

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

City Editor... Main 7970, A 6093... Advertising Department... Main 7970, A 5955... Superintendent of Building... Main 7970, A 6085

OREGONIAN AT RESORTS

Subscribers with the following agents at resorts... F. C. Robinson... F. D. Mitchell... C. B. Smith... M. C. McMillan... W. E. Strubhal... F. A. Angell... H. J. Brown... Emma E. Campbell... Frank Miller... A. J. Gillette... Mrs. N. E. Martin... George W. Lamer... R. H. Combs

AMUSEMENTS

ALCAZAR (Evenings at Morrison)—Alcazar Musical Party... Good 9:30... PANTAGES (Broadway at Alder)—Yacht... Hippodrome (Broadway at Yamhill)—Vaudeville and musical... STRAND (Washington street, between Park and West Park)—Vaudeville and musical... LYRIC (Fourth and Stark)—Lyric company... COUNCIL CREST—Free amusement park... THE OAKS amusement park... COLUMBIAN BEACH (Vanover care)—Swimming, dancing, amusements... THRIFT STAMPS and WAR SAVINGS STAMPS... LECTURE COURSES ANNOUNCED—Two instructive lecture courses of the university...

LABOR TROUBLES MUST NOT GO TO BOLSHEVISM, SAYS HOWE

Demands of Workmen Must Be Met Firmly if They Exceed Reason or America Will Follow Russia into Depths of Chaos.

BY E. W. HOWE.

In E. W. Howe's Monthly, GENTLEMAN who has lately returned from Russia says the vast majority of the better classes there will not raise a finger to save their country. The one idea uppermost in their minds is simply to escape from the bolshevik, but there is no idea of turning back to fight them; when they have escaped, they appeal to the allies, to anybody and everybody, to come and fight for them, but will not make the slightest sacrifice or effort to do so themselves.

A wrong idea is in control in Russia, but those who oppose it, the majority, do nothing. We have the same situation in the United States. We of the middle class, the majority, do not accept what is being done by the mistaken and very dangerous minority, but only grumble to our wives and children, and to an occasional neighbor pledged to secrecy. The English are at the Moore, as usual, as the Russians or the Americans. Charles Edward Russell, a noted authority on union labor, and unofficial member of the board of directors, says of the situation in England: "There is no disposition on the part of British employers to fight the demands to finish. They object in a rather plaintive way that if the men get what they want they will ruin the industry and some, in private, see large patches of black ruin on the national horizon, but I could never find the least disposition to go to the mat with labor. Many of the employers—especially with regard to home professions—welcome their employees to this 'voice in the management' that is so much advocated. As a rule the attitude is conciliatory. Even in the minority, the employers were expected to declare a finished fight, their representatives proposed what seemed to many persons an astonishing concession. They suggested a seven-hour day (instead of an eight) and an increase of 25 cents in pay for that."

LABOR DEMANDS INCREASE

Further illuminating the situation in England, Mr. Russell says: "Instead of labor accepting anything less than it has now it is going on to demand more and more. It is getting it. Already in Great Britain there is a definite movement on for a six-hour working day instead of eight; some workers are demanding five hours. The object is raised that with such wage scales it will be impossible for manufacturers to continue the enterprise. There appears a general disposition to answer the labor demands. The object cannot carry on the work upon such terms, then let the proprietors retire and leave the enterprise to the employees." John Graham Brooks, of Cambridge, an advanced professor, said lately: "The day is coming when labor will have control of business. We can see it approaching, slowly but surely. In the strikes that are going on and which will go on indefinitely, the question of wages has sunk into the background and the strikers are demanding an interest in the business." There is no doubt of the programme either in England or in Russia. It is the programme that has been tried and failed so disastrously in Russia. And this programme, if carried out, will ruin us as it ruined Russia. The original principles of union labor did not contemplate taking the factories, the railroads, the farms and the banks from their owners. This is what the leaders are aiming at now; it is folly to deny it. Thousands of the best members of labor unions are in general practice. The great bulk of working men know they will be promoted to foremen; from foremen to superintendents, general managers or employers, and the same good plan must not be abandoned.

