SALEM PHYSICIAN IS DEAD—Dr. Margaret Elizabeth Pomeroy, well known Salem physician who died October 22, was born December 24, 1871. Her death occurred just a week to a day after that of her brother, Edwin C. Cornelius, who was born near Hillsboro, May 22, 1870, and died October 15, 1918. Pomeroy is survived by her mother, Mrs. C. Cornelius, of Portland; her husband, C. J. Pomeroy, of Salem, and a son, Dr. E. Pomeroy, a first lieutenant in the Medical Corps of the U. S. Navy and now in active service in France. Edwin C. Cornelius spent the greater part of his life in Oregon, being identified principally with mining and lumbering. Surviving him are his mother, widow, a 14-year-old daughter and two brothers, John and Thomas Cornelius. Dr. Pomeroy and Mr. Cornelius were members of one of the oldest pioneer families of Oregon.

G. A. CARROLL COMMISSIONED.—Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Carroll, of 10 Garfield avenue, that their son, George A. Carroll, has been commissioned lieutenant at Camp Pike, Arkansas, and has been ordered to report for duty at Camp Custer, Battle Creek, Mich. Lieutenant Carroll has two brothers in the service—Sergeant Howard J. Carroll, with the 81st Division in France, and Marcus T. Carroll, with the United States Naval unit at the University of Washington.

LUMBER COMPANY WINS.—Circuit Judge Gates yesterday granted a voluntary non-suit in the case brought by Joe Aldrich against the Portland Lumber Company. Aldrich sought $5000 in damages because a former fellow-employee of the defendant plant had been arrested last April on charge of disloyalty. The charge later was disproved. Aldrich asserted, but the court decided he was not entitled to recover on the suit filed in Circuit court.

INSENSE DECISION DELAYED.—Because of a press of other court business, coupled with illness which has kept him from the office several days the past week, Circuit Judge Kavanaugh will delay handing down decision in the case of William Insenze until the fore part of the present week. Insenze, an alleged bank stocker, was indicted recently before Judge Kavanaugh on a disorderly conduct charge. Liberty loan collectors were his accusers.

REICHARD N. REICHARD LEAVES TOWN.—Richard N. Reichard, 12, who has been attending Culver Military Academy was one of Senator Chamberlain's appointees, and successfully passed the competitive examination for entrance to West Point Academy. He has received orders to report to West Point November 2, and will leave Portland tonight.

APPLE SPRAYING IS URGED

Bordeaux Mixture Is Needed This Fall to Control Anthracnose. HOOD RIVER, Or., Oct. 26.—(Special.)—LeRoy Childs, superintendent of the Hood River Experiment Station, is urging Oregon apple growers to apply Bordeaux mixture, a fungicide, for control of anthracnose as soon as the apples have been picked. Mr. Childs says the disease is scattered through most old orchards and will result in much damage if allowed to run its course.

Mr. Childs says that home-made Bordeaux is much more efficient than prepared material. The mixture should cover all old branches and if possible a covering should be applied to new growth.

The affectionate regard in which he was held was evidenced by the fact that the floral pieces at the funeral, many sent from Oregon, dating back for nine years, since his graduation from the university he had represented Allen & Lewis, of Portland, as traveling salesman.

Mr. Townsend entered the University of Oregon in 1914 and graduated with honors in June, 1919. During his undergraduate career he filled many important student posts. He was a member of the Oregon debating teams and in his final year at college was president of the student body, the highest office an undergraduate can attain. He was a member of the Beta Theta Pi college fraternity.

On July 1, Mr. Townsend married Beatrice E. Smith, formerly of Portland. They made their home in Salem. Besides his widow Mr. Townsend is survived by his parents, Rev. and Mrs. John A. Townsend, of Portland; his two brothers, John G. of Portland, and Ross, of Amity, Or., and his two sisters, Mary E. Townsend, a senior at the University of Oregon this year, and Alleen, a graduate of the university with the class of last June.

AMERICAN COMPOSERS SLOWLY GAINING RECOGNITION AT LAST

Home Products More Than Ever Before in Evidence in Opera Season Now on in New York—Many Contributors Are New.

BY EMILIE FRACES BAUER. NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Although the musical season is on this week, with about the most disagreeable feature of a New York season—the crowding of half a dozen attractions into the same hours. The first performance on any stage of Henry Hadley's prize opera, "Blanca," the first appearance in America of the great French orchestra under Andre Messager, and an interesting song recital announced by Neil Gardini are all set for Tuesday evening and will no doubt proceed as scheduled, and should it be possible to send this organization on tour it is safe to promise the country the most enjoyable musical feast that has ever been offered a music-loving public.

