tandifer, Hesse-Martin and Me-Dougal-Overmire Aggregations Ready for Combat.

Semi-pro baseball fans of Portland nd Vancouver will flock to the Vaughn-street park this ifternoon to witness the double-header preliminary for the city championship. Four of the best independent teams in this neck of for the city champlonship. Four of the best independent teams in this neck of the woods will pair off and clash today in order to narrow the race for the title down to two asgregations.

Manager Wayne F. Lewis' Standifer shipbuilders will mingle with the crack Hesse-Martin team in the first game, which will start at 1:36. The second contest will find Columbia park meeting the McDougal-Overmire club. All of the teams excepting Standifer have been greatly strengthened for the shampionship series, while Wayne Lewis will depend on his team as it has stood all season to cop the bacon. Up until the past week the Standifer team has stood head and shoulders above any other ball club here that has been playing in the independent field. Because of this fact the other three teams that entered the championship race got busy and grabbed the best players that were loose in these parts or combined with other teams.

Standifer and McDougal-Overmire are favorities to win their games today, but whether the dope will be upset remains to be seen. The rivalry is intense between the four teams and they will be battling for more than just the honor of winning a game.

"Jocko" Krause, one of the best pitchers in independent circles, likely will start on the mound for Standifer, with Bob Marshall on the receiving end. Following are the lineups of three of the teams:

Standifer—Hartman, Harkness, Krause

Standifer-Hartman, Harkness, Krause nd Goddard, pitchers, Marshall, catcher, idwards, first base; Pritchard, second base; oleman, third base; Moore, shortatop; Tynes, Carman, Johnson and Stepp, out-siders.

Columbia Park—Kooniz, Brice, Johnsen, Dimick, utility.
Columbia Park—Kooniz, Brice, Johnsen, pitchers; Milex, catcher; 1 -in, first base; Leland, second base; Garbarino, shortstop; Nordstrom, third base; Peterson, Foss, Horton, outfielders; Storm and Nugent, utility.
Although the Hesse-Martin lineup has not been named officially it is the dope that Oscar Harstad, the big twirler who has been signed to a Portland contract, will twist his slanters for that club, with a well-known catcher grabbling his offerings. Ed Thompson, the sensational high school pitcher, also is playing under the Hesse-Martin colors.

Herman Pillett, who was the steller moundman of the Northwest league with Tacoma several years ago and who played with the San Francisco Scalia a while this season and was later sent to Des Moines, is back in town and has been signed to pitch for the McDougal-Overmire team. He is slated to work today with Gus Fisher, former Beaver and Sacramento catcher, behind the bat. Gus was released by Bill Rodgers recently and has been in Portland for Manager Tindall of the Columbia Park team is hopeful of his club's chances After getting off to a bad start this season the Columbias rounded into season the Columbias rounded into shape and have been winning against the best teams in the state with regularity the past month. Charley Koontz will pitch this afternoon for Columbia Park with "Chief" Meyers doing the backstopping. Koontz and Meyers have proved an invincible battery and are expected to go big.

Eastern dispatches state that Frank Moran, the Pittsburg heavy, who was whipped by Willard in New York, is grooming himself for a bit of Jousting with Dempsey If that is the case. Moran has certainly changed his mind since July 5.

Before the fight in Toledo Moran was the biggest Willard booster in the Hotel Secor. Everything he wrote was tinged with a Williard booster in the Hotel Secor. Everything he wrote was tinged with a Williard flavor. What is more, Moran bet his money—so much of it, as I happened to know, that he had to borrow coin on which to return to New York.

On the Saturday afternoon following the fight I happened to run in: Moran in the lobby of the Secor. The hotel practically was deserted, for 29 per cent of the newspaper men had fled for other parts.

HARNESS RACING DUE FOR STRONG REVIVAL

Northwestern Horsemen Look for Great Season.

Centralia, Wash., Now Center of Activities in Preparation for Summer Campaign.

Light harness racing promises to come back in the northwest to the standard of old days before the war, if the activity among horsemen and racing associations is any criterion. From British Columbia to California the word is the same, the biggest sca-son in the history of the sulky game along the Facific slope. One of the loteresting turfmen to be seen at Centralia will be John Springer, the man who developed and raced Sonoma Girl. 2:06, a mare whose name is linked with the lore of harness racing all along the Pacific coast, and who was sold to Lotta Crabire, the old west's most beloved actress, for $35,000.

Portland, and Oregon in general, will be well represented on the North Pacific circuit this year.

H. Glerman of Portland is at the track now in Centralia with his good trotter, Guy Light, which turned a mile under the judges eye in 2:05. Tony Muratto of Portland is also at the course with some of his fast runners, notably Leticia S, a thoroughbred mare, and Ashton Lady. He is not alone, for several other stables of bangtails are being worked out or are an route.

Well, haven't I boxed him enough to know where I stand? I recken he is a cinch for me. He tires, I tell you.