FIGHT TO FINISH RECOMMENDED

We must fight to a finish; even if we are able to adopt common sense now, we shall be able to do so later. Bad debts and bad principles have piled up until they are a menace greater than ever before been called upon to face. I don't care what Sam Gompers may say; he is the head and front of the present great offensive against us. The Gompers philosophy is wrong; it threatens everybody, the union labor man as well as the rest of us, and the longer the delay fight the more to the tail, the greater the odds will be against us. Everybody knows the present unreasonableness of the strikers will become unbearable; we must fight. And when I say we must fight, I mean no more than that we must fight not to wrong any man or class of men, but for justice, law, common sense, decency, civilization and country. Arbitration has failed; moral suasion has failed; we must fight to a finish. We start, millions of the better class of union men will enlist under the banners of moderation and common sense. I am a labor union man. When was a journeyman, I belonged to the union; when I was an employer, I willingly employed union men only; was never a "rat" in my life. But labor leaders have adopted ideas that won't work, and we must vigorously oppose them, or perish as a nation. The common sense of mankind has always backed the programme the leaders are trying to put into effect. Select a dozen citizens of the world of different practical experience and ten of them have backed this programme; the other two have been suspicious. The world has more to do today than ever before in its history, but instead of doing more work, millions of men are doing less and demanding more pay in spite of our virtual bankruptcy. Everybody knows the real foe we must come to grips with is union labor.

EUROPEAN CONDITIONS VIEWED

Do you realize what the actual situation is today? Frank Vanderlip, one of the leading men of this decade, without a doubt, recently said: "I was in Europe from the first of February to the ninth of May. I spent some time in England first; then I went to France, to Switzerland, to Italy, to Spain, back to Paris again; then to Belgium and Holland and back to London. It is a fair statement to say that I saw the leading men in these countries and that every finance minister, I met many of the prime ministers. I met the leading financiers and bankers, great employers of labor, labor leaders, and I have to tell you I am not just an opinion of the blue sky. It is a reflection, perhaps a composite of the opinions of the first minds of Europe. If it were not, I would not have told you some of the things I am going to tell you. I want to say right at the beginning that however black a background I paint—and it will be dark—I would not paint it. I would not tell the story, except that I believe America must know it. Most completely it must get into heart and mind, because we must act; and if we do act, we can save Europe from a catastrophe, a catastrophe that will involve us. That is why I feel moved to tell something of the conditions that I saw over there, something of some of the consequences that may flow from those conditions. I believe it is possible that there may be lost in Europe forces that will be more effective than the forces that have been the forces of the great war. I believe we can probably save the situation from anything as fearful as that. I don't believe it, I would hesitate to say what I shall about condition, if I were to try to put into words what I sum up as the most essential thing to grasp about the situation in Europe, the two words would be 'paralyzed industry.' Idleness is incomprehensible. There is an idleness, there is a lack of production throughout Europe, and indeed in England, that you can hardly comprehend. There is a difficulty about a resumption of work on ordinary peace affairs that I think nobody could be made to comprehend that did not see it on the ground. Of course, there is a great scar across Europe where there has been devastation. I hardly need to speak of that. You have been told that story. But after all that is only a scar across northern France and Belgium, destroying a considerable part of the industries of those two countries; it is not the scar that devastated district that I speak of. It is the idleness all through the countries, the idleness that has been war has been laid upon industry. Why should a factory be idled by the war, in the midst of a continent wanting for food? Why should it be idled? Why should there be 1,000,000 people in England receiving an unemployment weekly dole? Why should there be in little more than 10,000,000 people receiving a weekly unemployment dole? Let me try to give you a picture of the difficulties that a manufacturer is under in Europe today in an attempt to start his factory. He is in a predicament. The manufacturer is facing a wage situation two or three times that the wages were in pre-war days. I was in Spain, Spain has been unwarmed by the war, but she never prospered before, and but for a terrible cancer in her she would be the most thriving place in Europe. That cancer is labor. Labor situation. There was presented at Barcelona a perfect a laboratory of Bolshevism as you ever saw, an organization that was the most mysterious, the most terrifying, of any organization that I ever encountered. It takes in the whole laboring population of the country, to the extent that the members themselves do not know who guides it. It calls general strikes merely for gymnastic exercises.

