

SUCCESS FOR WOOD CANDIDACY SCOUTED

McCusker and Reames Say General's Prospects Poor.

PALMER HELD IN FAVOR

Republican and Democrat, Back From East, Report Military Man Not Wanted.

General Leonard Wood, so it is said, will not be the republican nominee for president.

This is about the only point on which Thomas McCusker, republican, and Clarence L. Reames, democrat, agree, after studying the presidential situation for several weeks in the east.

"I heard nothing but kind words about General Wood," says Mr. McCusker, "but the opinion prevails that it would be unwise to put a military man at the head of the government. The general as the republican standard-bearer would be too much like a man on horseback."

"On trains I met scores of former service men," says Mr. Reames, "going to the convention of the American Legion. I talked with them in the smoking-room, the dining-car and in hotels. Without exception these former soldiers praised General Wood; believed he would have made a gallant leader had he been given opportunity overseas, but they probably ended with the expression that the soldier vote does not want a military man as president."

On other matters Messrs. McCusker and Reames differ.

Pointdexter Makes Impression.

"Miss Pointdexter is making a strong impression," declares Mr. McCusker. "While Wood is being backed by the big money of the country, Pointdexter is finding support from solid and representative business men in the east. While I was in Washington I met a delegation of business men who arrived from New York to talk over the Pointdexter campaign with Jonathan Bourne. I saw letters inviting Pointdexter to go to England to talk, like his stand on the labor question."

"The Pointdexter boom is a joke," asserts Mr. Reames. "It is getting nowhere and is attracting very little attention. Governor Lowden is the most talked of candidate for the republican nomination."

On another point, however, Messrs. McCusker and Reames see alike. This is regarding the democratic possibility.

Both Agree on Palmer.

"I heard a great deal of talk about A. Mitchell," says Mr. McCusker. "He appears to be growing in favor for the democratic nomination, particularly since his stand on the coal strike. He is evidently a man with initiative and ready to act." "It looks," says Mr. Reames, "as though Palmer will be one of the principal contenders for the democratic nomination. Washington is full of talk about him."

"The candidacies of Secretary of War Baker, Secretary of the Interior Daniels and others are not taken seriously," according to Mr. McCusker, "but McAdoo is expected to get into the game and make a strong showing."

Although he was on the reception committee when Hiram Johnson came to Portland, Mr. McCusker is more friendly to the Pointdexter cause than to the aspirations of the Californian. Mr. McCusker met both Johnson and Pointdexter at Washington and each asked him to go to Oregon before the primaries. These candidates will take advantage of the Oregon presidential preference primary. Mr. Johnson is the more popular vote of the republican party which will carry with it Oregon's votes in the national convention.

Johnson Boon Held Back.

Declaring Pointdexter's candidacy a joke, Mr. Reames says that Johnson's boom is not getting very far either. Discussing the peace treaty, Mr. Reames says that he watched the debate for ten days in the senate and that it was an education to observe how Hitchcock, floor leader for the administration, and Lodge, floor leader for the opposition, sparred for every advantage.

"I am of the opinion," says Mr. Reames, "that so many reservations will be tacked into the document that the majority of the democrats will refuse to ratify it and that it will come to a deadlock. When a deadlock is reached I look for one side or the other to surrender—I don't know which—and then will come some sort of a compromise. Of course, the treaty may become the issue in the presidential campaign, but I expect it to be disposed of before that time."

WIFE ISOLATED 4 YEARS

EX-TACOMA WOMAN SOON TO REJOIN HUSBAND.

Mother and Son Suffer as Father Marches Away With Troops of Montenegro.

PODGORITZA, Montenegro, Nov. 1.—Isolated for four years in the fastnesses of the Montenegro mountains through the fortunes of war, Mrs. Rosa M. Struger, formerly Miss Rose Webb of Tacoma, Wash., will soon be restored to her husband in St. Paul, Minn. Lost to her world since the Austrian hordes swept over the country and her husband marched away with the Montenegro troops, she and her little son have suffered all the anguish of complete isolation from family and friends besides the physical discomforts of war-time living in a war-wrecked country.

