DEMOCRATIC LINEUP CHANGES OVER NIGHT

Newton McCoy Now National Committeeman, Is Word.

DR. MORROW IS BOUNCED

Politics Produce Magic Transformation, So Chamberlain Pose May Not Be Indorsed.

Bing! Just like that, Dr. J. W. Morrow has been thrown out of the job of national committeemen for Oregon by the democratic national committee. Wednesday afternoon the doctor was seated on the throne, and Friday he was seated on the throne, and Friday he was thrown off the seat.

Newton McCoy is trlumphant.

State Chairman Starkweather is tickled pink. Postmaster Myers smiles and smiles and smiles. The Chamberlain-Jackson-West faction is nursing a figurative black eye. And there is a sneaking suspicion that the mysterious influence known as "the administration" berned in and caused the national tion" horned in and caused the national committee to reverse itself.

McCoy Wires Glad News

Apparently, as a result of the merry mix-up, Newton McCoy, whose antipathy to Senator Chamberlain extends to the fourth dimension and the nth degree, is the one, only and genuine democratic national committeeman for the state of Oregon. It was Mr. McCoy who wired the news of Dr. Morrow's banishment to Mr. Starkweather.

Here is about what happened: Dr. Morrow was promptly seated by the national committee Wednesday, a special committee which investigated his claim reporting that he was legally cial committee which investigated his claim reporting that he was legally elected by the state central committee. Mr. McCoy, who presented himself with the proxy of W. H. Hornibrook, was invited to take his hat and go hence. Wednesday afternoon State Chairman Starkweather. Mrs. Alexander Thompson and Colonel R. A. Miller elected Mr. McCoy as national committeeman, over the protest of C. L. McKenna and George Lovejoy, the latter two bolting the meeting. McCoy's credentials were telegraphed east, and he had certain other dope supplied him by Mr. Starkweather.

Wires Begin to Busz. Wires Begin to Buss

Thursday news came to Portland of Dr. Morrow's recognition by the national committee, and the fur began flying in the anti-Chamberlain camp. The seating of Dr. Morrow, a friend of Senator Chamberlain, was interpreted as an indersement of Senator Chamberlain's fight against the mistakes of the administration, and as a disapproval of the administration's attitude toward the genator. It had the aspect of the nasenator. It had the aspect of the ha-tional committee giving a backhanded slap to Mr. Wilson. At least that was the way some of the anti-Chamberlain democrats viewed the situation, and they lost no time in sending some sizzling telegrams, it is rumored, to certain members of the president's offi-cial family certain members of the presidents offi-cial family.

Possibly Secretary of War Baker re-ceived one of these wires, and maybe Postmaster-General Burleson received another, for both Baker and Burleson have felt the sting of Senator Cham-berlain's caustic criticism. And if Messrs. Baker and Burleson were shown how to get even a little with the Oregon senator they might not overlook the bet.

Be that as it may, all of a sudden the national committee underwent a complete change of sentiment toward Dr. Morrow. With no more evidence than guided its decision on Wednesday, it decided that the meeting of the state committee which elected the doctor was illegal; that the "call was insufficient," whatever that means. The dector had produced the record on Wednesday and it stood the acid test then, but overnight something happened. Apparently the political phase was brought to the attention of the "To understand the national committee or understand the national committee. Something of the sort evidently occurred, for Dr. Morrow was ejected bag and baggage. The gladsome tidings were immediately telegraphed to Chairmitteeman until 1916. were immediately telegraphed to chair-man Starkweather by Mr. McCoy. As the news percolated around town yes-terday, the anti-Chamberlain faction proceeded to gloat, as it was considered the first trench taken in the fight to defeat Chamberlain next year.

NERVOUSNESS AND STOMACH TROUBLE

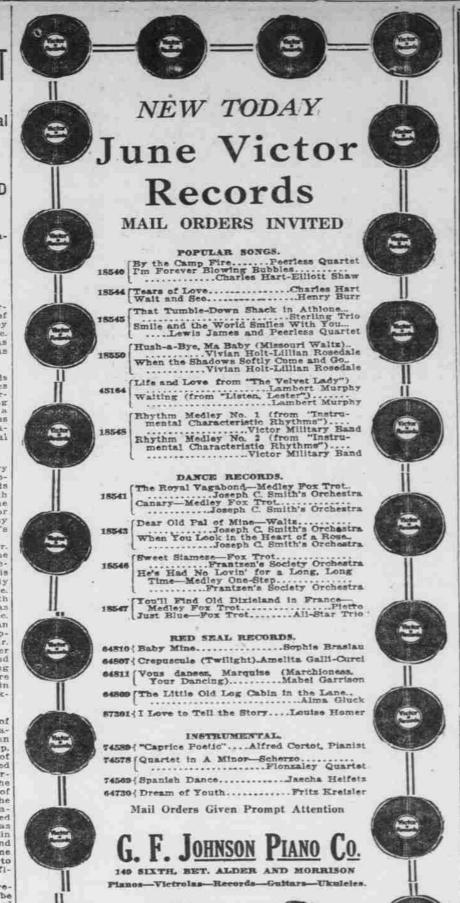

How a Keokuk Woman Built Up System Worn Out by Rheumatism.

