Favored Fashions For Fall

Mr. Morgan, our buyer, wrote to us so enthusiastically from New York about the new fall models he was sending, that we were just a little doubtful whether they would equal his glowing descriptions. However, after unpacking a few of the lovely suits, coats and dresses that are coming in daily, we find that mere words cannot do them justice. The materials are new and interesting, the modes delightfully feminine—a welcome relief from the mannish styles of previous seasons.

Advance Modes in Suits, Coats, Dresses and Hats

will be on display for the first time, Monday, August 4. Portland and visitors for Buyers' Week are cordially invited to see them.

Suits—

Belted styles predominate, some in Russian Blouse effect. Buttons play an interesting part—elaborate designs in braiding, handsome collars of nutria, squirrel or opossum, decorative vests in contrasting color, ornament the dressier models.

Poirot Twill, Serge, Tricotine, Velour, plain and checked, are represented. Two new materials, TINSELTONE and PLUMETTE, will be sure to meet with the approval of the chic woman. Linings are unusually handsome. Brown is the leading color, with the ever-popular navy blue next. $35 to $125

Coats—

Roomy wraps with loosely-cut raglan sleeves and huge snugly collars of fur or cloth that keep away the sharp winds. Fabrics heavy yet supple—the new Tinseltone and Plumette, Bolivia, Silvertone. They are shown in brown, gray, blue, green and tweed mixtures. $25 to $165

Dresses—

Comprehensive assortment of early fall tailleurs in serge, tricotine and velour. Not the ordinary tailored street dress, but wonderfully attractive creations in peplum or straight-line effects, with cord or string girdles. Beading and braiding is used to advantage on many. $17.50 to $75

Fresh from the exclusive New York designer, they are the embodiment of the latest style tendencies. Shapes are captivating, materials are delightfully varied, ostrich is used extensively as trimming. Street hats, dress hats, plain or elaborate, in styles to suit the individuality of milady.

Our Mr. Kerble, who has just returned from a buying trip to New York, is justly proud of the unusually fine array of hats he is showing. Our entire millinery section on the main floor is devoted to these new arrivals. May we not have the pleasure of showing them to you?
