Tinworker Says Foreigners Think They Will Control.

THREATS ARE RECALLED

Testimony of Judge Gary That All Could Get Hearing and Redress of Grievances Is Supported.

tion of the nation-wide steel strike was temporarily halted today by the senate labor committee after it had heard several employes of the United States Steel corporation who attacked sharply tactics of strikers and strike leaders. The inquiry will be resumed in the Pittsburgh district as soon as the treaty situation in the senate makes it possible for the committee members to be absent from Washington for three days or more.

Four mill workers were heard today. T. J. Davies of Newcastle, Pa., said the strike chiefly involved the foreigners in the mills, that many of the participants believed the object was to give the workmen ownership of the mills and that it was being carried on with intimidation and violence.

With all of the other men heard, Davies supported statements of Judge Gary, chairman of the board of the steel corporation, that the mill executives always were ready to hear reasonable grievances and redress them and said union organization would not do the men any good.

Worker Denounces Leaders. Activities of union organizers in steel districts before the present strike was called had "all the elements of a conspiracy," T. J. Davies, a Newcastle, Pa., tin worker, told the senate committee investigating the strike today. Foreign workmen in some cases, he said, expect it to result in Soviet operation of the mills. "These men moved mysteriously around the plants," he said, "and they represented the sentiment of 50,000 tin workers. These foreigners, when we asked them, explained they were going to get the 'closed shop'."

"President Wilson, President Gompers, they all say, are with us. You Americans can't work here afterward. Nothing but union men."

"We'll get the check-off system," they said, "and collect all the union dues."

Soviet in Mills Expected. "Some of them explained to me: 'We won't need books after this; committees will run mills.' Davies said some workers were intimidated because they were told their houses will be blown up and their wives killed."

When the strike was called, Davies said, he and other workmen who sought to get into the mills at Newcastle were attacked by pickets at the gates.

"They whipped the city police," Davies said, "and beat men trying to go to work. There were 500 foreigners around the mill gates, and until they turned soldiers in charge of the situation, there was a continuous fight."

Davies said his own earnings were $17 a day as a roller. He added that he was a Y. M. C. A. worker in France during the war.

Davies told the committee that when mill employes had grievances they could appeal to the foremen and if dissatisfied could go to the superintendent.

Fear of Strikes Expressed. "I don't know of any labor union which has anything to offer us," Davies said. "Most of us have been members of unions."

"A union man is in danger of being called out whenever any agitator gets inflated with bolshevism and has no restraint against it."

Chairman Kenyon asked him if he had seen any evidence of bolshevism in the strike.

"You've developed the doctrine among them right here," he said. "This talk about committees, the terrorism and intimidation, the condition at Newcastle after they licked the police, the wrong education, the inflaming of these men, is bolshevism at the root."

"Don't you think the managers, the steel employers, have some responsibility in the situation?" asked Senator Kenyon.

"Sure they have," was the reply, "and the government should join with them, get the men out of the country—shoot them if necessary."

Gompers Is Criticized. Davies discussed the union leaders. "They won't fight back the rabid element or the mob spirit," he asserted, "for fear of losing their jobs."

M. F. Tighe, head of the iron, steel and tin workers' union, he said, was "quite harmless."

President Gompers is president of the American Federation of Labor and has his job to hold," he continued.

"He's quite gentle to Mr. Foster (W. Z. Foster, secretary of the strike committee). He showed that yesterday."

Opposing anti-strike legislation in the railroad reorganization law, President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, told the house interstate commerce committee today that workers would not obey it even though it were held constitutional by the supreme court.

Answering Representative Webster, republican, Washington, Gompers said in such a situation he would "remain silent and make a test before the people," instead of advising and counselling obedience to the law. He insisted, however, that he could not conceive of the court holding such a law valid because, he said, it would impose "involuntary servitude."

By appeal to the people, Mr. Gompers explained that he would seek to have the court opinion "reversed by the next congress."

Conciliation Committee Succeeds in Arranging Meeting of Labor With Government.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—(By the Associated Press.)—There was at least a slight rift in the strike storm clouds tonight. The country today had recoiled itself to the belief that there was an irreconcilable break between the government and the unions in consequence of the absolute failure of yesterday's conference between the cabinet and the trade union conciliation committee in an effort to reach a basis whereby negotiations with the railway workers could be reopened.

