A Scene At The Children's Party For Which Mrs. J. P. O'Brien Was Hostess In Honor Of Her Grandchild Patricia McKenna.

Patricia Ann McKenna Who Celebrated Her Fifth Birthday Last Monday.

Robert Olds, son of Lieut. and Mrs. L. B. Gray of San Diego, Cal., and grandson of the late J. B. Olds and Mrs. Olds.

OWING to the inclement weather, social affairs for the past week took on quite the air of mid-winter, instead of the first days of autumn, as a great deal of bridge has been played, most of the parties being small affairs, consisting of only two or three tables. Most of the games were in honor of out-of-town guests—Miss Margaret Alderson, guest of Mrs. Leroy Fields; Miss Elizabeth Creadick, who will leave tonight for New York and Mrs. Richard Fenley Hunter, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. William Lyons, and Mrs. Scott Baker of San Francisco, the guest of Miss Mary Blossom. There have also been several weddings of interest. Among them was that of Miss Stephanie Strain to Lieutenant Scott, which took place yesterday. The bride's concert Wednesday night also was attended by a large number of society folk.

The wedding of Miss Stephanie Strain and Lieutenant Mayton Edwin Scott took place yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at All-Saints chapel. The bride wore her going-away costume, which was a tailored suit of brown duvelins with a toque of the same shade. She wore a corsage bouquet of orchids and Ophelia roses. Miss Carol Montague, who was maid of honor, was also dressed in a tailored suit of the autumn colors. Her bouquet was of Ophelia roses. Jean Strain, young sister of the bride, was flower girl. She carried an artistic French basket of lavender and pink Michaelmas daisies and was dressed in a dainty frock of pink penna cloth. Lieutenant Scott's best man was Captain Wellington.

Being a military wedding, the chapel was decorated with flags and flame-colored sashes, the artillery colors. Immediately after the ceremony, a reception and supper were held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Strain. Mr. and Mrs. Strain received the guests, who were only the relatives and close family friends and officer friends of the bridegroom and assisted by Mrs. Strain's sister, Mrs. J. R. Myers, and Mr. and Mrs. John Gill. The house was decorated in flags and the red sashes, except the dining room, which was in pink and lavender daisies and huckleberry foliage. Presiding at the table were Miss Louise Bickle and Mrs. Harold Gill.

The bride is a member of one of Portland's oldest pianos, the artillery colors. She is a granddaughter of the late Frank Dekum. The bridegroom, who has been stationed at Corvallis, is a lieutenant in the artillery and saw service in Mexico and later in France. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Scott of Alexandria, La.

The wedding of Miss Elsie Oberdorfer to Edgar Freed will take place tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. A. Oberdorfer. Owing to the recent death of her father, the wedding will be a small affair. Miss Oberdorfer is a member of one of Portland's oldest families, and is a niece of ex-Senator Joseph Simon. She will be attended by her cousin, Caroline Simon, and her young sister, Doris, will be flower girl. Best man will be Harold Oberdorfer. Miss Oberdorfer is a graduate of Wellesley college, and Mr. Freed, who was born and reared in Tennessee, is a graduate of Pennsylvania university and Harvard law school.

A reception for Colonel and Mrs. W. H. C. Bowen and Miss Geraldine Bowen and a dancing party for the younger set will be the attraction at Hill Military academy next Saturday evening, October 11. Patrons and patronesses for the occasion will be Eugene, Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Daniels, Mr. and Mrs. William D. Wheelwright, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Shevlin, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Murphy, Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Hill and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Hill. A few members of the faculty and society folk will assist. One hundred young girls have been put on the invitational list for the party.

Everyone is asked to help the drive for clothing for the Armenians tomorrow. The call has been heard. The Armenians face a winter of death and desolation unless they can be clothed with garments sent by generous America. Oregon must give a carload. Portland can do a big part. The gown that is a wee bit faded or out of fashion, the coat that a daughter or son has outgrown, anything clean and useful will be acceptable. The fire stations are being used as collecting points for the garments. Let society have a big share and give generously to its less fortunate friends in far-away Armenia.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hurlbut motored home from a month's vacation at Seaside last week. While at the coast they entertained at a number of week-end parties.