The blood is the body's chief reliance when attacked by disease. If a disease like rheumatism gets a foothold in the system the blood is put to such a severe strain in expelling the trouble that it is left worn out. The victim loses color, the nerves fail to get nourishment and indigestion and sleeplessness result. It is highly important at such times to take the tonic which Mrs. W. F. Brinkman of No. 1911 Johnson street, Kookuk, Ia., found so beneficial. "I had a severe attack of rheumatism," says Mrs. Brinkman, "and it left me very weak and run down. I was so nervous and irritable that it seemed sometimes as though I would fly. I couldn't sleep and arose tired out in the morning. My appetite was poor and a meal was always followed by distress. Sometimes I was bloated so that I could hardly get my clothes on. "A notice in a newspaper led me to give Dr. Williams" Pink Pills a trial and that was the beginning of my return to health. The improvement was gradual. My appetite became good and my stomach seemed to gain strength, gradual. My appetite became good and my stomach seemed to gain strength, for I was no longer distressed. My nerves also improved and I can now also soundly and feel refreshed. I feel better now than I have for many years.

To understand the national co was brought to the attention of the committee, and the national committee was given to understand that the seating of Dr. Morrow was virtually upholding the contentions of Senator Chamberlain and disapproving of the R. King was in the office, elected by way the administration has been acting toward the senator.

To understand the national committee teems situation it is necessary to revample that the mational committee was given to understand the national committee teems situation it is necessary to reward to the position by the votupe way the administration has been acting toward the senator.

Job Tangled Up.

Mr. Easterly argued that he, himself, was national committeeman from 1914 to 1918, and the committee insisted that Easterly's term was from 1916 to 1920. Last year, 1918, Mr. Hornibrook was elected by the voters of the party as national committeeman, but under the rule of the national committee, Mr. Hornibrook's tenure was to operate from 1920, when Mr. Easterly's term expired, to 1924. Mr. Easterly was ada-mant, however, and insisted that he went out of office in 1918. McCoy stands, remains to be seen. It is pointed the executive committee with powers to act, the executive committee tried to straighten out the mess. To make the record clear, it secured Mr. ing obtained Mr. Easterly's resignation, the executive committee elected Mr. Hornibrook, thereby placing its stamp of approval on the verdict of the voters at the democratic primaries of May.

Inasmuch as Mr. Hornibrook, in due time, resigned, the executive commit-tee last Wednesday elected Mr. McCoy By this line of argument, Mr. McCoy is democratic national committeeman and the recent meeting of the state committee which declared Dr. Morrow elected and resolved the executive com-mittee to the scrap heap, has no force or effect, viewed in the light of the latest decision of the national commit-

CELESTIA CALDWELL UNABLE TO IDENTIFY FATHER.

Girl Is His Daughter-Pictures Sent to Utah

Whether Henry E. Sturgeon and Mary Selestia Caldwell are father and daughter is a question to be left, in the last analysis, to friends in Utah and other states of the middle west. Mrs. Caldwell, who came here from Oakland in search of a man supposed to be her long-lost parent, is unable to decide the issue, and the aged man appears to have suffered a lapse of memory, which makes it impossible for him to do so. Photographs taken in Portland a few it to close friends of the family; people

When the state central committee appointed the executive committee with powers to act, the executive committee and mr. Sturgeon is her father. She will keep in communication with him by mail during her absence, however, and if friends of the family declare he is not the object of her search, says she will not forget the lonely old man who has expressed the wish that it could be established that the attractive young woman is his daughter.

The Doughboy's Teeth

played a mighty important part in our war against autocracy. And Uncle Sam saw to it that every soldier's teeth were put, and were kept, in perfect condition, as a "first-line" requisite of health.

ROBERT W. BABSON, CHIEF OF THE DIVISION OF INFORMATION, United States Department of Labor, Telegraphs:

> "The ivories exhibited by our boys over there earned the admiration of all Europe for the work of AMERICAN DENTISTS -Every returned doughboy will indorse an educational advertiseing campaign if dentists start one now along national lines."

IN YOUR FIGHT OVER HERE

It's mighty important to possess the rugged health and stamina that comes from perfect well-being, and if your teeth aren't in first-class condition, you can't reasonably expect to do yourself justice.
