PRESIDENT'S SALARY $6000

Contract for Woman's Building to Be Awarded When Architect Completes Plans.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Or., June 14.—(Special.)—The university board of regents, in semi-annual meeting today, voted to let contracts for the construction of the new women's building as soon as the architect has completed the plans. The total amount of the pledges for the building fund now is $58,000. When $25,000 of the privately-subscribed funds has been deposited in the state treasury, another $25,000 will be available from the state, making $50,000 in all. Construction on the new building will start before fall. It will probably be built in a series of contracts, the first one being let for the construction of the outside shell and subsequent contracts for the completion as the building funds become available.

President's Salary Increased.

The board made several readjustments in salary. The question of general advances was referred to a special committee of the board. President Campbell's salary was increased from $500 to $6000, in appreciation of his services since 1902.

Formal election of new faculty members for next year was made. Colin V. Dyment, who recently resigned as head of the department of journalism at the University of Washington, will return to Oregon next year after two and a half years of absence. He will teach some journalism classes here and will also be executive secretary of the Portland extension center. He will begin his work in Portland some time this summer.

Sociology Professor Chosen.

Dr. J. Franklin Thomas, now professor of sociology at the University of Washington, was elected professor of sociology and director of the Portland division of the new school of sociology which was created at this meeting of the board. Professor Thomas took his doctor's degree at Columbia and has wide experience in social service and sociology. His work in Portland will include not only teaching extension classes, but practical social service work in connection with the home service of the Red Cross and social welfare agencies of the state.

Captain Allan C. Hopkins, who has recently returned from France, after service with the 91st division, will be professor of commerce next year. He was instructor in commerce at the university for a year and a half before enlistment.

Professor's Son in Faculty.

Harold Young, graduate of the university in the class of 1914, who has just returned from France, will be assistant professor of commerce. He has had experience in business and the year preceding his enlistment was head of the commerce department of Pendleton High school and acting principal of the school. He is a son of Professor F. G. G. Young of the department of economics.

Louis Rosenberg was elected professor of design. Mr. Rosenberg was an instructor in the school of architecture until his entrance into the camouflage corps of the United States army. He won recognition in this service while in France and made some drawings which recently attracted wide attention upon their exhibit in this country.

Commerce Professor Picked.

Miss Emma Waterman, graduate of Wellesley, will teach physical training, taking the place of Miss Gladys Gorman, who leaves this week for Siberia, where she will do recreation work in connection with the Y. W. C. A.

Giles M. Ruch, 1915 graduate of the university, who was instructor in education here two years ago, will return after a year in the army, to be assistant professor of education.

Crawford C. Edmonds, now in charge of ordnance at the Watertown arsenal, was appointed professor of commerce. He was elected two years ago, but went into the service. Alfred S. Lomx of Portland, now with the shipping board there, was elected professor of foreign trade and accounting in the school of commerce. Miss Rosalina Espinosa was elected assistant professor of Spanish to succeed Mrs. H. K. Zimmerman, resigned. Miss Espinosa is from Stanford.

Four Get Absence Leaves.

Several temporary appointments were confirmed and leaves of absence were granted Dr. E. S. Bates, professor of rhetoric, for one term; F. L. Stetson and A. N. French, professors of education, one year each; both of whom are to take special graduate work at Columbia university; and to Dr. A. E. Caswell, professor of physics, who will do research work on a fellowship recently offered by the American research council.

By resolution part of the campus of the school of medicine at Portland is to be deeded to Multnomah county as a site for the county hospital.

The resignation of Lieutenant-Colonel John Leader, who organized the military work in the university in the early stages of America's participation in the war, was accepted with special resolutions of regret. Colonel Leader is expecting to go to British Columbia.

MOVING OF CAPITAL ASKED

PRINEVILLE WANTS PORTLAND TO BE STATE SEAT.

Rejection by Marion County of Reconstruction Programme Protested in Resolution.

PRINEVILLE, Or., June 14.—(Special.)—Rejection by Marion county of the reconstruction programme, at the special election, is protested in a resolution unanimously adopted by the Prineville commercial club, asking that the state capital be moved from Salem to Portland.

A committee consisting of J. H. Upton and Paul Garrison was appointed to outline plans for action.

The resolution follows:

"Whereas, The people of the state should be able to look to the state capital for guidance in matters of public interest and progress; and,

"Whereas, The state of Oregon is entering into an era of development and advancement which will mean increased homes, population and wealth in the rural sections of the state and paved highways for the convenience and profit of the farmers and delight of the tourists; and,

"Whereas, Measures of public interest intended to bring about the foregoing conditions were submitted to the people for their approval on the third day of June, 1919, and the voters of Marion county, in which the state capital is situated, voted decisively in opposition to said measures and thereby placed the stamp of their disapproval upon further progress and advancement in the state of Oregon; and,

"Whereas, The state capital is not situated in the most accessible and convenient place to the people of the state at large; and,

"Whereas, A state reformatory for the detention of criminals is of vital importance to the health, morality and general welfare of the state and the people of Marion county have among other things by their votes prevented the building of such an institution; and,