RULE IS BY ASSASSINATION

"It rules by assassination. In the time I was there 72 employers and foremen had within a few weeks been assassinated. Not one conviction. No witnesses would testify for the prosecution. It terrified the papers. They had told the papers: 'You can not publish anything that we do not censor.' They had a paper for publication, an official order of the government, fined it 5000 pesetas, and told the publishers they would destroy their presses if they did not obey. They did not pay the censorship became so absurd that every paper stopped publication. There was a minority in every country in Europe, a minority that believes in a programme for the upsetting of social order. In England employers estimated that that minority was 10 or 15 per cent of the population. It believes the whole theory of property rights should be abandoned, that we should go into a communistic state of society. Mr. Vanderlip outlines other causes of the present fearful conditions. He says the real cancer is the labor situation in the countries of Central Europe and in transportation in Central Europe was so serious that there was bound to be starvation of hundreds of millions of people simply because the food could not get to them. In emergency the millions of people in Europe could at least go on the land, and produce their own food; but machinery and work animals were not available; and instead of that they are demanding more food, more luxuries, and more money. The labor situation in spite of public bankruptcy everywhere, to meet these demands; England is undertaking to build a million houses, and the labor situation is making the grumblers may be met.

SITUATION GRADUALLY SPREADS

The situation abroad is gradually being duplicated here; you know it, and I know it. God is doing nothing for us; we must do something for ourselves. "The bear has long been looking for us, and finally he has found us. We can't outrun him; we can't put salt on his tail. We must fight to a finish; hereafter bear or man will rule." There is no doubt of the programme agreed upon by the disturbers in the United States. A mass meeting was lately held in Madison Square garden, in New York city, and 10,000 attended. The speakers were: Sam Gompers, president Wilson's appointee; by one of the editors of The Nation, the most notable of our reviews; by a socialist preacher; by a well-known progressive politician, etc.; the same old new thought crowd. All the speakers indorsed the Russian revolution. One man (President Wilson's appointee) said: "The new world has come, and the capitalists and all the other accursed things of the past must be swept away. The onrushing flood of freeing, cleansing ideas which are refreshing the hearts and minds of men, and which are making the face of the earth a greener, sweeter, lovelier place to look upon." "This means, of course, that the methods which have made Russia a greener, sweeter, lovelier place to look upon are to be adopted in the United States. President Wilson himself wrote, in one of his famous literary masterpieces (January, 1918): 'We assure her (Russia) of a sincere welcome into the society of free nations under institutions of her own choosing; and more than a welcome—assistance also of every kind that she herself may desire.' Still later, in January of this year, the president again took up his famous pen, and wrote: 'They (the associated powers) recognize the Russian revolution as a revolutionary and will in no way and in no circumstances aid or give countenance to any attempt at a counter revolution.' Another speaker praised Lenin and Trotsky, and said that the Russian revolution marks the one and only beneficial result of the world war. The speakers particularly emphasized the fact that the Russian revolution is economic; that it demands a division of things. One of them likened the Russian revolution to the French revolution. 'It didn't destroy the king alone,' he said; 'it was economic. The French peasants also took the land, and distributed it among themselves. They confiscated it.' The objection to the Bolsheviki plan is that it is not a good plan. It is not and endures; people have never accepted it. France soon changed, and adopted the system under which we now live—under which all civilized people live. These men are mistaken; they are advocating a fallacy. The objection to

LABOR TROUBLES MUST NOT GO TO BOLSHEVISM, SAYS HOWE

Demands of Workmen Must Be Met Firmly if They Exceed Reason or America Will Follow Russia into Depths of Chaos.

BY E. W. HOWE.

In E. W. Howe's Monthly, GENTLEMAN who has lately returned from Russia says the vast majority of the better classes there will not raise a finger to save their country. The one idea uppermost in their minds is simply to escape from the bolshevik, but there is no idea of turning back to fight them; when they have escaped, they appeal to the allies, to anybody and everybody, to come and fight for them, but will not make the slightest sacrifice or effort to do so themselves.

