

35,000 SEE CANUTT WIN ROUND-UP GLORY

Bucking Champion Picked at Close of Big Show.

SPECTACULAR RIDE MADE

Colfax, Washington Rider, Repeats Feat of 1917 and Masters "No Name" After One Fall.

PENDLETON, Or., Sept. 20.—(Special.)—Yakima Canutt is the Round-up's first two-time champion. The Colfax, Washington, boy, ex-sailor, champion bucking horse rider in 1917, won his second title here today by mastering "No Name," the Round-up's greatest bucking horse, while a crowd of 35,000 spectators cheered the valiant rider.

It was a remarkable ride, perhaps not as spectacular as Yakima's win of two years ago, but noteworthy in view of the fact that this same horse, Yakima Canutt at Calgary. "Too much horse" was his only comment then. "Too much rider" was the result today.

For the first time in years, the second time that it has ever been necessary in the history of the Round-up, five riders, instead of three, were picked for the finals. Hippy Burmaster drew I. B. Dam; Hugo Strickland, last year's champion, rode Wild Boy; Ray Bell drew Bill McAdoo; Tex Smith drew Sam Jackson, and Canutt, No Name.

Burmester Wins Second Place.
All the rides might, under ordinary conditions, have taken some of the money, but with such a string of riders and such horses in the event, there were three that stood out over the others. Second place went to Burmaster of Los Angeles, who made a really remarkable ride, the most spectacular of the afternoon, on I. B. Dam. Third place went to Ray Bell of Cheyenne, with Bill McAdoo as his third mount for the day.

The finals in all the events but the pony express were fitting and of two days of the best sport ever offered to Round-Up crowds. In this event horses broke away from two strings, leaving Lloyd Saunders on the McCarty string, the only rider to finish. He had been third man in the race up to this time.

Scoop Martin Is Winner.
Scoop Martin, riding the Drumheller string, won by an even three seconds in the event, distancing Parsons and Kivett, the third day as well as on the two previous days. His time for the three days, two miles a day, was 12:07.

Lorena Trickey carries away two titles. Not only did she ride away from her three competitors again today in the relay race, but she rode Spider in the women's bucking championship, an event of a very different character. The woman champion is a Cheyenne girl and was riding her own string in the relay.

The race in this event today, after the first half of it, was a battle between Donna Glover (Drumheller), Vera McGinnis (Irwin), and Katie Canutt (McCarty) for the other two places. Trickey's time was 11:40 4-5; McGinnis 11:47; Glover, 11:50, and Canutt 12:02.

Bucking Exhibition Given.
Spider, a wiry little gray, carried Miss Trickey into the bucking championship with an exhibition of bucking that has already during the show been the undoing of at least one of the men. The little girl, however, whipped from start to finish. Ruth Roach, also whipping all the way, won second place on Bearcat, a horse that has been one of the best of Round-up's buckers. Eloise Hastings' ride on Rawlins Kid won third place.

Very good records were made in the steer-roping contest today. Fred Beeson, with 27 seconds for steady, made it in 20 today, and with a total of 47 for two steers, carried the roping championship back to Arkansas City, Kan. E. D. McCarty, well-known Cheyenne stockman, made it in 23 seconds today, giving him a total of 55 for the two steers and second place.

Dan Clark, O. W. stockman, took this money with 33 3-5 today, and a total of 1:07 for the two steers.

McCarty's Steer Dislocated.
McCarty, throwing his bridle away to give an exhibition of roping with a bridle horse, dislocated a shoulder and discontinued further competition, although his injury was of short duration.

In the bulldogging, Jim Massey of Snyder took first place, the and Iiams of Pendleton, second and Mike Hastings of Pendleton, third. The feature of the event, however, was the performance of Ray McCarty, champion last year, who downed his steer in 18 seconds, said to be a world record. McCarty was eliminated from the finals yesterday when he was bucked from his horse before he got his steer.

The crowd was undoubtedly the largest the roundup has ever seen. The two new sections of bleachers added this year were so small to accommodate the throng and the overflow, unable to buy tickets, was turned loose to pack the fence three or four deep all around the enclosure and in front of the bleachers.

