

LUMBER

WAR DEPARTMENT

UNITED STATES SPRUCE PRODUCTION CORPORATION

YEON BUILDING, PORTLAND, OR. January 18, 1919.

- 1. Sealed proposals will be received by the United States Spruce Production Corporation, Yeon Building, Portland, Oregon, until January 28, 1919, at eleven o'clock A. M., and then publicly opened, for its entire stock of commercial lumber (airplane stock not included), including Spruce, Fir, and Port Orford Cedar, now located at Vancouver Barracks Cut-up Plant, Vancouver Barracks, Washington; the Monarch Mill, Kenton, Oregon, and the Hammond Lumber Company Mill, Warrenton, Oregon.
2. Bidders are invited to be present at the time bids are opened.
3. Only bids on all of said stock as an entirety, including all pile foundations, strips and tops, will be received.
4. Bidders are expected to visit the Vancouver Barracks Cut-up Plant, at Vancouver, Washington; the Monarch Mill, at Kenton, Oregon, and the Hammond Lumber Company Mill, at Warrenton, Oregon, and carefully inspect the lumber offered for sale, so as to satisfy themselves as to quality, quantity and conditions, description given being approximate only, and the successful bidder will be required to accept said lumber as it now is, no guaranty whatsoever being made by the seller with respect thereto.
5. The United States Spruce Production Corporation reserves the right to reject any and all bids.
6. The purchaser of this lumber will be permitted to allow the same to remain at the place where it is now located, and make shipment therefrom, from time to time, payments for all lumber to be made upon invoice as the shipments are made.
7. Bids must be on the basis of unit price per thousand as in pile. Measurements will be based on commercial sizes of lumber as shipped, and payments on odd lengths, widths and thicknesses will be made as shipped. Present proportions of short and long lumber shall govern the purchaser's sales, and he will be required to pay for lumber shipped in the proportions of such sizes as they now obtain.
8. The United States Spruce Production Corporation now has on hand a number of orders applying against the lumber offered for sale, which orders will be assigned to the successful bidder. A list of these orders is available at the office of the Sales Board of the United States Spruce Production Corporation, 710 Yeon Building, Portland, Oregon.
9. Bids must be accompanied by certified check, bank draft, postoffice or express money order, payable to the United States Spruce Production Corporation, for the amount of $25,000.00. This amount will be retained by said corporation as security for the full and faithful performance of all terms and conditions of the contract to be entered into by it and the successful bidder, and will be applied toward the final payment for lumber, which final payment must be completed on or before January 1, 1920. Should the successful bidder fail to carry out and perform the terms of his proposal, the $25,000.00 accompanying his bid will be retained by the United States Spruce Production Corporation as liquidated damages.
10. Title to said lumber will remain in the United States Spruce Production Corporation until shipments thereof are made from time to time, on sales out of said stock in the manner hereinbefore indicated, or until final payment for all of said lumber shall have been made, and the purchaser shall keep same fully insured under policies satisfactory to the United States Spruce Production Corporation, with losses under said policy payable to the purchaser and the United States Spruce Production Corporation, as their respective interests may appear. The expense of all said insurance shall be borne by the purchaser.
11. Deposits made by unsuccessful bidders will be returned upon rejection of bids.
12. The United States Spruce Production Corporation will not be responsible for any accident to life, limb or property of any nature, occurring by, through, or by reason of the sale of this lumber.
13. Bids must be placed in a sealed envelope, addressed to "United States Spruce Production Corporation, Sales Board, Yeon Building, Portland, Oregon," and marked "Sealed Bid"; otherwise, no responsibility will be assumed for the reception or disposition of bids.