A wrong idea is in control in Russia, but those who oppose it, the majority, do nothing. We have the same situation in the United States. We of the middle class, the majority, do not accept what is being done by the mistaken and very dangerous minority, but only grumble to our wives and children, and to an occasional neighbor pledged to secrecy. The English are at the Moore, as usual, as the Russians or the Americans. Charles Edward Russell, a noted authority on union labor, and unofficial member of the board of directors, says of the situation in England: "There is no disposition on the part of British employers to fight the demands to finish. They object in a rather plaintive way that if the men get what they want they will ruin the industry and some, in private, see large patches of black ruin on the national horizon, but I could never find the least disposition to go to the mat with labor. Many of the employers—especially with regard to home professions—welcome their employees to this 'voice in the management' that is so much advocated. As a rule the attitude is conciliatory. Even in the minority, the employers were expected to declare a finished fight, their representatives proposed what seemed to many persons an astonishing concession. They suggested a seven-hour day (instead of an eight) and an increase of 25 cents in pay for that."

LABOR DEMANDS INCREASE

Further illuminating the situation in England, Mr. Russell says: "Instead of labor accepting anything less than it has now it is going on to demand more and more. It is getting it. Already in Great Britain there is a definite movement on for a six-hour working day instead of eight; some workers are demanding five hours. The object is raised that with such wage scales it will be impossible for manufacturers to continue the enterprise. There appears a general disposition to answer the labor demands. The object cannot carry on the work upon such terms, then let the proprietors retire and leave the enterprise to the employees." John Graham Brooks, of Cambridge, an advanced professor, said lately: "The day is coming when labor will have control of business. We can see it approaching, slowly but surely. In the strikes that are going on and which will go on indefinitely, the question of wages has sunk into the background and the strikers are demanding an interest in the business." There is no doubt of the programme either in England or in Russia. It is the programme that has been tried and failed so disastrously in Russia. And this programme, if carried out, will ruin us as it ruined Russia. The original principles of union labor did not contemplate taking the factories, the railroads, the farms and the banks from their owners. This is what the leaders are aiming at now; it is folly to deny it. Thousands of the best members of labor unions are in general practice. The great bulk of working men know they will be promoted to foremen; from foremen to superintendents, general managers or employers, and the same good plan must not be abandoned.

FIGHT TO FINISH RECOMMENDED

We must fight to a finish; even if we are able to adopt common sense now, we shall be able to do so later. Bad debts and bad principles have piled up until they are a menace greater than ever before been called upon to face. I don't care what Sam Gompers may say; he is the head and front of the present great offensive against us. The Gompers philosophy is wrong; it threatens everybody, the union labor man as well as the rest of us, and the longer the delay fight the more to the tail, the greater the odds will be against us. Everybody knows the present unreasonableness of the strikers will become unbearable; we must fight. And when I say we must fight, I mean no more than that we must fight not to wrong any man or class of men, but for justice, law, common sense, decency, civilization and country. Arbitration has failed; moral suasion has failed; we must fight to a finish. We start, millions of the better class of union men will enlist under the banners of moderation and common sense. I am a labor union man. When was a journeyman, I belonged to the union; when I was an employer, I willingly employed union men only; was never a "rat" in my life. But labor leaders have adopted ideas that won't work, and we must vigorously oppose them, or perish as a nation. The common sense of mankind has always backed the programme the leaders are trying to put into effect. Select a dozen citizens of the world of different practical experience and ten of them have backed this programme; the other two have been suspicious. The world has more to do today than ever before in its history, but instead of doing more work, millions of men are doing less and demanding more pay in spite of our virtual bankruptcy. Everybody knows the real foe we must come to grips with is union labor.