Recalling a little of the past, it will be remembered that a prize of $1000 was offered by Mr. Hinshaw about a year ago for the best opera by an American composer and the award was made December 30 of last year by a jury consisting of Money, Herbert, David Bligh, Homer and Richard Hageman. Eighteen operas, without chorus, written in one act, were submitted, the selection resting upon Mr. Hadley's "Blanca" in the crowning moment of its production interest is further manifested in Henry Hadley by the acceptance of an opera which has never been heard outside of the Metropolitan, which in itself would seem to proclaim this composer's right to the distinction.

As in the case of "Azora," whose first performance was given by the Chicago Opera Association, Mr. Hadley turned to Latin inspiration for his stories, the plot of "Blanca" being a tale of Florentine origin adapted from a play of Goldoni, "The Mistress of the Inn."

The Society of American Singers will bring forward later in the week the ever delightful "Mikado," coupled with a revival of "Madelene," Victor Herbert's opera, which has never been heard outside of the Metropolitan, which will give the little work a better chance

MOURN OREGON ALUMNUS

LATE THOMAS R. TOWNSEND IS SPANISH INFLUENZA VICTIM.

Former President of University of Oregon Student Body Had Wide Circle of Friends.

Many sorrowing friends of Thomas R. Townsend, who died of pneumonia following Spanish influenza while attending the officers' training school at the University of Oregon, attended the funeral services at the Presbyterian Church in Salem last Sunday and followed the body to the grave, where the services were conducted by the Missions. Mr. Townsend was one of the most popular men who ever graduated from the University of Oregon.

The DIAMOND LEADERSHIP OF THIS ESTABLISHMENT IS SUBSTANTIATED IN MORE WAYS THAN ONE

Our Present Showing of Exceptionally Rare Gems is but one instance. We list here a few of the fine Diamonds exhibited in our expertly selected collections.

At $4500 is an absolutely perfect steel blue Diamond, weighing 2 1/4 carats. A rare gem, indeed, and we doubt if its equal is to be found west of New York.

At $2500 is another perfect Diamond in the famous twentieth century cut. Weighs over 4 carats.

At $1500, a perfect blue-white gem, weighing over 2 1/4 carats.

At $1050, a perfect Diamond, weighing almost 2 1/2 carats.

At $1000, a very distinctive Diamond—a fancy color canary and the only one of its kind on the Pacific Coast. Weighs 3 1/2 carats.

At $1000, an exceptionally fine and perfect stone, weighing over 4 carats.

At $1200 is a pair of perfect blue-white stones, weighing over 2 carats.

At $975, $700, $675, $650 and $575 are other Diamonds of rare beauty and value.

SPEAKING OF OUR SPECIAL $100 DIAMOND

A few days ago we were complimented with a visit from a representative of one of the leading diamond importing firms in the United States. This man, a diamond expert, upon being shown a tray of our $100 DIAMONDS, remarked that they were very exceptional values, and stated that it would be impossible for us to again duplicate them. This again proves that Our Special $100 Diamond is a very unusual value, and furnishes an instance why it enjoys the distinction of being the most popular stone in Portland.

and others represented in the Schmidt catalogue of works in larger form. A name which deserves to be perpetuated in this country is that of John Knowles Paine, one of the greatest musicians of which America can boast. It may well be said that not yet has that great man, dead now a good many years, come into his own. Paine may well be regarded as the father of the New England school of music.

To Arthur P. Schmidt this country is indebted or the position in the earlier part of his life of Edward A. MacDowell, of whom the well-known publisher was duly proud and to whom he gave every opportunity.

More than ordinary interest is manifested in American composers this season and there is little doubt that the orchestras will make place for as many serious works as they find available. The American has always been regarded as first among the composers of sacred and choral music, as the programmes of all choral societies will prove. There has been less incentive not only for composers to go into the larger forms but also for the publishers to take upon themselves the great expense of printing orchestral and chamber music scores.

The house of Arthur P. Schmidt, however, has a goodly number of fine orchestral and chamber music works to its credit, and it is well at this time to realize that some of the most important composers of America of an earlier day were less dismayed at the chance for Americans to gain a foothold than those of today.

Among the foremost composers are: Mrs. H. A. Beach, Arthur Foote, Edward A. MacDowell, George W. Chadwick, Henry Hadley, John Knowles Paine, Homer Bird, Rosseter G. Cole
