Presbyterian Synod Supports Mandatory for United States.

SUFFERING YET TERRIBLE

Rev. Mr. Handsaker Paints Picture of Conditions and Says Pleas for Medicines Are Many.

EUGENE, Or., July 19.—(Special).—The Presbyterian synod of Oregon, through its pastors and other members, was urged today to support President Wilson in any request he might make to congress to have the United States act as mandatory for the league of nations of Armenia.

The third meeting of Governor Davis' cabinet has been held and most satisfactory progress reported to the chief executive of the state.

Outstanding among the reports submitted were those of Commissioner Bowerman of the department of finance, Commissioner Elmer of the department of public investments, Secretary of State Jones of the department of law enforcement, Commissioner Gibson of the department of commerce and Commissioner Swenden of the department of reclamation, together with State Treasurer John W. Eagleton, who, though not a cabinet member, is directly allied with the cabinet.

Commissioner Bowerman issued a second warning to the people of the state not to have their property or their liberty bonds for other securities.

Commissioner Swenden of the department of reclamation reported that 400 cases of whisky and several automobiles used in conveying the contraband had been seized for violation of the prohibition laws.

It was shown by Commissioner Swenden that the present laws of the state are inadequate for the policing of the streams and lakes and to supervise an equitable distribution of water during short seasons like the present one.

That the synod approve of the establishment of a summer conference for young people's work under the supervision of the department of religious education.

That the synod representative on the executive committee of the Oregon State Sunday school association for the coming year shall be Professor James F. Ewing of Portland.

That the regional superintendent Dr. Forbes be authorized to confer with representatives from other denominations in Oregon with a view to the organization of a Sunday school council of Oregon, where all problems of the state be discussed and plans devised for the close co-operation of forces.

Rev. Boudinot Seelye of Portland, superintendent of missions for Oregon, in a report to the synod on home missions shows that since March 1, 1919, Assistant Superintendent Amos has traveled 6092 miles, preached 95 sermons, delivered five other addresses, conducted one communion service, attended three sessions of presbytery, held two annual meetings, organized 13 churches, baptized two on confession, baptized two, raised $4500, visited six vacant fields and attended four conferences.

DRAFT-DODGERS ARE HIT

VANCOUVER VETERANS WANT ALL EVADERS DEPORTED.

Chapter of Several Hundred Is Expected and Delegates Will Be Sent to State Meeting.

VANCOUVER, Wash., July 19.—(Special).—A resolution requesting the federal government to deport all foreigners who had turned in their citizenship papers to evade the draft, and those who had naturalized or not, who caused trouble during the war, was unanimously adopted at the meeting of ex-soldiers held in the Salvation Army auditorium last night.

IDAHO MAY BE SKIPPED

GOSSIP SAYS WILSON MAY PASS BY BORAH'S STATE.

Chief Executive Believed Unable to Change Sentiment on League of Nations Issue.

BOISE, Idaho, July 19.—(Special).—The report received here from Washington to the effect that President Wilson might include Idaho in his proposed itinerary over the country, during which he will speak in defense of the league of nations, was received with mingled interest and amusement.

dent desired to invade Idaho and to deliver an address in Boise. Leaders of the two parties are somewhat skeptical over the probable result of such a visit.

When in Boise recently for a conference with democratic leaders, Chairman Cummings of the democratic national committee made it clear that the record of the president on the league of nations and the treaty of Versailles was to be the issue on which the democratic party will stand in the next campaign.

Representatives are divided on the issue in Idaho. They do not desire to make either the league or the treaty party issues. They assert that both are of such vital importance that no party or state can afford to take a radical position on either.

Due to another engagement, Dow Walker, of Portland, who was to have addressed the meeting, was unable to be present. In his place, Attorney Beck with, secretary of the Portland chapter of the American Legion, and Barge E. Leonard, of Portland, treasurer of the state organization, talked to the newest veterans. Committees on by-laws and constitution and membership were appointed.

The local organization is to be known as the Smith-Reynolds chapter of the American Legion honoring Arthur Smith and Emory Reynolds, who were killed in action. A charter has been applied for and the organization expects to enlist 250 or 300 members, sufficient to entitle the organization to five delegates to the state convention in Seattle in October.

BOISE, Idaho, July 19.—(Special).—The report received here from Washington to the effect that President Wilson might include Idaho in his proposed itinerary over the country, during which he will speak in defense of the league of nations, was received with mingled interest and amusement.

This is the home state of Senator W. E. Borah, who is leading in the fight against the covenant, and because of that fact it was given out the presidential address in Boise.

Leaders of the two parties are somewhat skeptical over the probable result of such a visit. Most of them are inclined to the belief that he will not accomplish the object sought, and they are advising against it.

Senator Borah, they say, has made clear his stand in Washington with reference to the league of nations, to which he is unalterably opposed, and no pressure brought in his home state will serve to influence him.

The difference, however, is that Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon, to whom Mrs. Catt has made an appeal to have an extra session called, is of exactly the same mind.

INFANT PRODIGES FOUND

Young Marvels Appear in London Due to Psychology of War.

LONDON, June 28.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press).—Infant prodigies are being discovered in England almost daily. Some connect this with the psychology of the war.

Just as the safety of the world during the war depended upon great military leaders, he said, "it now depends, to a great extent, on bankers first and then on business men who possess the vision, will and energy to make food and raw materials accessible to Europe at such prices that the masses will have work and enough to eat and thus not become the prey of those irresponsible and theoretical leaders who are endeavoring to Russiianise all Europe."

Mr. Filene, who recently visited occupied and unoccupied Germany, said he returned to France convinced that bolshevism was a real peril, feeding on unemployment and high prices.

Mr. Filene urged that foodstuffs and large credits be given Europe from the United States.
