

LABOR AGAIN MAKES GOMPERS ITS LEADER

Veteran Federation Chief Re-elected at Convention.

OPPOSITION PROVES SMALL

Election American Labor's Answer to Opponents and Traducers, Says Executive in Speech.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 21.—Samuel Gompers was re-elected president of the American Federation of Labor today at the organization's convention here and was voted a salary of $10,000 a year. One radical voted against the re-election of Mr. Gompers and a handful of delegates sat while the rest staged a demonstration in honor of their leader, who said his election was organized labor's answer to its traducers and opponents.

Second in importance was the adoption of a resolution directing the executive council to investigate and act in regard to a joint resolution now before congress providing for establishment of a conference of industrial heads in accordance with plans recently announced in Washington by Basil M. Manley, joint chairman of the national war labor board.

According to information submitted to the convention, the plan would bring together industrial heads and labor leaders "to study problems affecting capital and labor and suggest remedial legislation."

A list of those suggested to represent labor, as published a few days ago, is headed by Frank P. Walsh, former joint chairman of the board. Mr. Gompers' name was second. Mention of the proposed plan brought a storm of denunciation from the delegates, radicals as well as conservatives. Andrew Furuseth of the seamen's union said that in reality the proposal, if adopted by both houses of congress, meant inauguration of a commission form of government, "which is a form of government despoticism that would shake, not liberate."

President Gompers announced that he had sent a telegram to sponsors of the resolution in the senate and house as soon as he heard about the plan. The message, addressed to Senator Poindexter and Representative M. Clyde Kelly of Pennsylvania, follows: "The newspapers publish that you and Representative M. Clyde Kelly have introduced into the senate and house, respectively, bills vitally affecting the interests of labor. Before the proposal, if adopted by both houses of congress, I think it necessary that a conference should be had with the representatives of the American Federation of Labor. The acceptance of the attempt for others to speak in the name of American labor will, I am sure, arouse resentment."

The convention also voted today to send a protest to the Pennsylvania state legislature against enactment of legislation described by Mr. Gompers as "an effort by certain interests to curb the rights of labor and the masses of the people in Pennsylvania."

The legislation referred to is a so-called "anti-union" bill, which it is claimed "restricts the right of free speech and free assembly."

Freedom Declared Abridged. Adoption of the resolution was regarded as especially significant in view of the fact that today John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, in charge of the organization of workers in the iron and steel industry, told the convention that "the right of free speech and free assembly is being abridged to such an extent in western Pennsylvania that it is a disgrace to the Pittsburgh district are threatening us with arrest if we hold organization meetings."

Postmaster-General Burleson was again assailed. A resolution adopted unanimously expressed organized labor's disapproval of the zone postal system for second-class matter and "petitioned congress to annul this obnoxious legislation enacted under the pretense of a war revenue measure."

Investigation of the entire postal service and rates, former rates to be established meanwhile, was asked.

President Gompers' salary was raised from $7500 to $10,000 a year over his protest.

Secretary Morrison's salary was increased to $7500 a year from $5000.

The convention was to have closed today, but because of the large number of resolutions still unacted upon was extended into next week.

Radicals Not Wanted. The convention today showed its desire to discipline unions and central organizations "which display extremely radical tendencies," one resolution providing for the cancellation of the charter of any union which "inculcates, advances or encourages" any plan to bring about a change in the organization of the American Federation of Labor or the international bodies.

James Duncan of Seattle, the only delegate to vote against the re-election of Mr. Gompers, said he realized the resolution was directed at Seattle, adding he thought it should be defeated, because it "would destroy democracy within organized labor itself." He threatened that various affiliated organizations "would leave the organization" if they could not have what he called "democratic conditions."

The resolution was referred back to the committee for minor changes.

PIONEER LOCATES MARKER

W. D. Stillwell, Tillamook, Survivor of Battle of 1856.

TACOMA, Wash., June 21.—(Special.)—W. D. Stillwell of Tillamook, Or., 94 years of age, a veteran of the Cayuse Indian war of 1848 and of the Indian war of 1855-56, arrived in Tacoma from Portland today to accompany W. P. Bonney, secretary of the Washington State Historical society, to Yakima to locate the spot where Captain A. J. Hembree was killed in a battle with the Yakima Indians April 10, 1856.

