

FIRE CHIEFS TO SEE PREVENTION PARADE

Evolution of Fighting Apparatus Will Be Depicted.

PRIZES UP FOR SLOGANS

Members of Portland Department to Carry Large Banners Showing City's Comparative Losses.

Because the Pacific coast convention of fire chiefs will open in Portland in another week, the annual fire prevention day parade has been changed from October to Thursday, September 18. Each of the four sections of the parade will contain a number of new attractions and the committee in charge expects the procession to be much larger than in previous years. This will be the fifth fire prevention day for Oregon.

Evolution of fire fighting apparatus is to be shown by a display of old hand-drawn hose carts, one-horse pumpers and the newest inventions down to the latest automatic extension ladders.

Hose houses with enter floors. Some will show small acts of carelessness which cause big conflagrations.

The Peninsula hose house will enter a float to show the way in which Mrs. O'Leary's cow started the great Chicago fire.

San Francisco Chief Honored.
Thomas Murphy, San Francisco fire chief, is to act as grand marshal for the procession, which will be reviewed by the visiting chiefs. In charge of the first section will be H. P. Coffin. In his division will be the motorcycle squad, police platoon, fire chief's car, band, Mayor Baker and city commissioner, Governor O'Connell, the county commissioners, state fire marshal and members of the fire chiefs' association. The second section will be marshaled by Fire Chief Dowell and will be exclusively for the fire department. The next group will be made up of civic clubs and miscellaneous entries. It will be directed by J. G. Wilson. With him will be Edward Campbell in charge of shipyard workers.

Banner to Show Fire Losses.

Industrial floats will make up the fourth section, which H. E. Plummer has been chosen to lead. Last year 299 floats showed modern safety devices, which have been installed by Portland merchants and manufacturers.

High schools are expected to have a big turnout in the parade. In 1918 the parade went to Jefferson for having its fire squad marching in uniform. Serpentine marchers are to carry the largest banner ever seen in the streets of Portland. The banner bears comparative figures on fire losses.

A contest for the slogan of the day will open Monday and last until Thursday night. The first prize is $10 and the second $5. Each person may enter three slogans, each not over ten words in length. The slogans should be sent to the fire marshal's office at the city hall. Names of judges will be announced later. A slogan used one year follows: "Take the fire hazards away and we will save $30,000 an hour in the U. S. A."

Jay Stevens Is Founder.
Fire prevention week in Oregon was founded by former Marshal Jay Stevens and the city has been organized by Marshal Ed. Grenfeld, assisted by Chief H. E. Plummer, J. O. Wilson, H. S. Hudson, H. B. Boardman, Edward Campbell, H. P. Boynton, A. G. Long, Chief Dowell and other members.

About 250 fire chiefs from Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, California and British Columbia will take part in the day's activities.

CHURCH WILL ADVERTISE

EUGENE BOARD SETS ASIDE SEVERAL HUNDRED DOLLARS.

New Pastor of First Christian Church Firm Believer in Efficacy of Publicity Campaign.

EUGENE, Or., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—A fund of several hundred dollars has been set aside by the official board of the First Christian church of this city for advertising during the coming year. The advertising campaign will begin October 1. At a meeting of the board this week a plan was outlined by Dr. E. V. Stivers, pastor of the church, which was adopted and a committee of local business men was appointed to have charge of the expenditure of the money, under the supervision of the pastor.

Dr. Stivers came to this city last February from Stockton, Cal., where he built up a large church, and great emphasis was placed on advertising as a means to bring this about. At the present time he holds membership with the Stockton Advertising club, and while a resident there was very active in this organization.

"I am a firm advocate of church advertising," said Dr. Stivers, "it has always brought the desired results wherever it has been tried and I know that there is no better way to reach the public than by this means. There is a dignity about sane advertising that, in keeping with the work of the church, and certainly the need of placing the gospel before the community in a sensible businesslike way is evident. Too long business and Christianity have been separated, but the day is here when business should be infused into the methods of the church."

Since coming to Eugene Dr. Stivers has been advertising in a small way and he says the results have been excellent. The congregation has paid a $25,000 debt on the church and every department is growing, according to the pastor. Dr. Stivers believes that advertising will bring the desired results in church attendance and increased interest, but that financially it is a success.

"If results come to the business man through this medium," says the clergyman, "it will also come to the church, for the church of all institutions has something worth while to present to the public. Publicity through the newspapers will attract the attention of the people toward the house of God."

Skulls of Three Magi Seen in Cologne Cathedral.

Alleged Relics of Savior's Birth Exhibited to Americans.

