

MINERS WARNED TO REMAIN AT WORK

President Declares Strike to Be Unlawful.

OPERATION NOT TO STOP

Means Will Be Found for Protection of Industrial Interests, Says Mr. Wilson.

at his disposal to prevent any stoppage of work.

Government Would Mediate.

The services of the government as a mediator, offered yesterday by the president through Secretary Wilson, but not accepted, were again held out.

There was no direct intimation of what steps the cabinet had discussed to prevent stoppage of work should the president's solemn warning to rescind the strike order fail of result. It was regarded as significant that attention was drawn in White House circles to the statement made by Secretary Baker in a recent address in Cleveland, when Mr. Baker announced that department commanders had been directed to furnish troops at the request of governors without referring to Washington.

Contract Violation Voted.

The president's statement follows: "On September 23, 1919, the convention of the United Mine Workers of America, at Cleveland, O., adopted a proposal declaring that all contracts in the bituminous field shall be declared as having automatically expired November 1, 1919, and making various demands, including a 60 percent increase in wages and the adoption of a six-hour work day and a five-day week; and providing that, in the event of satisfactory wage agreement should not be secured for the central competitive field before November 1, 1919, the national officials should be authorized and instructed to call a general strike of all bituminous miners and mine workers throughout the United States, effective November 1, 1919.

"Pursuant to these instructions, the officers of the organization have issued a call to make the strike effective November 1. This is one of the gravest steps ever proposed in this country, affecting the economic welfare and the domestic comfort and health of the people. It is proposed to abrogate an agreement as to wages which was made with the sanction of the United States fuel administration and which was to run during the continuance of the war, but not beyond April 1, 1920.

Strike Held Unjustifiable.

"This strike is proposed at a time when the government is making the most earnest effort to reduce the cost of living and has appealed with success to other classes of workers to postpone similar disputes until a reasonable opportunity has been afforded for dealing with the cost of living. It is recognized that the strike would practically shut off the country's supply of its principal fuel at a time when interference with that supply is calculated to create a disastrous fuel famine.

"All interests would be affected alike by a strike of this character and its victims would be not the rich only but the poor and the needy as well—those least able to provide in advance a fuel supply for domestic use. It would involve the shutting down of countless industries and the throwing out of employment of a large number of the workers of the country. It would involve stopping the operation of railroads, electric light and gas plants, street railway lines and other public utilities, and the shipping to and from this country, thus preventing our giving aid to the allied countries with supplies which they so seriously need. The country is confronted with this prospect at a time when the war itself is still a fact, when the world is still in suspense as to negotiations for peace, when our troops are still being transported and when their transport means urgent need of fuel.

Action Held Unprecedented.

"From whatever angle the subject may be viewed, it is apparent that such a strike in such circumstances would be the most far-reaching plan ever presented in this country to limit the facilities of production and distribution of a necessity of life and thus indirectly to restrict the production and distribution of all the necessities of life. A strike under these circumstances is not only unjustifiable, it is unlawful.

"The action proposed has apparently been taken without any vote upon the specific proposal, and the individual members of the United Mine Workers of America throughout the United States, an almost unprecedented proceeding. I cannot believe that any right of any American worker needs for its protection the taking of this extraordinary step, and I am convinced that when the time and money are considered it constitutes a fundamental attack, which is both morally and legally, upon the rights of society and upon the welfare of our country. I feel that the individual members of the United Mine Workers would not vote, upon full consideration, in favor of such a strike under these conditions.

"When a movement reaches a point where it appears to involve practically the entire productive capacity of the country with respect to one of the most vital necessities of daily domestic and industrial life, and when the movement is asserted in the circumstances I have stated, and at a time and in a manner calculated to involve the maximum of dangers in the public welfare in this critical hour of our country's life, the public interest becomes the paramount consideration.

"In these circumstances I solemnly

Red Leader Rallies Bolsheviks in Effort to Save Petrograd and Capture Temporarily Averted.

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 25.—The entire staff of Leon Trotsky, bolshevik minister of war and marine of Russia, has been captured at Tsarskoe-Selo, according to a Reval dispatch to the National Tidende. Trotsky himself escaped by changing to a railroad car and later fleeing from the scene in an automobile.

Troops of the northwestern Russian army pursued the minister and fired upon his car, but Trotsky succeeded in reaching Petrograd.

The left flank of General Yudenich's army is reported to be under fire from the bolshevik dreadnought Poltava, which is lying in the Neva river, inside the limits of Petrograd, and shooting at the new warships.

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 25.—The bolshevik forces are making a strong stand at Tsarskoe-Selo, which, according to advices received here, the "white" troops outflanked.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Rallying under the command of Leon Trotsky, bolshevik minister of war and marine, troops of the Russian soviet government have savagely attacked the lines of the Russian northwestern army and have succeeded in parrying, for the moment at least, the thrust of the advance against Petrograd, according to reports reaching this city.

Tsarskoe-Selo and Pavlovsk, south of Petrograd, have been recaptured by the forces of General Yudenich. It is claimed, and the advance of the bolshevik front is going on, but heavy fighting is going on along General Denikin's entire front. The fighting extends for 700 miles from Pskov to Kiev.

The chief of the British military mission with General Denikin reports under yesterday's date that the battle so far is going successfully for the anti-bolshevik forces.

Moscow May Be Left. South of Moscow, where General Denikin's advance has been to a certain degree the hold of the bolshevik on the ancient city of the czars, fighting is going on, but nothing as to the results obtained has been learned. Reports indicate, however, that the soviet leaders are of a plan to withdraw all bolshevik troops in to Turkestan and to abandon the city of Moscow.

Trotsky Sees Danger Yet. Leon Trotsky, the bolshevik minister of war and marine of Russia, in dealing the soviet counter offensive and capture of Pavlovsk, south of Petrograd, and the repulse of anti-bolshevik forces in the Pskov sector, says:

"The danger hanging over Petrograd has been averted, but not yet definitely removed," according to a wireless dispatch received here from Moscow.

ERIVAN, Armenia, Oct. 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—Fears that the remaining Armenians within the boundaries of old Russia may be wiped out before the peace conference settles the fate of the new-born republic were expressed today by Premier Khastanian, and the same apprehension is felt by American missionary workers here.

Such a view, however, is not entertained by Colonel William Haskell, representing American relief organizations, and also high commissioner for the four great powers in Armenia. Unless the situation of Turkey should be announced, which would stir up political elements now relatively quiet, it is not believed there will be any action against Armenians in Turkey proper, nor any attempt to dispatch troops into Russian Armenia.
