BANKING RESERVES FALL

Decrease of $98,000,000 in Week Is Greatest in History.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20 .- Actual reserves of clearing-house banks and trust companies at the end of the current week, as disclosed by the weekly statement issued today, show a de-crease of $98,867,420, leaving a deficit in excess reserves of $53,186,140 below requirements. The decrease, the largest evr rportd. by the clearing-house, is based on the condition of member institutions at the close of yesterday's business and ap-plies only to that day. Following the rule of the Federal Reserve bank the clearing-house requires its members to show a monthly aver-age of 13 per cent excess reserves over net demand deposits. The xtraordinary contraction reported today will, it is believed, be fully offset in the clearings of the next few days. TRANSPORT RUNS AGROUND
