

JUVENILE BREEDERS WILL EXHIBIT STOCK

5000 Oregon Boys and Girls Prepare for Show.

WORK IN STATE PRAISED

Club Leader H. C. Seymour Declares Competition With Adult Entrants Will Be Keen.

More than 5000 boys and girls of Oregon, members of sheep clubs, pig clubs, calf clubs or goat clubs, under the direction of State Leader H. C. Seymour of Oregon Agricultural college, are busy making preparations for a series of elimination contests to single out the finest among the 15,000 animals owned by the clubs for exhibition at the Pacific International Livestock exposition's ninth annual stock show at Portland in November.

The enthusiasm among juvenile clubs extends throughout the whole northwest. Boys and girls' livestock clubs of Idaho, Washington and Montana have been invited to enter their animals and to send teams to compete in the stock-judging contest. State Leader H. M. Wright of Washington says that the juvenile clubs of that state will not only send down a fine string of high-class entries to the big stock show, but will be on hand to assist several of their clearest stock-judging teams to compete for honors and premiums.

The boys and girls are intensely interested in the work and in the Pacific International contest, says State Leader Seymour. "They are now active all over the northwest, and particularly in Oregon. The national records at Washington, D. C., show that the northwest section is well in the lead in this important work."

Among the interesting sections of the children's division will be that of the goat clubs. In Portland alone there are over 80 children who own high-class milk goats and belong to the club. Tillamook, Clatsop and Clackamas counties also have thriving goat clubs. Mr. Seymour says more than 50 of the finest animals of this class on the coast are heavy percherons of Oregon clubs also. Washington also will have a fine goat exhibit from its juvenile clubs.

The stock-judging contest for the club teams will be conducted in connection with that of the student teams from various northwest colleges, on the first day of the stock show, November 17. A junior camp for the accommodation of the club boys will be arranged by General O. M. Plummer on the grounds, so that the boys can conveniently all their time at the stock show during the entire week.

A Bad Tooth Never Grows Better Unless Good Dentists Help It

By DR. PARKER Founder and Executive Head of the E. R. Parker System

THE first duty of a dentist is to save teeth, and when they are past saving he must resort to artificial plates.

Some dentists can save teeth that others can't, because some men know more than others.

The advantage of having your dental work done under the E. R. Parker System is this:

The System is employed by Registered Dentists working together, and the dental work they do is the result of all their knowledge combined, each one doing that kind of work that he best knows how to do.

The judgment of one man in dentistry is never so dependable as the combined judgment of several men.

Registered Dentists using the E. R. Parker System make examinations and give advice free, and they tell all patients examined what their teeth need and how little the price will be for doing the work.

Everyone should have the teeth examined at least twice a year, and the plan of charging nothing for examinations is something you ought not to overlook.