Stillwell was a member of Hembree's company and was in the battle. This was fought near Yakima or Toppenish. He is one of the few survivors of the memorable fight. It is the purpose of the historical society to erect a marker near the highway and as near the spot where Captain Hembree fell as it conveniently can be located.

Work on Logging Road Begun.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., June 21.—(Special.)—Work on the first logging railroad which will connect with the new Strahorn railroad has been started by the Ackley brothers and will extend from the Strahorn road, a short distance this side of Dairy, into the Swan lake section, where the firm has valuable timber holdings. For the past few years Ackley brothers, which is the oldest sawmill concern in Klamath county, has been taking logs from the Keno section, 12 miles south of this city and bringing them up the Klamath river, but the Strahorn road will make possible carrying of the Swan lake logs in by rail. The mill may be operated here all next winter.

TRAP SET FOR VILLA BAND

MEXICAN FEDERAL FORCES TO SURROUND BANDIT.

Yaqui Indians Take Part in Movement Which Seeks to Corner Outlaws.

EL PASO, Texas, June 21.—A plan of campaign by Mexican federal forces against Francisco Villa's revolutionary forces was revealed here tonight involving the movement of a body of men under General Manuel Dieguez north from Chihuahua City toward Villa Ahumada, 80 miles south of Juarez, and the movement of more than 1000 Yaqui federal troops over the mountains from Sonora to Chihuahua. Villa, at last accounts, had left Villa Ahumada and was moving westward. A train left here tonight with a quantity of gasoline and other supplies for the fleet of motor trucks with which General Dieguez is operating under orders to push as far south as the railroad was passable. General Dieguez was expected to march northward to meet this train, afterward turning westward in pursuit of Villa. Between his force and the force of Yaquis sent from Sonora by General Calles, it was hoped to catch the revolutionary forces. Under this plan, both the federal force will have a railroad at their backs to serve as a line of communication for at least a great part of the distance from their bases.

Clothes that are Welcomed in the best Society

DISTINGUISHED in appearance—worthy in fabric and pre-eminent in every detail of workmanship—the clothes I sell to men are such that inspire ease and self-possession.

It is my aim, too, that every garment that is chosen here shall be suited to the wearer in texture, color, pattern and style. That every garment shall give service fully commensurate with its cost is a point upon which I am insistent, therefore I put my label on each one; it is both an identification mark of good clothes and an insurance policy that guarantees clothes satisfaction. Men are invited to come to my store and select from the best ready-for-service clothes produced anywhere. I show suits from $25.00 to $60.00. I know that they are good suits and I believe that they are fairly priced.

to supply the large demand for baby chickens in this vicinity. So far this season close to 225,000 chickens have been shipped in to chicken raisers in and around Winlock. Most of these came from California hatcheries.

Mr. Nordling has a flock of 2300 hens and says he can produce enough eggs for hatching to take care of next year's local demand for baby chicks, which he estimates will be 300,000.

Lebanon Woman Passes. LEBANON, Or., June 21.—(Special.)—Mrs. George H. Hoerr, wife of George H. Hoerr, a prominent sawmill operator of this county, died this morning at the age of about 50 years. Mrs. Hoerr was born in Manitowish, Minn., and came to Lebanon about 10 years ago, where she had since made her home. She is survived by her husband and four children: Carl Hoerr of Manitowish, Minn.; Misses Ruth and Arline Hoerr, and George P. Hoerr of Lebanon.

Tardy Plane Stops in Lane.

COTTAGE GROVE, Or., June 21.—(Special.)—The fifth of the Curtis biplanes which visited the recent rose festival stopped here yesterday for gas and oil. Lieutenant Frank D. Hackett was the pilot. He had been delayed at Albany since Saturday on account of engine trouble. The trip here from Albany was made in 45 minutes.