EUROPEAN CONDITIONS VIEWED

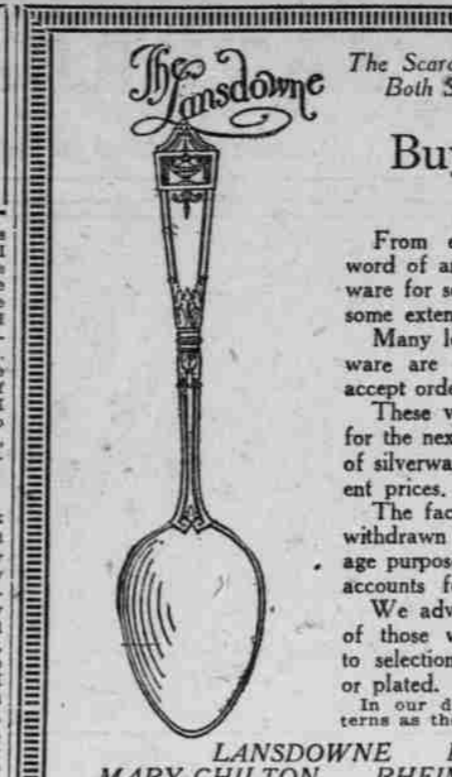

Do you realize what the actual situation is today? Frank Vanderlip, one of the leading men of this decade, without a doubt, recently said: "I was in Europe from the first of February to the ninth of May. I spent some time in England first; then I went to France, to Switzerland, to Italy, to Spain, back to Paris again; then to Belgium and Holland and back to London. It is a fair statement to say that I saw the leading men in these countries and that every finance minister, I met many of the prime ministers. I met the leading financiers and bankers, great employers of labor, labor leaders, and I have to tell you I am not just an opinion of the blue sky. It is a reflection, perhaps a composite of the opinions of the first minds of Europe. If it were not, I would not have told you some of the things I am going to tell you. I want to say right at the beginning that however black a background I paint—and it will be dark—I would not paint it. I would not tell the story, except that I believe America must know it. Most completely it must get into heart and mind, because we must act; and if we do act, we can save Europe from a catastrophe, a catastrophe that will involve us. That is why I feel moved to tell something of the conditions that I saw over there, something of some of the consequences that may flow from those conditions. I believe it is possible that there may be lost in Europe forces that will be more effective than the forces that have been the forces of the great war. I believe we can probably save the situation from anything as fearful as that. I don't believe it, I would hesitate to say what I shall about condition, if I were to try to put into words what I sum up as the most essential thing to grasp about the situation in Europe, the two words would be 'paralyzed industry.' Idleness is incomprehensible. There is an idleness, there is a lack of production throughout Europe, and indeed in England, that you can hardly comprehend. There is a difficulty about a resumption of work on ordinary peace affairs that I think nobody could be made to comprehend that did not see it on the ground. Of course, there is a great scar across Europe where there has been devastation. I hardly need to speak of that. You have been told that story. But after all that is only a scar across northern France and Belgium, destroying a considerable part of the industries of those two countries; it is not the scar that devastated district that I speak of. It is the idleness all through the countries, the idleness that has been war has been laid upon industry. Why should a factory be idled by the war, in the midst of a continent wanting for food? Why should it be idled? Why should there be 1,000,000 people in England receiving an unemployment weekly dole? Why should there be in little more than 10,000,000 people receiving a weekly unemployment dole? Let me try to give you a picture of the difficulties that a manufacturer is under in Europe today in an attempt to start his factory. He is in a predicament. The manufacturer is facing a wage situation two or three times that the wages were in pre-war days. I was in Spain, Spain has been unwarmed by the war, but she never prospered before, and but for a terrible cancer in her she would be the most thriving place in Europe. That cancer is labor. Labor situation. There was presented at Barcelona a perfect a laboratory of Bolshevism as you ever saw, an organization that was the most mysterious, the most terrifying, of any organization that I ever encountered. It takes in the whole laboring population of the country, to the extent that the members themselves do not know who guides it. It calls general strikes merely for gymnastic exercises.

RULE IS BY ASSASSINATION

"It rules by assassination. In the time I was there 72 employers and foremen had within a few weeks been assassinated. Not one conviction. No witnesses would testify for the prosecution. It terrified the papers. They had told the papers: 'You can not publish anything that we do not censor.' They had a paper for publication, an official order of the government, fined it 5000 pesetas, and told the publishers they would destroy their presses if they did not obey. They did not pay the censorship became so absurd that every paper stopped publication. There was a minority in every country in Europe, a minority that believes in a programme for the upsetting of social order. In England employers estimated that that minority was 10 or 15 per cent of the population. It believes the whole theory of property rights should be abandoned, that we should go into a communistic state of society. Mr. Vanderlip outlines other causes of the present fearful conditions. He says the real cancer is the labor situation in the countries of Central Europe and in transportation in Central Europe was so serious that there was bound to be starvation of hundreds of millions of people simply because the food could not get to them. In emergency the millions of people in Europe could at least go on the land, and produce their own food; but machinery and work animals were not available; and instead of that they are demanding more food, more luxuries, and more money. The labor situation in spite of public bankruptcy everywhere, to meet these demands; England is undertaking to build a million houses, and the labor situation is making the grumblers may be met.

