In Spite of Active Production, Reserves Drop to 60 Per Cent.

ALL LINES SHOW SHORTAGE

Additional Equipment Being Sent to Lines Will Help Deliveries Even More, Says Report.

Mill owners of the northwest were favored with an easier car supply during the past week but face a serious situation in the dwindling of stocks, acording to the weekly review of the West Coast Lumbermen's association.

west Coust Lumbermen's association. Shipment and production records for the week were the heaviest of any week this year. The association mills shipped 92,181.-568 feet of lumber, of which 64,770,000 feet went by rail. During the week the mills produced $1,601,667 feet of lum-ber and held new acceptances down to 74,285,984 feet. 74,283,984 feet.

Fieming keeps his courage steadfast and is cheerfully confident that what-ever happens he can make good at something. While in service in France he received injuries causing blindness. His sight returned, but occllists have told him that it will be only a matter of time until he will be totally blind. He is taking a regular course in agri-Superators to expedite deliveries as cars became more readily available. Ship-ments for the week exceeded actual production by 14 per cent. In the cargo trade, coastwise load-ings totaled 12,259,374 feet; while over-seas loadings totaled 5,717.387 feet. A close watch is to be kept today, particularly along the Columbia high-way, for camp fires, as three or four have been reported daily along trails leading from the main road. Were it not for the careful patrol serious dam-age would probably have resulted. The only new fire in Oregon and Washington yesterday was in the Halnier reserve on the Cispus river. It is in the high mountains and extremely difficult to approach. The tract now burning covers 1500 acres and contains timber valuable chieffy as watershed.

BY ENSIGN LINDSLEY W. ROSS. To LAND at Port au Prince has just a never-to-be-forgotten day. We went off the steamship Colon (bound from New York to the canal zone), about 9 o'clock in the morning to wander through the sirects of the quest town: first to the administration generale de postes—the postoffice—for some stamps and to learn the run of the money. Brglish, but they are certainly out for the shekels. Continuing on our way we passed an Episopal church and just as the black chorus and rector were executing the processional. A little farther on we came upon the Champ de Mars, a large public square, at one end of which is the president's palace—a huge, pile under construction for four years al-completed. The president's sentiments, it is said, are, "when the marines leave, it leave, too."
