Training for Citizenship Will Be Emphasized.

CHANGES TEACHINGS

Dr. Joseph Schafer Is Chairman of National Committee to Prepare New Course for Schools.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON. Eugene. Aug. 2 .- (Special.) - Reorganization of the courses in history and civics in the public schools, to make them more serviceable in training for citizenship is a work undertaken by the National Education association, together with the American Historical association and national board for historical service, through a joint committee of which Dr. Joseph Schafer, head of the department of history in the University of Oregon, is chairman.

Dr. Schafer has just returned from the national capital, where he spent nearly ten months in the position of acting chairman of the historical service hoard.

War Changes Teaching.

"The whole subject of history teach-ing needed revision on general prin-ciples," said Dr. Schafer, "Then the war interposed and has affected the leaching of history more than that of any other subject except geography. It is desired to intensify every argument for hetter training for dittension ad for better training for citizenship. Ad-ditional emphasis will be placed on recent and contemporary hstory. The recent and contemporary hstory. The war stands as an important fact that one would not think of failing to bring historical study down late enough to include it. The committee agreed that there should be no gap between the time reached in the pupil's study of history and the time when he steps out into the world of affairs. "The whole history curriculum will have to be reshaped.

Citizenship Training Chosen. "In framing a plan for recasting, some principles worth while were adopted: First, a complete round of adopted: First, a complete round of history and civics should be given in the first six grades, to catch all the students with a certain amount of citistudents with a certain amount of citi-zenship training. About half of the students in the schools drop out at the end of the sixth grade. Second, the junior high school period—seventh, eighth and ninth grades—should be utilized, because the student then is in the best stage, psychologically, to ab-sorb it—to give the student an entire view of world history on the human side. Our general theme in these three

In those high school years the student can handle hits history as a civic matter on a high plane. A high school student ought to be considered more or less of a leader and trained along these lines." In the past Dr. Schafer said there has been too much disintegration is the separation of civics and economics from history. Under the existing exchange a pound sterling is no longer worth $4.86, but has declined to $4.60. Under the con-trolled price of apples the maximum for a box of apples, under the rules that have been applied, would be $4.55. If apples were purchased at $2, f. o. b, northwestern shipping points, the max-imum profit to the exporter, it is pointed out, would not exceed 55 cents under existing conditions. As you know, most men are simply not "up on" the appli-ances one needs about the house-perhaps because it isn't their business to be. Take that most irksome of all household duties-the family washing. Where's the man who fully realizes what a Mon-day over the washboard and tubs and laundry stove really means?

day over the washboard and thos and lability slove really means? The most effective argument in his case is the one that presents the matter in the light of plain, everyday business sense. Show him that this antiquated, unhealthful wash-board drudgery wastes time — and costs money. Begin by letting us arrange to have the EDEN demon-strated for you. We'll do this — gladly — at our showroom — or we'll send a machine to your home to work on some of your own washings — just as you say and without trying to obligate you to anything whatsoever. Then, you will see for yourself what a source of comfort and economy a really efficient washer can be; for, while there are a number of them made to look like the EDEN, we can show you the vital differences in a jifty. You will be surprised at the EDEN'S simplicity—and still more sur-prised at the smount and kind of work it torns out. The average family wash is on the line by 9:30 or 10 o'clock, and all the pleces — filmy, heavy or extra dirty — are washed cleaner than any human hands could possibly get them.