Two unheralded events tonight gave an optimistic feeling to the government and labor circles regarding the possibilities of a settlement. Briefly, the conciliation committee again unexpectedly proposed the street, and after a conference with Andrew Bonar Law, repaired immediately to the executive of the National Union of Railwaymen.

Union Men to See Premier. At a late hour it was announced that James H. Thomas, secretary of the union, and railway delegates met at the residence of Lloyd George tomorrow, after having absented themselves from the mediation councils for several days.

The visit of the conciliation committee to Downing street had not been looked for. The delegates were closeted with Bonar Law for more than an hour at the end of which time it was announced that the interview had been adjourned until tomorrow.

The nature of the conference was not divulged, but the newspapers were waiting outside the premier's residence noted that the members of the committee seemed more cheerful when they left. Apparently the benefits made by Bonar Law and the committee, as the visit of the railway delegates tomorrow would seem to be dependent upon some new angle which has arisen.

Progress Reported to Union. After the meeting between the railwaymen's executive and the conciliation committee, the latter permitted to the reporters that the committee had come from Downing street to report progress to the union.

Pending the outcome of Tuesday's meeting of all trade unions in Great Britain, the executive committee of the vehicle workers' federation will not call a strike of bus, tram and taxi drivers.

In an article contributed to the Daily News today refuting an accusation that he is animated by personal ambitions, James Henry Thomas, secretary of the railway men's union, declares that he thrice declined offers to become a member of the British cabinet.

Mr. Thomas warns the country that if other trades unions join the strike it may result in a class struggle, "which not all my counsels or moderating influence may avail to save the country from a violent and bloody revolution."

SALEM, Or., Oct. 4.—(Special.)—Taking of evidence was begun in the circuit court here today in the case brought by James Sykes, who seeks damages in the sum of $5000 from Bert Macey, city recorder; Elmer Mangis, and Morris W. In that way you will not only make it a habit with yourself, but will influence others, and we will all reap the benefits. "Make it a point on fire prevention day to critically examine your home, store, office, shop or factory. Try to remove anything or any condition that might possibly cause a fire, and above all clean up. If you find any inflammable material, remove it if possible or make it safer you will be doing yourself a great favor, and then don't stop—keep it that way."

In America the death toll by fire is four times as high as in any of the people of Europe. It should not be so. We surpass in every other way—except in the number of automobiles—with each and every one of us. Let us start now.

DEAD WOMAN NOT WIFE
Miss Ruth Sandidge Found to Have Killed Self.

LYNCHBURG, Va.—A coroner's jury here inquiring into the death Monday of a young woman in the residence of Mrs. L. L. Adkerson here developed the fact that she was Miss Ruth Sandidge and not the wife of Dr. W. C. Adkerson, a lieutenant in the medical corps of the army, who was stationed in Camp Mills, L. I., during the war, as she had previously announced.

The inquest also developed finally that the case was a suicide. The inquest not only caused a postponement in the burial of Miss Sandidge, who was a member of a good family here, but it also resulted in the death certificate being changed from that of a married woman to single.

Never a Failure—Never a Disappointment, When Baking With This Riveted Tight

Monarch MALLEABLE The 'Stay Satisfactory' Range

—Being riveted tight (no bolts), there's no possible chance for air to get in or heat to get out—the entire regulation is controlled by the Monarch Duplex Drafts. These drafts are at front and back of range underneath the firebox. Fire must and does burn in the center of firebox, thus forcing an equal distribution of heat over, around and under the oven. Thus, too, Monarch Ranges are Vitreous Enamel Lined. Of course this lining has nothing to do with the baking, but it does have effect on taste. The natural dampness from food cannot penetrate Vitreous Enamel—thus the life of Monarch Ranges has actually been doubled.

—You can get Monarch Ranges with four and six-hole tops and 15, 17, 19, 21-inch ovens, in either leg or cabinet-base styles. Tops are all Blue Mirco (no blacking needed). Nickel trimmings are all plain (no grease-catching scrolls). Any size Monarch Gas Attachment will fit any size Monarch Range.