"Whereas, It would seem that the present foul and filthy penitentiary as a place of incarceration of seasoned criminals should be retained at its present location and that the state insane asylum and the home of the feeble-minded are in a proper and appropriate environment; now, therefore be it

"Resolved, By the Commercial club of the city of Prineville, Or., that we deem it to be the best interest of the state of Oregon to remove the state capital from Salem to the city of Portland, Or., and that the constitution of the state of Oregon should be amended so that said capital may be located in the city of Portland, Or., and that the following state institutions, viz., the present state penitentiary, state insane asylum and the home of the feeble-minded, be retained in Marion county, Oregon, and that the Commercial club's development organization in the state of Oregon be furnished with a copy of this resolution and requested to use their influence for the purpose of initiating an amendment to the constitution to bring about the foregoing results."

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mrs. William Hanley of Burns is registered at the Hotel Portland.

P. S. Davidson, one of the prominent orchardists of Hood River, is among the arrivals at the Hotel Portland for the week-end.

After attending sessions of the highway commission and watching the Rose Festival, County Judge William Duby of Baker left yesterday for home. He went by motor car. Two days will be required to complete the journey.

Among the Seattle visitors to the Rose Festival were Mr. and Mrs. Martin Ockerman, Miss Lillian Shinnick, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fowles and their daughter, Miss Nellie Fowles. The party motored down from Puget sound and reported a very enjoyable trip, even though encountering exceptionally bad roads north of Vancouver.

After an absence of one month B. E. Haney, United States district attorney, has returned home. He was called east for a conference with the attorney-general. While in the east Mr. Haney proceeded to Boston to meet some relatives he had never seen and on the return trip stopped at San Francisco to try the Dr. Marie Equi case and other cases on appeal.

Already the Shriners are looking forward to the convention in Portland, Thursday morning, when there was a line of people waiting for accommodations at the Benson, Clerk Myers opened a telegram asking that eight rooms be reserved. He almost collapsed, but managed to read the rest of the message, which asked that the reservations be made for June, 1919. The request came from a Shrine temple down in Florida.

As a rule, after the parades of the Rose Festival, the visitors leave town immediately. This was not the case Friday night, however, as the guests remained over. They were so busy attending convention sessions and watching the parades that they had no time for other sight-seeing. Yesterday hundreds of visitors made the trip over the Columbia River highway and it was not until last evening that the crowds began to thin out slightly.

G. A. R. TO MEET TOMORROW

Arrangements for Wenatchee Encampment Completed.

WENATCHEE, Wash., June 14.—Arrangements have been completed for the 1919 encampments of the Grand Army of the Republic and its allied organizations here next week.

The encampment meetings open Monday. Tuesday the mayor will welcome the delegates and Tuesday night a reception will be held. Wednesday night the delegates, national guardsmen, lodge members and other organizations will hold a parade.

The elections will be held Wednesday afternoon and the installations Thursday. The encampments will adjourn Friday.

LOG ROLLERS TO COMPETE

Employes From Mid-Columbia Mills to Meet July 4.

HOOD RIVER, Or., June 14.—(Special.)—With logs rafted down from the headwaters of the west fork of Hood river, especially for the occasion, loggers from a dozen mid-Columbia mills will vie in a log-rolling contest here July 4. Charles A. Bell, veteran logger, who has driven booms all the way from eastern Canada and Michigan to the Cascades, but now retired to good roads boosting and managing the Mount Hood hotel, will have charge of the contest. Other aquatic sports will be staged.

Athletes from all mid-Columbia towns will participate in a carnival of land sports.

SLAVE HAS HOMESTEAD

Curry County Settler, Who Came in 1849, Proves Up on Land.

GOLD BEACH, June 14.—William Rumley, colored, 89 years old, who is the oldest settler in Curry county, has proved up on a homestead far up the Rogue river. Rumley was born in slavery and came west with his eleventh master in the gold rush of '49 in California. He later came to Oregon and settled in Curry county in 1867.

He was one of the early-day miners and Indian fighters. He is probably the oldest man who ever attempted to prove up on a homestead.

Klamath to Get Many Tourists.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., June 14.—(Special.)—News that the travel from the Yellowstone National park, which heretofore has been routed through Spokane and Seattle, will be routed through Klamath Falls this year by the California State Automobile association is the good word just received by J. A. Gordon, of the Southern Oregon Auto company. This is taken here to mean that the number of tourist visitors here for a number of years past will be multiplied this season.

The Cutting of the Diamond

Through skilled cutting and polishing the natural luster of the Diamond is made to throw back upon the eye the light rays as they reflect upon the facets.

The back facets also must be cut so as to catch the fugitive, penetrating rays and drive them back and forth within the diamond, finally returning them in brilliant flashes through the face of the stone to the delighted eye of the beholder.

Friedlander's possess a knowledge of those characteristics which determine the desirability of the diamond, and limit their selections to those stones which are cut to give maximum brilliancy.

Purchases made at today's market may properly be regarded as sound investments.