SITUATION GRADUALLY SPREADS

The situation abroad is gradually being duplicated here; you know it, and I know it. God is doing nothing for us; we must do something for ourselves. "The bear has long been looking for us, and finally he has found us. We can't outrun him; we can't put salt on his tail. We must fight to a finish; hereafter bear or man will rule." There is no doubt of the programme agreed upon by the disturbers in the United States. A mass meeting was lately held in Madison Square garden, in New York city, and 10,000 attended. The speakers were: Sam Gompers, president Wilson's appointee; by one of the editors of The Nation, the most notable of our reviews; by a socialist preacher; by a well-known progressive politician, etc.; the same old new thought crowd. All the speakers indorsed the Russian revolution. One man (President Wilson's appointee) said: "The new world has come, and the capitalists and all the other accursed things of the past must be swept away. The onrushing flood of freeing, cleansing ideas which are refreshing the hearts and minds of men, and which are making the face of the earth a greener, sweeter, lovelier place to look upon." "This means, of course, that the methods which have made Russia a greener, sweeter, lovelier place to look upon are to be adopted in the United States. President Wilson himself wrote, in one of his famous literary masterpieces (January, 1918): 'We assure her (Russia) of a sincere welcome into the society of free nations under institutions of her own choosing; and more than a welcome—assistance also of every kind that she herself may desire.' Still later, in January of this year, the president again took up his famous pen, and wrote: 'They (the associated powers) recognize the Russian revolution as a revolutionary and will in no way and in no circumstances aid or give countenance to any attempt at a counter revolution.' Another speaker praised Lenin and Trotsky, and said that the Russian revolution marks the one and only beneficial result of the world war. The speakers particularly emphasized the fact that the Russian revolution is economic; that it demands a division of things. One of them likened the Russian revolution to the French revolution. 'It didn't destroy the king alone,' he said; 'it was economic. The French peasants also took the land, and distributed it among themselves. They confiscated it.' The objection to the Bolsheviki plan is that it is not a good plan. It is not and endures; people have never accepted it. France soon changed, and adopted the system under which we now live—under which all civilized people live. These men are mistaken; they are advocating a fallacy. The objection to

The Scarcity of High-Class Silverware, Both Sterling and Plated, Should Prompt Many to Buy Silverware Now

From every authentic source comes word of an impending shortage of silverware for some time to come. In fact, to some extent, a shortage already exists. Many leading manufacturers of silverware are even at this time refusing to accept orders. These very manufacturers predict that for the next seven years at least the price of silverware will not be lower than present prices. The fact that so much silver has been withdrawn from commercial use for coinage purposes by the nations of the world accounts for this condition. We advise early selection on the part of those who are giving some thought to selection of silverware, be it sterling or plated. In our displays are such favored patterns as the

LANSDOWNE LADY MARY MARY CHITON MARY YELTON LAFAYETTE CARMEL FAIRFAX and the best patterns in the better grades of silver-plated ware.

See the Newest Idea in Diamond Solitaires, The Platinum Star Setting. In this new mounting, diamonds are greatly increased in size and luster, giving the impression of a larger stone and yet at considerably lower cost to the purchaser. See these new styles. Attractive prices as equally as interesting.

JAEGER BROS. Jewelers—Silversmiths 131-133 SIXTH STREET, Oregonian Building

An Excellent Display of Exquisite French Pearls of the very richest hue and most perfectly made. Wide range of prices, and most reasonable—$7.50 up to $225

New Sunsticks The smartest and most novel creations we've seen in many a day. Nobby handles and fancy silk covers in vogue with the season. Attractive prices as equally as interesting.

OUR SPECIAL NEW DIAMOND is Portland's most popular diamond value.

