The Origin of the SPECIAL $100 DIAMOND

as a distinctive diamond value and advertising feature can rightly be credited to Jaeger Bros.

Its inception dates back many years ago when the store of Jaeger Bros. was a small, yet growing concern. The success and popularity of this worthy diamond value, was, from the very start, phenomenal, so much so, in fact, that other dealers soon copied the term originated by us, "our special $100 diamond."

In spite of its many imitators, however, the name and fame of Jaeger Bros.' special $100 diamond has spread far and wide, and there are many interesting instances of its having found its way to remote sections of the country.

Today, as heretofore, it is the supreme $100 Diamond.

Proportionately speaking, our Diamonds, whether it be one at $25 or at $2500 or more, are as attractive from a value standpoint as our popular "Special $100 Diamond."

LATE LYDDON VEYSEY PICKED OREGON FOR HOME.

Promotion in Marine Circles Rapidly Won and Important War Service Is Performed.

The death last week of Captain Lyddon Veysey removed from Portland business circles a man of wide experience and sterling character, who had picked Oregon as his home after visiting most of the ports and countries of the world. Captain Veysey was born in Brixham, England, of scafaring folk and at the are of 14 made.

was born in Brixham, England, of sea-faring folk, and at the age of 14 made his first voyage offshore.

His advancement was rapid and steady, and he won the command of sailing and steam vessels sent out by British firms. On one of his trips he visited the Columbia River and learned to like Portland and its surpoundlings. He entered into business relations here with Mr. Banfield, forming the firm of Banfield-Veysey Fuel Company.

Banfield-Veysey Fuel Company.

He was later appointed surveyor for Lloyds register of shipping for this district, and while performing the duties of this office became a well-known figure in waterfront and marine circles. Soon after the United States declared a state of war with Germany Captain Veysey was named one of the inspectors for the Emergency Fleet Corporation for the Columbia River district.

Captain Veysey was active in civic and mercantile affairs in Portland and was a member of Ivanhoe Lodge, Knights of Pythias; of the Hoo-Hoo, was a life member of the Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club, and did much active work in the Commercial Club. Local shipping men acted as pallbearers at his funeral last Wednesday. Soon after the United States declared
