GEARHART, July 12.—(Special.)—When the "Daddy Train" rolls into Gearhart Saturday there is great rejoicing at the station, for Gearhart claims in its summer colony many attractive children. The resort is essentially one of homes where entire families, including the dogs and the motors, come down for a prolonged stay. The wide beach is the playground of scores of youngsters from the tiny tot in his first beach season, gravely shoveling in the sand, to the boys and girls who are almost grown up. The high sand dunes make the very best kind of slides, holding all the thrills and none of the dangers of the commercial product. Fleets are launched daily at low tide when the crab holes become harbors for smartly painted craft belonging to youthful owners.

Supplied with gay buckets and shovels and various implements for making sand pastry, the children start out early in the day for an entire morning on the sand. Women of Portland's smart set find the morning on the beach with the kiddies very enjoyable. Forts are built, whole villages are made, and occasionally a bonfire in the early evening is arranged for the youngsters. On warm days the members of the very youngest set go into the surf for a dip arrayed in smart, brightly colored suits of the prevailing mode. The hard sand is also a splendid race course for kiddie kars and small automobiles and some exciting events are staged daily. Kites can be flown splendidly on the beach where there is generally a good breeze and no danger of entanglements with tree tops and telephone wires.

A steady flow of new arrivals keeps advancing the season. House parties and other festivities are beginning to take precedence over house openings and the general rush of settling for the summer.

One of the jolly house parties of the week was that of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cook, who entertained at their home on the ridge. Mr. and Mrs. Bert Fenn, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stafford and Mr. and Mrs. Rex Johnson of Seattle were their guests. The Cooks and their three children, Margaret, Betty and Cyrus, are at their cottage for the summer. They spend much of their time on the golf links and in motor trips along the coast.

The Sweet cottage was opened yesterday for the summer months. Miss Irma Hart will be the guest of Mrs. Sweet.

Miss Frances Prudhomme, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Prudhomme, entertained a number of Gearhart children with a big bonfire on the beach. The youngsters enjoyed fireworks, music and a supper. The bonfire was built by the children and the affair was quite a gala event for the very younger set.

A real out-door summer with all its attendant pleasures has appealed to many girls who are at the Y. W. C. A. camp at Gearhart. Many of the young women have spent the greater part of the year in office work and other indoor occupations and the free out-door beach life has proven a big contrast. There are many hikes to be taken, surf bathing and swimming in the natatorium, clams and crabs to be caught and added to the menu, the flora of the region has interested some, camera artists are out and every phase of life at the seacoast is claiming the attention of the girls at the jolly camp.

Miss Agnes McBride will spend part of the summer with Mrs. D. B. McBride at her cottage.

The Simon Wolfe cottage was recently opened by Mrs. Wolfe.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Talbot came down last week-end to their attractive beach cottage. They spend much of the summer at the coast and their home is a center of activity for Gearhart folk.

CALL OF COAST IS ANSWERED

Streets of Seaside Show Goodly Crowd of Pleasure Seekers.

SEASIDE, July 12.—(Special.)—The call of the seacoast has evidently reached Portland and other Oregon cities, for the streets of Seaside show a goodly crowd of pleasure seekers. No matter how many resolutions are made to remain in the city for the summer when warm days come there is a great tendency to pack a suitcase full of sports clothes and go to the beaches. The invigorating air, the exercise and the dip in the sea seem to promote healthy appetites and good sleep in the most weary visitor.

The fashion this year for gay-colored bathing suits gives the beach a carnival air at bathing time. Turquoise, yellow and green seem to be favorites, but there is a fair representation of darker blues, reds and orange. Stripes and combinations of color form a further variation. The gray sands offer a splendid background for these brightly-clad bathers. It has become a practice for surf bathers to spend some time in the natatorium as a finish to their swim.

Among the clever swimmers at Seaside are the Misses Irene and Virginia Pembroke of Portland. They are the well-known Multnomah club swimmers and their presence in the tank has been a signal for an interested gallery. They, of course, devote much time to the tank, the variety of strokes they used and ability in the water has proven interesting to many. They have been spending a fortnight at the coast.

A sand sculptor attracted the eye of beach folk last week-end. Bathers and spectators gathered close about the artist to see him work. On a broad stretch of wet sand he fashioned many clever bits of sculpture for the pleasure of the onlookers. Shapeless sand became the swimmer, a woman's head, flowers or other things under the hand of the sculptor.