FIRE-WALL CABINETS

"Built like a Safe" Like a safe, they are lined with asbestos. That's what Fire-Wall construction is—double steel walls, double air chambers, asbestos. Asbestos construction is vital in combating the effect of heat on steel. You will be surprised how little it costs for Fire-Wall protection.

JAEGERS Office Furniture Stationery Printing Co. Fifth and Oak Sts., Portland, Oregon.

Desks -- Chairs Filing Cabinets

The product of the Nation's leading manufacturers of Office Furniture is represented in our showroom. Art Metal Construction Co. Steel Filing Cabinets and Safes. Yawman & Erbe Mfg. Co. Wood Filing Cabinets. Standard Furniture Co. Desks and Tables. Marble & Shattuck Co. Office Chairs. Durand Steel Locker Co. Steel Lockers and Shelving. Ask for Catalogue.

NEW WORLD LIFE

DOUBLE PROTECTION The NEW WORLD LIFE has nearly $2.00 in assets to every $1.00 due policyholders. One of the LARGEST capitalized life insurance companies in America. Insurance in force, $21,500,000.00. Portland Office, Stevens Bldg.

WANTED

Three-quarter-inch 6-19 second-hand cable. Any quantity, either plow or crucible steel. WALTER SCHMIDT 3829 25th St. San Francisco, California

LEOPOLD DESKS

Our complete line of office furniture offers you any grade of desk or filing cabinet to fit your purse. We always have a few good slightly used pieces. PACIFIC STATIONERY & PRINTING CO. 107 SECOND ST. AT YOUR SERVICE.

IRWIN-HODSON

Commercial Stationers 387 Washington Street, Pittsford Block

Said F. W. Bales

the well-known printer: "When I started the printing business in Portland 20 years ago, I put in a gas engine and paid $2.50 a 1000 feet but even at that, I found it the most economical fuel to use." Today, thanks to the progressiveness of the Portland Gas & Coke Co., he is getting a rate of 50c a 1000 and smiles all over when he tells about it. Gas in the industrial enterprises helped win the war. Is it helping you in making a success of your business? If not, let an expert advise you. Call Main 6500.

AT $10.75

BULK DELIVERY ROSLYN, CASCADE AND UTAH COAL

Recommended as Cheaper Than Other Fuel for Use in Furnace or Stove. EDLIFSEN FUEL CO. Broadway 79

Helps Your Day's Work

The interlocking principle of GF Allsteel Office Furniture enables the auditor, executive, manager, architect, attorney or any business man or professional class to select from stock the filing device required for individual papers, needs or systems. Self selected GF U-cases with Wyndolite provide convenience, the orderly housing of valuable papers, and security against fire and rodents at low cost.

GF Allsteel Office Furniture

For Big Businesses and Little Card indexes, filing systems, misc. shelving, etc. Impressive appearance, three finishes, Green, Oak and Mahogany. Investigate its every feature, its security, beauty, economy and efficiency.

KIRK'S MILITARY SHOP

3d and Stark, Portland, Or. A Full Line of Big Values at Low Prices. SEND FOR CATALOGUE

PORTLAND PENTECOSTAL ASSEMBLY HALL

143 1/2 First St. Special services will be held at 143 1/2 First St. by Evangelist L. C. Hall, at 7:45 every evening. Come and hear important gospel truths taught from God's word. Seats free, no collection. All other services at the Pentecostal Assembly, East Broadway—Advt.

NERVE BLOCKING ENABLES US TO FILL

crowns, extract teeth and successfully treat pyorrhea, abscesses, etc. Reasonable, consultation free and evenings by appointment. Drs. Hartley, Klensdahl & Marshall, Journal Bldg.—Advt.

ARTILLERY AUXILIARIES TO MEET

The auxiliary to batteries A and B, 147th field artillery, will meet in the gray parlors of the Maitland hotel tomorrow evening. As a selection of officers will be held all members are requested to be present.

NOTICE TO OWNERS

Owners of dogs found without license tags after this date will be arrested without further notification. City will be thoroughly canvassed by all officers on humane society poundmaster.—Advt.

MILK CURE FOR STOMACH DISEASES

Gastro intestinal ulcers and the lesser ills of the stomach and bowels yield to the milk cure treatment with surprising rapidity. The Moore Sanitarium, phone East 47, Office 305 Sealing building, Main 6191.—Advt.