Happy Canyon Closes Show.
Pendleton's three days of entertainment closed tonight with the show and fun at Happy Canyon, the little frontier town created for the amusement of the crowd during the evenings while the roundup is in progress. Not a really serious accident has marred the show this year.

There has been work for the Red Cross men, of course, but the injuries were minor and the performers are able to be about in a short time. The weather, except for a dust storm, could not have been better and from every standpoint, the tenth annual roundup, now history, was the most successful ever held.

University Hall to Rise.
SALEM, Or., Sept. 20.—(Special.)—Plans for Lausans hall, to be erected on the campus of Willamette university, were approved by the board of directors of the institution today and work on the structure probably will begin within the next few weeks. Because of the shortage of labor and material it is predicted that the ultimate cost of the hall will be much more than originally contemplated.

Roseburg Grocer Is Married.
ROSEBURG, Or., Sept. 20.—(Special.)—Clarence Feris, Roseburg grocer, and Miss Lynda L. Buetow, formerly a teacher in the schools at Marshfield, were married yesterday. They left immediately for one of the camping spots on the North Umpqua, where they will pass their honeymoon.

Two Sailors Are Arrested.
ROSEBURG, Or., Sept. 20.—(Special.)—Gerald Christian and Nicholas Sloan, sailors from the battleship Texas, were arrested here today. The men left their ship when the Pacific fleet visited Seattle and have been absent from their posts since September 14.

RAIL CUTOFF WORK WAITS

SOUTHERN PACIFIC DIRECTOR SAYS MONEY NOT AVAILABLE

Natron Project, Definitely Postponed "Because of Financial Status of Railways."

EUGENE, Or., Sept. 20.—(Special.)—The matter of completing the Natron cutoff of the Southern Pacific Portland and San Francisco line, to connect the present line that terminates at Oak Ridge with the line extending north from Klamath Falls, must be considered definitely postponed until the status of the railroad interests shall have been adjusted satisfactory to the shareholders, says Julius Kruttschnitt, chairman of the board of directors of the Southern Pacific company, in a letter to W. P. Gilstrap, secretary of the Eugene Chamber of Commerce, in reply to a letter asking what encouragement could be given the people of Oregon regarding the resumption of the work of this big project.

"In the opinion of railroad owners and capitalists whose money must be attracted to railroad investments, the inflexible attitude of the Interstate Commerce commission toward any increase in revenues of carriers to meet the rising cost of material and labor is considered mainly if not wholly responsible for the deplorable financial condition of the railroads and has long checked continuance of new and expansion of existing facilities," said Mr. Kruttschnitt in his letter.

8-DAY HUSBAND IN JAIL

Perjury in Affidavit as to Young Wife's Age Charged.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 20.—(Special.)—Roy Walden, wedded in Seattle eight days ago, is languishing in jail at Sacramento, Cal., while his bride is speeding back to Elliott Bay on a train which will meet one southbound carrying two Seattle officers going after her husband on a charge of grand larceny. Walden, the police allege, made affidavit that Hilda Aldo, whom he married here, was of legal age to wed. As a matter of fact, she is but 16 years old. In jail at Sacramento, with Walden are Harry Rutter and Allen McKinley, who also are charged with grand larceny, and also said to have joined in the alleged perjured affidavit as to Hilda Aldo's age.

The affair is said to have had its beginning in Seattle September 12, when the three men went to a garage and rented a car for a purported trip to Tacoma. No return of the car was made in the 24 hours for which it was rented, and a search was begun.

4 THINGS THE 1900 SAVES

Time Money Work Clothes

IT SAVES TIME because the family washing is done in about an hour's time.
IT SAVES MONEY because it costs only 2 cents an hour to operate and the money thus saved on the weekly washing can be applied to the machine itself.
IT SAVES WORK because you are relieved of the drudgery of the old-time washday.
IT SAVES CLOTHES because there is no rubbing or scrubbing to wear them out. It is the action of the soapy water being forced through the clothes that cleans them, and not the rubbing.

The 1900 Cataract Electric Washing Machine

Sends the water through the clothes 4 times faster than the ordinary washer, thus cleansing them more quickly. This feature is exclusive with the 1900. You may try the 1900 in your own home for two weeks, with no obligation whatever to purchase. Terms may be arranged, if you like.