A new pastime has come into being for the youngsters for several donkeys are available for rides on the beach. Occasionally a burro will stop and refuse the earnest and sometimes irate words of the small rider, which situation calls for the assistance of some of the grownups.

Motoring is coming to be more popular each year at this resort. Parties not only motor down, but there are a large number of side trips possible even in a short stay. One of the favorite trips is that to Cannon beach, to be made in a little over one hour each way. The winding road climbs through spruce-covered mountains, dips into fern-clad canyons and passes an occasional lumbering camp. Although there are wild flowers in profusion, the charm of the green spruces, and cool ferns is the big appeal of the road. The winding road offers new vistas at each turn, terminating in the open beach and its rugged rocks at Ecola and Cannon beach. On week-ends, especially, there is a steady stream of cars over the road.

Making the complete circuit of beaches, including Tillamook, Neahkah-nie and Cannon, a number of Portlanders stopped for the week-end at the Necanicum inn. They motored to the various resorts along the coast. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Albee, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Stewart, A. H. Lewis, W. F. Greer, Ellen McComb, Gertrude Lewis, Hannah Lewis, Marjory Lewis, Wallace W. Greer, Thomas Greer and Leonard K. Greer.

At the Burrell cottage, Mrs. Margaret Burrell Biddle and daughter Margaret, and Mrs. Gordon Voorhies and daughter Marion, are spending a few days. The Burrell tennis court is the center of interest for many young people, being one of the few courts at the resort.

NORTH BEND HAS GOOD ROADS

Beautiful Bear River Now Easily Accessible to Automobiles.

NORTH BEACH, Wash., July 12.—Automobile travel to various scenic spots on the peninsula is becoming increasingly popular with the completion of good roads. A number of lovely places have been made accessible recently and an organized motor service has been the result. One of the finest trips to be taken is that to Bear river. Most cottagers can remember when a saddle horse and pack pony were taken in by campers, hunters and fishermen, but now the run to the spot by motor is comparatively short. The country is heavily wooded and has a wild beauty. Bear river offers splendid trout fishing. There are numerous spots where camping grounds can be made comfortably. A feature of the country is the wealth of blackberries, tall bushes, much higher than a man, being loaded with luscious fruit late in the summer. As a starter for the camp breakfast or a dessert at the dinner hour they are splendid.

Automobile travel from Ilwaco to Nahcotta, the length of the peninsula, can be made over splendid roads, passing the life-saving station, Ocean park and other interesting places. Chinook and Fort Columbia can easily be reached in a machine and the trip to North Head lighthouse, through fine forests, is a favorite with many. The country has recently installed a barge service between Bay Center and Nahcotta, charging $3 for each car and thus giving motorists from the north an opportunity to reach the beach.

Among the well-known cottagers at Long Beach are Mrs. P. Hughes and daughters Mary and Margaret and son Chester. Mr. Hughes spent two weeks with his family.

The Doyle cottage is the summer shelter for Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Burns.

Wide-a-Wake is a comfortable cottage belonging to Mrs. J. P. Schade. She will arrive this week to spend the summer there. Mrs. Charles English and children will be with her.

Among those who are enjoying tent life are Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Van Horn of Portland, W. J. Van Horn of Fossil and Mrs. William L. Havens and sons of Topeka, Kan.

After a visit of three weeks with Mrs. E. Stewart at her cottage, Halcyon Villa, Mrs. W. L. Webster and Mrs. Joseph De Mar and daughter Dorothy returned to Portland Monday. They will spend a few days there and then go on to their homes in Chicago, Ill.

For a jolly summer outing, Milton Seaman recently arrived at his cottage in the Meadows. Mrs. Seaman has been at the beach for several days.

E. L. Smith and family of Pendleton are in their cottage at the Meadows for the summer.

Mrs. J. S. Kester of Portland is in charge of the community house of the ladies' aid society of Long Beach for the summer. The building will be the center of much entertainment, according to Mrs. Kester's plans, which include a musical programme for each week, and other festivities. The main room is equipped with piano, magazines, books, a register and is attractively decorated. There is a kitchen in the building where suppers and teas may be prepared. A large number of the women of Long Beach are active in the work of the aid society and will assist in the season's schedule.

