My Creed

I believe that honesty can be passed out to honest people by honest methods.

I believe in working, not weeping; in boosting, not knocking; and in the pleasure of my work.

I believe a man gets what he goes after; that one good deed done today is worth two deeds tomorrow.

I believe in today and the work I am doing; in tomorrow and the work I hope to do, and the sure reward which the future holds.

I believe in courtesy, in kindness, in generosity, in friendship and in co-operation with honest people.

I believe I can serve you best and that our dealings would be mutually beneficial.

I believe that a pair of my Perfect Fitting Glasses will give you much relief and added ease and comfort of vision.