Mrs. William MacMaster and her daughter, Mrs. Reade M. Ireland, entertained at tea yesterday at their country home "Ardour" in honor of Miss Ruth Teal, whose marriage to Carlton Walter Betts will take place November 1. Five tables were arranged for bridge before the tea, to which over 100 guests were invited. Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. Cameron Squires, Mrs. Charles Miller, Mrs. Roderick Macleay and Mrs. Norman Rupp. Assistants were Mrs. Lavette, Mrs. Margaret Tucker, Marian Voorhies, Margaret Biddle and Mary Bacon.

Miss Dorothy Worcester will be

Smith, Mr. and Mrs. William Belcher, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Belcher, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Babcock, Mr. and Mrs. George Nevins, Miss Alderson and M. McGraw.

Great interest is being taken in the paper chase to be given at Camp Lewis today. Following the chase, a hunt breakfast will be served at luncheon at her home on Lovejoy street. The table looked very attractive, a beautiful basket of fruit gracing the center. Places were marked for eight guests, who were the Misses Vona and Lella Guthrie, Helen Honeyman, Elizabeth Jacobs, Rhoda Rumelin, Charlotte Breyman, Elizabeth Huber and the hostess.

Mrs. George K. Wentworth was hostess Thursday at a smart tea at her home at Riverview, in honor of Miss Elizabeth Jacobs and her mother, Mrs. Fred A. Jacobs. Society maids and matrons called during the tea hours to honor Mrs. and Miss Jacobs, who will leave Portland in a few weeks to spend the winter in California. Miss Helen Honeyman entertained at an informal tea Tuesday, guests for this occasion being intimate friends of Miss Jacobs. Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. Adolph Neu and Mrs. Thomas Fitzpatrick, and Miss Elizabeth Peacock took the tea.

Dr. and Mrs. Calvin S. White were the charming hosts Thursday night for an interesting reception held in honor of Theodore Karle, the celebrated tenor, and William Stickle, composer and accompanist to Mr. Karle. Mr. Karle gave a delightful rendering of "Who Knows," accompanied by the composer, Mr. Stickle. The guests were Dr. and Mrs. William T. Foster, Dr. and Mrs. Harry Torrey, Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Templeton, Mr. and Mrs. Allison Humphey, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Warren, Mr. and Mrs. Hudson Hastings, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. Elnathan Sweet, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Knowlton, Judge and Mrs. Jacob Kanzier, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bohman, Dr. and Mrs. William House, Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Walker, Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Smith, Mrs. Russell, Mrs. Botsford, Miss Abbie White, Mrs. Roscoe Gilmer, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Burns, Miss Reed, the Misses Elizabeth Torrey, Florence Hemminway, Eleanor White, Helen Sweet, Marguerite T. Templeton, Miss Bacon, Professor Wodey and Leicester White. Mrs. Russell, who is the mother of Mrs. Foster and Mrs. Bohman, presided in the dining room.

Little Joan Gerlinger celebrated her first birthday last Monday when her mother, Mrs. Louis Gerlinger, asked a number of young matrons and their small children to spend the afternoon.

Mrs. F. J. Leonard entertained with a small dinner party Tuesday night at the Hotel Portland. Covers were placed for eight at a table decorated in fall flowers and foliage.

The wedding of Miss Elsie Oberdorfer to Edgar Freed will take place tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. A. Oberdorfer. Owing to the recent death of her father, the wedding will be a small affair. Miss Oberdorfer is a member of one of Portland's oldest families, and is a niece of ex-Senator Joseph Simon. She will be attended by her cousin, Caroline Simon, and her young sister, Doris, will be flower girl. Best man will be Harold Oberdorfer.
