

MEMORIAL PROJECT MEETS APPROVAL

Committee of Selection Accepts Mayor's Suggestions.

PLAN DECLARED PRACTICAL

Condemnation of Park Blocks Biggest Problem—Authority of Legislature to Be Asked.

A vast memorial project involving development of Portland's park, depot, transportation and hospital facilities, with erection of suitable tablets and monuments to the fallen soldiers, was approved yesterday by the committee on selection, headed by Will Moore, collector of customs. The plan was adopted after consideration of dozens of suggestions from all parts of the state.

The scheme finally approved is the suggestion of Mayor Baker. It was worked out in detail by a committee of the Oregon Chapter of the American Institute of Architects, including, as it does, almost every other form of memorial suggested, the idea found insistent favor with the committee.

Working Out of Plans Big Task.

Efforts of the executive memorial committee, headed by Henry Reed, now will be centered on putting through the projects as outlined in the plan. It is expected the Memorial Association will assume general charge of the various development projects, though the funds for carrying them out will come from various public and private sources.

The railroads are expected to take care of the Union Depot and enlarged terminal scheme, which, it is planned, will stand at the end of the north plaza blocks and form the entrance to the "Victory Mall" extending to the heights.

Improvement of the plaza blocks will come from the city and real estate owners of the district.

The monument to democracy, standing at the turn in the park blocks at Burnside street, will be built by public subscription.

Condemnation of the seven park blocks between city and city hospital streets is expected to present the biggest problem. Mayor Baker, in behalf of the city government, expects to ask the Legislature for authority to condemn these business blocks and open them for traffic and other uses. Public utility bonds, which will be retired by the income from these blocks, will be sold to cover the purchase price.

At the head of the park blocks will be the main memorial project. Arches, peristyles and possibly a shaft will be erected in the park overlooking the city, it is planned.

Mayor Declares Plan Practical.

Also at the head of the park blocks will be the entrance to Terwilliger boulevard, which is the first link in the hard-surface highway to Salem, which soon will be a fact.

Along the boulevard and near the site of the Oregon Medical School will be the state, county and city hospital, which, it is expected, will be linked up definitely with the memorial project. Public funds for this part of the scheme will be available, it is believed.

"The plan may appear visionary, but is practical," said Mayor Baker. "It may take a year or it may take 25 years to put it all over, but we can do it, and Oregon will have a memorial worthy of the sacrifices her sons have made."

WOMEN LIKE FARM WORK

MRS. CHARLES H. CASTNER REPORTS ON TOUR OF STATE.

Oregon Civic League Members Hear of Government Plans for After-the-War Period.

Oregon women drawn into real farm work by the exigencies of war were fascinated by the tasks and will not easily relinquish the chance to do their part of farm work, Mrs. Charles H. Castner, of Hood River, president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, told members of the Oregon Civic League yesterday. Mrs. Castner has been on a tour of the state, and has interested herself particularly in the increased activity of women due to the war.

Other speakers at the regular Saturday luncheon included D. C. Henry, of the Department of the Interior; H. P. Teale, of the Department of Agriculture, and E. G. Felt, a Tacoma contractor.

Irrigation, reclamation and other projects of Secretary Lane for the after-the-war period were explained by Mr. Henry. Thousands of acres of desert land would be reclaimed by the $100,000,000 bill now before Congress, he said.

Farmers all over the country will be helped in every way possible to develop their lands and raise more crops, Mr. Teale, of Berkeley, said.

LIBRARY DOES WAR WORK

Many Books Are Collected at Chehalis for Soldiers.

CHEHALIS, Wash., Jan. 9.—(Special.)—Chehalis' free public library has been well patronized during the year just ended, according to the report of Miss Anna Koontz, librarian. War service work was one of the most important activities of the club. More than 450 books were collected for soldiers. Books and pamphlets covering food conservation also were distributed in large number. Registration cards now in use number 1552. N. B. Coffman contributed $100 for books. Books in the library at the close of the year totaled 6572. Receipts totaled $2143.78, with expenditures of $2262.71, and a balance of $141.07.

The Chehalis City Commission has made ample provision for supporting the library.

commendations of a chaplain for her assistance in the great Champagne drive. Miss Smith was formerly secretary to A. L. Mills, of the First National Bank of Portland. The item in the Red Cross Bulletin follows:

"The day of the receiving of American wounded from the battlefield has passed, but the deeds of the American soldier and the help given him are gradually becoming known in greater detail.

"As an example, there is this letter, recently received at American Red Cross headquarters from Chaplain William C. Hicks, A. R. C., attached to Evacuation Hospital No. 2:

"I should like to express my very great appreciation of the assistance of a number of Red Cross workers who were stationed here for several days. They included Miss Watkins, Miss Smith, Mrs. Schenck and Miss Peck. "Day and night they were on the job, and the thousands who passed through this hospital during the great Champagne drive had their every need met. As a Red Cross chaplain who went through a hell of mental agony during those days, the best I can do is to say how grand their work was. I wish there was some way in which these young women could be assured of the appreciation of every member of our hospital personnel.

"Hundreds of letters that came to me as mail censor spoke in the highest terms of the work of the Red Cross."

THIN PEOPLE NEED BITRO-PHOSPHATE

How It Increases Weight, Strength and Nerve Force in Two Weeks' Time in Many Instances.

"Take plain bitro-phosphate" is the advice of physicians to thin, delicate, nervous people who lack vim, energy and nerve force, and there seems to be strong proof of the efficacy of this preparation to warrant the recommendation. Moreover, if we judge from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness. Thinness and weakness are usually due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more

Miss Josephine Davis, reporting her own experience with BITRO PHOSPHATE, says: "It is remarkable what it did for me. After a few days I began to regain my strength, fell full of life, was able to sleep soundly and all my little troubles seemed to disappear. I gained twelve pounds in four weeks."

phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate quickly produces a welcome transformation in the appearance, the increase in weight frequently being automatic.

This increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompanies excessive thinness, soon disappear, dull eyes become bright and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

CAUTION.—Although Bitro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, owing to its remarkable flesh growing properties it should not be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.
