

LOGANBERRIES ON 'WORN-OUT' YAMHILL LAND MONEY-MAKER

Notable Results Achieved by Sheridan Grower Prove That Industry, Under Intelligent Care, Is Highly Profitable One.

Load of Loganberries From J.O. Brown Yard An Even One Ton.

Section of 10 Acre Loganberry Yard Of J.O. Brown Of Sheridan That Averaged 4 1/2 Tons To Acre.

SHERIDAN, Or., Oct. 4.—(Special.)—River bottom land in Yamhill county doesn't sell for a song, but the man who a year ago bought up some of this land, cleared it and then dared to set the acreage to loganberries would be the man today who doubled his money. This is not necessarily true of river bottom land alone, but is merely taken as an illustration because of the results obtained by a Sheridan grower, John Brown, one of those venturesome fellows who have faith in the loganberry industry. From ten acres of loganberry this year he harvested 45 tons, netting him enough in this one harvest to pay for the 2 1/2 acres he bought and leave him a bank balance as well. When Mr. Brown undertook the purchase of this land in 1917 he did so on his credit and unlimited faith. He still has both today, and his place paid for, too. He set to work with a system of loganberry culture firm in his mind and followed it out consistently. It is not a complicated system, or a system involving a great amount of theory. It is mainly hard work and common sense. He was ridiculed when he started out. People told him his land had been farmed for 35 years and was worn out. But he went ahead. He plowed deep enough to break up the hardpan. This was important, he says. If this had not been done the tap roots could not have broken through and absorbed the moisture carried in the sub-strata. He then prepared the ground as for ordinary garden work. For fall planting he used yearling plants. They were hardy enough to withstand the winter. In the spring he used tips and the season following giving the tips an opportunity to make a sturdy growth.

"Worn-Out" Land Still Good. "When people tell you your land is worn out, that it has been farmed too long and won't make berry land, just examine it and see if the hardpan has been broken and, if it hasn't, break it up," advises Mr. Brown. He had eight pickings from his ten acres of berries. The picking began the last day of June and lasted through to the 15th day of August. His table of pickings, with total weights, is: First picking, 3 tons; second, 10 tons; third, 1 1/2 tons; fourth, 12 tons; fifth, 6 1/2 tons; sixth, 3 1/2 tons; seventh, 1 1/2 tons; eighth, 1 ton. Comparatively speaking, this was a stupendous yield, the average to an acre being 4 1/2 tons. He received 8 cents a pound, delivered at the cannery, and paid his pickers 2 1/2 cents a pound. This is in strong contrast with 1917, when growers were receiving 3 1/2 cents for the berries and were paying pickers 1 1/2 cents. Pickers and growers both have profited in proportion with the growth of the industry, for while the acreage is increasing it provides longer duration of picking.

Church Recognizes Changed Status of Woman.

Episcopal Book of Common Prayer Likely to Be Revised.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 4.—The proposed revision of the Book of Common Prayer of the Episcopal church, which is to come before the triennial convention, opening here October 8, embodies changes in the marriage service in recognition of "the new status of woman in the life of the world—that of political equality with man." It is proposed to eliminate the word "obey" from the woman's pledge in the marriage service, meaning the promise of man and woman the same, while the words "With all my worldly goods I thee endow," in the man's pledge, would also be stricken out. It is stated by church leaders that the proposed revision would not only enrich but "modernize and humanize" the Book of Common Prayer. It is proposed to eliminate from the burial office of the liturgy all expressions that tend to represent death as sickness as the direct acts of God. The meetings of the 3000 delegates, the clergy, the house of bishops and the various auxiliary organizations are to be held in half a dozen large churches of several denominations and in large halls. The largest convention hall in the city has been engaged for the evening inspirational meetings, which will be addressed by leading churchmen and nationally known figures.

Justice-honor-service The Foundation of a Great Business

Built on a foundation of justice, honor and service, The Paraffine Companies, Inc., has grown steadily and consistently until today it is one of the dominating industries of the Far West.

It is preeminently a Pacific Coast institution. Organized in 1884, with the high-minded ideals characteristic of the early Pioneers, the Company has endeavored to live up to a policy of fairness to everyone and a square deal always. Just as frank honesty and tireless energy developed the vast regions of the West, so did they also help build up The Paraffine Companies, Inc.

A Square Deal After Fire of 1906

After the San Francisco Fire of 1906 the Oakland Ready Roofing plant of The Paraffine Companies, Inc., was one of the few factories capable of delivering building material immediately. Its entire output, however, could take care of only a small part of the tremendous demand. But Pabco Products were sold at the same price which had prevailed before the disaster. No favoritism was shown, and the orders of the individual whose need was small but urgent were filled as readily and as promptly as were the large orders from big companies. Quotas were apportioned equally among those who needed building material and these quotas were strictly adhered to.

A Fair Price to All

This is but one example of the policy which has been consistently followed. The jobber knows that he pays the same price for Pabco Products that the other jobbers pay, quantity being the same. The dealer knows that The Paraffine Companies, Inc., will treat him with the same fairness with regard to price and promptness of delivery that they treat every other dealer. The customer who buys Malthoid or Ru-ber-oid knows that he gets the highest quality ready roofing and always at a fair price.

Service to Everybody

Together with this policy of dependability The Paraffine Companies, Inc., has endeavored to provide real service to every purchaser of Pabco Products. Salesmen are selected with the greatest care and are educated in the high ideals of the Company. They understand thoroughly the manufacture and application of roofing and are always ready to render whatever service they can to the jobber, to the dealer and to the small purchaser.

If you ever have need of advice on the matter of roofing, if you ever wish to know the best method of applying Malthoid, Ru-ber-oid or other Pabco Products, feel free to call upon us.
