LONDON, Nov. 30 .- The meeting of former Emperor William and the former Empress at Ameron en is described by a Dutch correspondent of the Daily Ex-

Meeting of Two Described. "The gates were thrown open, the draw-bridge was lowered with a noise of chains and fron bars that sounded very medieval, and in the courtyand be-fore the castle an elderly man in a gray military cloak was seen at a distance, walking slowly and leaning on his atick," the correspondent writes. "It was the ex-Kaiser. The ex-Kaiserin's car was driven into the courtyard, the ex-Kaiser threw down his stick and before the valet was able, opened the door and handed out his wife. "They shook hands and then threw themselves into each others' arms, the ex-Kaiserin falling upon her husband's shoulder and crying like a child. The closing of the gates shut out a further
