare the way for the Lord's public ministry. 6. Christ's earthly life, covering about a third of a century, characterized by beneficent service, by authoritative administration, and by unexceptional example. 7. The establishment of His Church with duly ordained Apostles, who, with others ministers invested with the Holy Priesthood, carried forward the work of salvation after the Lord's departure. 8. The specific and authentic enunciation of the fundamental principles and ordinances of the Gospel, by which the way of salvation has been opened to all, and without which none can abide in the Kingdom of God, these comprising: (1) Faith in Him as the Son of God and the Redeemer of the world; (2) Repentance of sin; (3) Baptism by immersion for the remission of sins; and (4) bestowal of the Holy Ghost by the authoritative laying on of hands. 9. The Lord's sacrificial and atoning death. 10. His actual resurrection, whereby His spirit was reunited with the crucified body, and He became a glorified and immortal Soul. 11. His ministry as a Resurrected Being among men. 12. His exaltation to the place He had won at the right hand of God the Eternal Father. 13. The general apostasy of mankind from the Gospel of Christ, bringing about an era of spiritual darkness, or "the restoration of the Holy Priesthood in the latter days, by which the Gospel would be again preached in power and its ordinances administered for the salvation of men. 14. The assurance of our Lord's yet future return to earth, in glory and judgment, to inaugurate the predicted Millennium of peace and righteousness.
