

STATE TENNIS MATCH TO OPEN ON JULY 14

Walter A. Goss to Defend Championship of 1918.

NEER IS 1919 SENSATION

Enthusiasts Wonder Whether Oregon Player Will Keep Outside Stars From Capturing Events.

Whether Oregon tennis players deem themselves at this year's state championship tournament to be held on the courts of the Laurelhurst club starting next Monday, July 14, is the question that is occupying the minds of followers of the tennis game. Last year's winners from California and Seattle were more than their share, but this year if they are entered they may not find winning as easy.

Portland's best tennis players are in exceptionally good form this season, excepting perhaps in one or two cases and many brilliant matches are in store for those who will attend this year's championship finals and preliminary matches at the Laurelhurst club.

Goss to Defend Title.
The men's singles always attract the most attention in a championship tournament. Walter A. Goss, winner of the title last year, will be on hand to defend his crown but will have a battle on his hands with California's Phil Neer, and others of fast caliber entered in the lists.

The sensation in 1919 tennis circles here has been the amazing game of Phil Neer, who began to win titles when a freshman at Washington high school, when he and his brother first sprang into the limelight. From winning intercollegiate championships Neer stepped to the boys and then the junior crown.

Neer repeated this year by winning the Portland junior center championships and will represent Oregon in the Northwest junior tournament and the state championship event. On the strength of his showing in the Irvington club annual spring handicap tournament recently completed, in which he won the men's singles, and the men's doubles with Walter Goss, Neer is being hoisted as a possibility with the men's championship of Oregon this year. His work on the courts this year at Stanford University and at home has been little short of phenomenal.

Neer will be called to go through a grueling week of play both in the Northwest junior tournament and the state championship event. On the strength of his showing in the Irvington club annual spring handicap tournament recently completed, in which he won the men's singles, and the men's doubles with Walter Goss, Neer is being hoisted as a possibility with the men's championship of Oregon this year. His work on the courts this year at Stanford University and at home has been little short of phenomenal.

Castlin Wolford, winner of the title in 1917, will be a strong contender. Last year Wolford did not play as he was in the navy. Wolford has been playing up to form this year and will figure prominently. Walter A. Goss, veteran Portland racketeer, who has won the state championship three times, will try to repeat and can always be depended upon to put up a great game.

Miss Ford's Playing Excels.
Among the Portland women players who will battle for the women's singles championship will be Miss Stella Ford. Mrs. W. L. Northup, Miss Irene Campbell, Miss Miriam Sinclair, Miss Adele Jones, Miss Mildred Wilson, and Miss Marion Glynn. Miss Ford is in excellent condition and her tennis playing so far this season has been better than her work of any other year. She places her in the top rank. Mrs. W. L. Northup is a formidable player and hard to beat.

Little hope is available on the doubles as the entries have not yet piled up enough in those events to pick the best teams. Entries from California and Washington will begin to come in to Leonard C. Wilson, chairman of the tennis committee at Laurelhurst club, this week.

M. A. C. to Enter 20 Players.
The Northwest boys and junior center championships, which will be staged at the same time as the state play, will be a representative event with the championship winners entered from all over the Northwest. The tournament was originally scheduled to be held at Spokane but the Spokane Tennis club was unable to handle the event this year.

The Multnomah Amateur Athletic club will have about 20 players entered in the state championships while Laurelhurst club and Irvington club will also be well represented.

IS LUCK FACTOR IN GOLF?

FAMILIAR NAMES FIGURE AT TOP OF COMPETITION.

Greatest Players Have Their Off Days, Despite Their Ability and Previous Records.

Opinions differ as to the amount of luck that enters into tournament golf, but it is remarkable how consistently and persistently familiar names figure at the top in competitions year in and year out.

That, in itself, would seem to indicate that luck, after all, plays a minor part. One man, however, who has won a house after a match play round and remarks that he had hard luck against his opponent; maybe it was a bad hole that cost him one hole and his undoing started from that point.

At any rate, he feels inwardly that such was the case, and that he had been blessed with a good lie at that one hole and won it instead of losing it, the whole trend of the match would have been altered.

One would imagine from following the mental processes of the golfer, so bemoaning his hard luck that the other fellow had nothing but plain sailing all the way around.

Nevertheless, it is a matter of common sense to realize that the greatest golfers in the world have their bits of bad luck, the difference between them and the second raters being that the latter experts realize that no match is settled by the results of one hole and that the man who accepts a bit of hard luck philosophically and takes pains to lose as little as possible through it is the man who in the long run will come out ahead.

Capitol Hill Wins Contest.
Capitol Hill added another win to their string of four straight victories July 4 at Capitol Hill, when they defeated the Hesse-Martin Machine Works, 7 to 4. The game was a close affair up to the fifth inning, with the score 1 to 0 in favor of Hesse-Martin. Van Blaricum pitched for Capitol Hill, with Green on the receiving end. Moe and T. Smith worked for Hesse-Martin. Games can be arranged with the Capitol Hill team through the Spalding sporting agency.
