

ENGLAND AND UNITED STATES IN ACCORD

British Peace Aims Outlined in Detail, Unofficially.

NATIONS' LEAGUE DESIRED

Maintenance of Permanent Peace and Justice on Continent of Europe Demanded.

PARIS, Friday, Jan. 17.—Careful investigation here has made it possible to give more concretely an outline of the war aims of Great Britain and her general desires regarding the making of peace.

The British aims, the unofficial representation of them shows, are regarded as in general coinciding with those of the allied states delegation. There are some minor differences regarding the final adjustment of the world's affairs.

Great Britain believes first, it is declared, that a League of Nations is desirable and attainable and that none of the British war aims will be considered practical unless in conformity with the tenets of such a league.

As to indemnities, Great Britain expects to enter a pool with other nations. Her claims are comparatively small, it is said, but she wants her air raid damage and her shipping losses paid for.

In addition to the league of nations, one of the great things which Great Britain hopes will grow out of the peace conference is an apparent, a thoroughly good working agreement with the United States.

Great Britain, it is declared, has no interest in the continent of Europe that permanent peace and justice be maintained in the world.

As to the freedom of the seas, Great Britain it is maintained, will in the future, as in the past, aim at securing the greatest possible freedom for commerce to all nations in times of peace.

The question of the rules of warfare by sea she considers quite separate and as requiring discussion.

Trade Freedom Advocated. Great Britain desires the greatest freedom of trade on land and sea and expects a league of nations to guarantee this, it is said.

The British consider that Germany abused the privileges offered and that each German tradesman was a potential spy and Great Britain has no desire to return to this condition.

Great Britain does not want to become a protectionist power, it is declared, but she does not wish free trade to put her at a disadvantage.

In Asia-Minor, notably in Arabia and Mesopotamia, Great Britain has certain commitments to the people.

As far as Arabia is concerned, Great Britain will be largely guided by the wishes of the inhabitants.

Bagdad Railway Is Issue. The question of the Bagdad Railway must be disposed of and whether it is regarded as a matter for the peace conference to decide.

Should the peace conference approve, it is possible in the future relations of Mesopotamia would be placed under the supervision of the Indian government.

In considering return of German colonies, it is declared the interests and desires of the British dominions must be taken into account.

In the Far East, Great Britain wants nothing except stable administrations and maintenance of the open door.

Natives to Be Consulted. The welfare of the natives must be consulted in any adjustment of the African question.

In German East Africa, the claims of Great Britain, it is pointed out, cannot be considered apart from those of Portugal and Belgium.

It is possible that the United States will be asked to cooperate with Great Britain in the trusteeship in Africa.

PRESIDENT POINCARE SETS OUT VIEWS TO PEACE CONFERENCE

Attitude of French Republic Toward Questions at Issue Referred to by Executive of Nation.

PARIS, Jan. 18.—President Poincaré's speech opening the peace conference was as follows:

"Gentlemen—France greets and thanks you for having chosen as the seat of your labors the city which for more than twenty years she has made her principal military objective and which the valor of the allied armies has victoriously defended against unceasingly renewed offensives.

"Permit me to see in your decision the homage of all the nations that you represent toward a country which more than any other has endured the sufferings of war, of which entire provinces have been transformed into a vast battlefield and have been systematically laid waste by the invader, and which has paid the human tribute in death.

"France has borne these enormous sacrifices, although she had not the slightest responsibility for the frightful catastrophe which has overwhelmed the universe. And at the moment when the cycle of horror is ending, all the powers whose delegates are assembled here may acquit themselves of any share in the crime which has resulted in this unprecedented disaster.

"Permit me to see in your decision the homage of all the nations that you represent toward a country which more than any other has endured the sufferings of war, of which entire provinces have been transformed into a vast battlefield and have been systematically laid waste by the invader, and which has paid the human tribute in death.

tions nor individuals can repudiate or disregard with impunity.

"While the conflict was gradually extending the clanking of chains was heard and captive nationalities from their age-long jails cried out to us for help. Yes, more, they escaped to come to us.

"Poland came to life again and sent us troops. The Czechoslovaks won their right to independence in Siberia. In France and in Italy, the Jews, Slavs, the Armenians, the Syrians and Levantines, the Arabs, all the victims, long helpless or resigned, of the historic deeds of injustice, all the martyrs of the past, all the outraged in conscience, all the strangled in liberty, turned to us as their natural defenders.

"The war gradually attained the fullness of its first significance and became in the full sense of the term a crusade of humanity for right, and if anything can console us, in part at least, for the losses we have suffered, it is assuredly the thought that our victory also is the victory of right.

"Full Fruits of Victory Wanted. In the interest of justice and peace it now rests with you to reap from this victory its full fruits.

"It is not only the governments, but free peoples, who are represented here. To the test of danger they have learned to know and help one another. They want their intimacy of yesterday to assure the peace of tomorrow.

"If they have renounced these customary maneuvers, they will soon find that they are meeting today, as during the hostilities, a homogeneous block which nothing will be able to integrate. Even before the armistice the issue reached that necessary unity which is the fruit of a common purpose.

"What justice also demands, inspired by the same feeling, is the punishment of the guilty and effective guarantees against a future repetition of the crime which they are prompted, and it is logical to demand that these guarantees should be given, above all, to the nations that might again be made exposed to aggression.

RUMLEY FIGHTS REMOVAL New York Publisher Obtains Writ of Habeas Corpus.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Edward A. Rumley, former publisher of the New York Evening Mail, was held today by a United States Commissioner for removal to Washington to answer indictments growing out of his alleged purchase of the Mail with German government money. Immediately afterward he obtained a writ of habeas corpus, preventing execution of the order.

Dr. Rumley claimed that removal would deprive him of his constitutional right to a speedy trial here on a charge of concealing from the Alien Property Custodian the alleged German interest in his newspaper enterprise. Dr. Rumley obtained control of the Mail in 1915.

New Order Established. "By establishing this new order of things you will meet the aspirations of humanity, which, after the frightful convulsions of the blood-stained years, ardently wishes to feel itself protected by a union for the purpose of every possible revival of primitive savagery. An immortal glory will attach to the nations and men who have desired to co-operate in this grand work in faith and brotherhood and who have taken the pains to eliminate from their future peace causes of disturbance and instability.

"This very day, 45 years ago—on the 18th of January, 1871—the German empire was proclaimed by an act of invasion in the Chateau de Versailles, which was consecrated by the theft of two French provinces. It was thus a violation from its origin by the fault of its founders, it was born in injustice. It has ended in oblivion.

"You are assembled to repair the evil and to prevent its recurrence. You are in your hands the future of the world. I leave you gentlemen to your grave duty of bringing to the attention of the world the conference of Paris open."