COLOGNE, Aug. 18.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—A British army chaplain celebrated mass recently in the great Cologne cathedral at the altar of the relics of the Magi, the skulls of the three wise men who came from the east to visit the newly-born Saviour at Bethlehem. A number of American officers and men from the Coblenz area attended the services, and were permitted to view the relics.

Tradition says that the Empress Helend procured the bones and took them to Constantinople, whence they were removed to Milan. In 1184 they were presented by Frederick Barbarossa to Archbishop Reinold von Dassel, who brought them to Cologne. At first they were kept in the chapel of the Magi, the central chapel of the seven flanking the choir, but since the war they have been put away in the cathedral treasury, near the organ. The bones are kept in a golden reliquary, a costly specimen of Romanesque craftsmanship in the form of a basilica, said to have been made about 1200 A. D. In the Cologne coat of arms three crowns are represented, the Magi relics have suggested the design.

IS NOW ABLE TO WALK TO TOWN

Mrs. Newlin Tells of Great Improvement Since Taking Tanlac.

"Before I took Tanlac I had to take a street car to go a block, but now I can walk all the way sunning and can enjoy the exercise," said Mrs. Mollie Newlin, who resides at 2430 Soule E street, Tacoma.

"Rheumatism has been my affliction for many years," she continued. "It has been getting worse year after year until I got so I could hardly move my feet at all. The pains would set in about my hips and it would seem like every muscle in my lower limbs was being tied in knots. Long ago I had to give up trying to walk any distance. My strength and weight left me and I went down hill until I was thin and puny and almost a shadow of my natural self. I grew as nervous and shaky as a leaf in the wind and when night came the pains would keep me awake until 3 or 4 o'clock in the morning. My daughter begged me to try Tanlac, but I had tried so many medicines I thought it would be throwing away money, but I finally got a bottle.

"The first thing Tanlac did for me was to put my stomach in splendid condition and just as soon as I began to digest my food I noticed an improvement. Then my strength came back to me day by day and the pains began to leave. You just ought to see me get around the house now and do my own housework. I don't know when I have ever felt as well and happy. I sleep like a child every night and wake in the morning bright and cheerful. I don't think anything of walking all the way downtown and back and enjoy it. For it is a pleasure to be able to get around that way again after suffering like I did and having to stay cooped up in the house for so long. I am recommending Tanlac to everyone I see suffering with rheumatism and a run-down condition, for it has certainly made me feel like a different person."

Tanlac is sold in Portland by the Owl Drug Co.—Adv.

In behalf of the estate and the three minor children, the youngest four years of age and the oldest 14. Two points in the testimony were vigorously contested. One was the allegation of the plaintiff that the defendant drove the car that killed Mrs. Smith on Oak street last November. The other was the contention of the defense that Mrs. Smith was guilty of contributory negligence in not exercising proper caution in crossing the street.

Ralph Wilbur conducted the case for the defense and John A. Collier and Henry Collier represented the plaintiff. Their arguments were presented Friday afternoon.

Testimony presented by the plaintiff was almost identical with that adduced at the former trial of Mr. Sorenson, when the jury failed to find the circumstantial evidence sufficient to convict. The same witnesses were called in the damage suit, and in the interim following the criminal action no new evidence had been discovered.

SALARIES RUN TAXES UP

34 Per Cent Increase in Payments Will Be Made in Aberdeen.

ABERDEEN, Wash., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—Aberdeen city property owners will pay $53,607, or 34 per cent more, in taxes this year than last, according to the tentative budget framed by the city council. For 1919 the amount raised in the city by direct taxation was $147,179. The amount to be raised the coming year is approximately $147,786.

The total expenses of the city, outside debt redemption, is estimated at $177,221, or $25,139 more than last year. Higher salaries are responsible for the greater portion of the proposed increase.

Apple Harvest Is On.

PROSSER, Wash., Sept. 6.—(Special.)—Harvesting of Winter Banana apples, which started about ten days ago, has already been completed. Several fancy apples have been selling for more than $2 a box to cash buyers in certain cases, which is an exceptionally high price for this time of year. The harvesting of Jonathan apples will start the last of this week or the first of next. The crop is a heavy one. The price for extra fancy Jonathans has run as high as $2.50 a box in some instances.

The alleged killing of Mrs. Smith by an automobile last November, returned a verdict in favor of the defendant. The case was tried in Circuit Judge Gantenbein's court and attracted much attention because of the fact that it was based upon evidence similar to that submitted when Mr. Sorenson was charged with manslaughter and acquitted.

Final instructions to the jury were given by Judge Gantenbein yesterday morning and an hour later the verdict was brought into court. Ray Schermerhorn, brother of Mrs. Smith, and administrator of her estate, brought the suit against Mr. Sorenson