Five years ago Marco Struger brought his wife and baby son from the United States to visit his parents at Cetin, Montenegro, a village high up in the mountains. While on their visit the war began and the husband shouldered his rifle to help stay the onrush. He was captured by the Austrians, but escaped and returned to the United States, where he sought Red Cross aid to find his wife in Montenegro.

When an American Red Cross commission arrived in Montenegro after the armistice Mrs. Struger wrote asking for assistance for the refugees in her little mountain village. Her appeal reached the commission a few days after an inquiry from Washington asking the commission to locate Mrs. Struger had been received. The supplies were sent to the mountain town in response to Mrs. Struger's appeal. She took entire charge of the relief work in her district and

POPULAR SALEM GIRL WEDS CAPITAL CITY MAN.

Mrs. Kenneth Bell. SALEM, Or., Nov. 15.—(Special.)—An event of interest to local society circles took place at Vancouver, Wash., last Saturday, when Miss Florence Esch, daughter of ex-sheriff and Mrs. William Esch of 225 North Capitol street, was married to Kenneth Bell of this city.

The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Porter, pastor of the Vancouver Christian church, and was witnessed by a few intimate friends of the couple. Immediately following the ceremony, the bride and groom went to Portland, where they spent Saturday night and Sunday with friends. They returned here late in the afternoon.

Mrs. Bell attended the public schools here and later graduated from the Capital business college. Since August, 1918, she has held a position in the office of the secretary of state. Mr. Bell is employed in Hunt Bros' packing plant here and is well known in Salem.

made several convoy trips between her village and Podgoritza.

She proved to be a tall, good-looking woman, bronzed by the sun and winds of Montenegro. In her years with the mountaineers she acquired a perfect speaking knowledge of their language. Mrs. Struger was put into communication with her husband and soon will join him in America.

SCHOOLS TO SELL SEALS

CAMPAIGN OF OREGON TUBERCULOSIS ASSOCIATION BACKED.

Superintendent Churchill Urges Loyal Support in Disposal of Red Cross Stamps.

J. A. Churchill, superintendent of public instruction in Oregon, is a loyal supporter of the Oregon Tuberculosis association in its annual sale of Red Cross Christmas seals and has recently mailed to all county superintendents in the state a letter, in which he says:

"We feel that the work of the Oregon Tuberculosis association is so highly educational, and so closely connected with the work that teachers are doing, that we wish to endorse their work again this year, and to urge that the children in the schools throughout the entire state assist in the Red Cross seal sale. We hope that you, too, will give this most worthy work your full approval, and that you will notify your teachers of your endorsement of the work."

The co-operation of the school children is considered vital to the success of the annual seal sale, inasmuch as the tuberculosis programme in Oregon is largely educational and much valuable work is done during the Red Cross seal sale in teaching lessons in health and hygiene. From 70 to 80 per cent of all cases of tuberculosis is contracted in childhood, hence the importance of early education in preventive measures.

That Oregon has a big tuberculosis percentage will be understood when it is known that there are at all times 6000 open cases in the state and that from 9 to 10 per cent of all deaths in the state are due to tuberculosis, these figures being exclusive of epidemics such as the influenza.

The organization of the state by counties for the sale of the Christmas seals will be rushed to completion within the next week and will be in progress on December 1 to 10 an intensive sale of the gay little holiday stickers will be waged in an effort to put Oregon over its budget of $4,250, which means five seals per capita for the entire state.

CHURCH MERGER PLANNED

Walla Walla Presbyterians and Congregationalists to Vote.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Nov. 15.—(Special.)—Two of Walla Walla's big churches will vote on the question of merging. The churches are the First Congregational, Rev. Otis H. Holmes, pastor, and the First Presbyterian, Rev. Harold C. Warren, pastor. These churches have had the movement to unite under way for several weeks, the board of directors having unanimously approved the merger and decided to submit it to the congregations for approval or disapproval.

If the merger is approved, the single church growing out of the merger will be known as the Marcus Whitman Memorial church.