In their cottage on the ridge Mr. and Mrs. John O'Hare and children Bessie, Alice and Francis will spend the summer. Their home is called the Point Loma.

Mr. and Mrs. Villard Kiel arrived Wednesday at the Dorothy cottage.

H. Schade and daughter are in their cottage at Long Beach.

Recent arrivals at Newtons are Mrs. Victor Wagini and daughters Amanda and Elsie and Mrs. Gregor. They will be at the beach for the summer.

Registered at the Long Beach hotel were: Henry Ray, Raymond, Wash.; Maude Simpson, Louise Hanish, L. H. Maurer, G. F. Galligly, K. E. Shaw of Portland; Gretchen Robinson, Alexandria, Ind.; S. E. Ingram, La Grande; Archie Trinno, Radford; John Kenny, Sand Island; Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Munson, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Malarkey, Sand Island; William L. Brown, Astoria; Neff L. Humbert, Amber.

Ardle cottage, a pretty little summer place fairly hidden in big honeysuckle vines, has been opened by Mr. and Mrs. Ardle O'Hanlon and their daughter, Miss Adelaide O'Hanlon.

Russell McCoy is visiting friends at the Swetland cottage at Long Beach.

Registered at North Beach inn are Mr. and Mrs. Dave Duberdorf and children, Middleton, Pa.; Mrs. R. P. Bowman, Mrs. L. A. Mansen, Mr. and Mrs. Babcock and family, Mrs. Lister Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Chadwick and family, Mr. and Mrs. L. Ward and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Pratt and daughters, Chester Williams, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Higgins and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Denson and family, Mrs. H. B. Settem and family, Lean M. Haseltine Schmeer has opened the family cottage at Ocean Park.

Harry Haseltine arrived Wednesday to open his cottage at Ocean Park. Mrs. Haseltine and daughters will join him early in the week for a stay of several weeks.

Domiciled in their pretty Seaview cottage are Mr. and Mrs. M. H. McNamara who will spend most of the summer time here.

The O'Donnell cottage will open shortly and will house Mrs. William O'Donnell and Mary, Walter and John O'Donnell.

The Sheehy cottage at Seaview will shelter Mr. and Mrs. R. Montgomery of McMinnville this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Harmon will go to Portland shortly to prepare for a year's stay in Los Angeles and other southern California cities. They are now in their Seaview bungalow.

Jerome Friedman is a week-end visitor in Seaview where his family is spending the summer.

Mrs. Jacob Schwind entertained Mrs. F. F. Boedy and grandson, John Vinze over the week-end.

Mrs. I. Lowenson has returned from Portland where she spent a few days with relatives.

Max Prag is a guest at the Prag cottage at Newton's station.

Jack Adamson was a week-end guest at the Roft cottage.

Miss Sadie McKenzie of Portland and Miss Dilla B. Biers of Dallas are sojourning at the Sunset hotel for a fortnight.

A tempting array of home-made cakes and pastry is offered weekly by the Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist church. The building formerly occupied by the Danish Royal bakery at Seaview is used for the sales which are to be held throughout the season. Cottage folk who aren't used to wood stoves for baking, find the ples, cookies and other desserts very attractive and picnickers and week-end visitors likewise enjoy them. Prominent women of the church are busy each week using their favorite recipes for pastries for the sales.

Miss Mildred and Miss Katherine Lauterdale are at the family cottage at Seaview for the summer.

Registered at the Seaview hotel are Dr. and Mrs. Sanford Whiting, Curtis Whiting, L. Thoske, L. Lister, F. A. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Povey, Lillian Povey, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. TILLAMOOK BEACHES LIVELY

Unusually Large Number of People Seen at Various Resorts.

TILLAMOOK, Or., July 12.—(Special.)—The rare occurrence of two holidays preceding a Sunday encouraged an unusually large number of people to spend the three days at the beach resorts. The trains of July 3 and 4 brought crowds of tired business men from Portland and vicinity to pass the holidays with their families at the ocean. The first trip of the week-end special, leaving Portland Saturday afternoon and returning late Sunday evening, contributed to the convenience of these transient beach visitors and will be a much appreciated feature for the remainder of the season.

Portlanders at the Hadley cottages for a fortnight's outing are Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Tilton and daughter, Marian, Mrs. Arthur Knopf and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Ruley, Margaret, Bryce and Helen Ruley, Mr. and Mrs. William Willing and family.