POLICE ASKED TO SEARCH FOR MAK-

Police were asked yesterday to search for Walter Chatham, 25, who was last heard of in Seattle, Wash., 11 years ago. His sister, whose home is in Spokane, reported the case.

MRS. MELVA MERRILL, with Miss Emma Tremble, both of the House of Truth, San Francisco, will speak at the Hotel Portland assembly room, 5 P. M. Public invited.—Advt.

VACATIONS ARE FOR PLEASURE AND

health improvement, but it is just as well to take a few days' vacation and health policy before you go. Society & Co., 817 B. of T. Bldg. Main 686.—Advt.

FAMILY 2 wants to lease close-in-modern house or bungalow, with kitchen, extra special features, and kid leather pumps, $1.50, downtown depot, Knight Shoe Co., Morrison and Broadway.—Advt.

PERFECTION PAPER BOARD or Beaver board for walls and ceilings. Timms-Cress & Co., 154 Second Street.—Advt.

DR. HORACE P. BELKNAP, returned from France, with 1000 prescriptions, 111 Sealing Bldg. Main 4512.—Advt.

BURGALARIES OCCUR DAILY—A safety box will protect your valuables; $1.50 yearly. Vault, 25 Oak.—Advt.

Extra special feature, and kid leather pumps, $1.50, downtown depot, Knight Shoe Co., Morrison and Broadway.—Advt.

LEARNERS COURSES ANNOUNCED

Two instructive lecture courses of the university of Oregon division summer school in Portland, with Dr. J. Duncan Spaeth of Princeton university as the lecturer, will start tomorrow and continue at the central library and hold on continuously, 11:15 to 11 P. M. The other course is one on "American and European Culture," with lectures each evening at 8 o'clock. The lectures are given at the central library and those who are not regularly enrolled summer school students may take advantage of them by paying the special registration fee.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS TO ENTERTAIN

The first of a series of public entertainments arranged by the Portland Knights of Columbus as a means of making known its facilities for giving employment service to former soldiers and sailors will be held at the organization's rooms, 234 Couch street at 8 o'clock this evening. The entertainment is in charge of Joe Little, "fiddler," who will be heard in several selections. E. L. Friedrich, basso, will sing six records of motion pictures will be shown and Thomas Mannix will give an address on "The Relation of Ireland to the Peace Conference." Similar entertainments will be presented each Wednesday and Friday night.

BRIDGE VIEW OF THE WAR

A talk based on the personal observations of George Marjion Kyle, formerly a member of the famous Lafayette Flying Corps and lieutenant in the French air service. Mr. Kyle served two years in the French air service and in one of seven left alive out of a company of 100. His impressions were formed in a fiery school and his talk will be of great interest. Under the auspices of the Portland Flying Corps, 351 Central building, 7:30 and Alder Sunday, July 13, 5 P. M. Admission free.—Advt.

KNIGHTS TO HAVE OUTING

The annual outing of the Knights of Columbus will be held August 19 at Estacada park. There will be a programme of athletic events with suitable prizes for the winners. A special entertainment will be chartered for the occasion. The committee in charge of the affair is composed of J. E. Kenefick, Leo O'Rourke, C. E. McMillan, J. L. McKenna, A. R. Cain, C. B. Bauman and J. J. Burke.

FOREST GROVE CASE SET FOR JULY 21

Final hearing of the case of the Elliott Construction Company vs. the city of Forest Grove has been set for Monday, July 21, before Judge Morrow of the circuit court. Closing arguments in the case were held at the court last week, but postponement was asked and July 21 was the date set.

MINNESOTA SOCIETY TO PICNIC

The Minnesota society will hold its annual picnic at the Oaks Thursday, July 17, beginning at 4 P. M. Luncheon will be served at 6:30 P. M. All former residents of Minnesota and their friends are invited to come and bring basket lunch and dishes.

PORTLAND PENTECOSTAL ASSEMBLY HALL

143 1/2 First St. Special services will be held at 143 1/2 First St. by Evangelist L. C. Hall, at 7:45 every evening. Come and hear important gospel truths taught from God's word. Seats free, no collection