State Director Handsaker Returns From Denver Conference Convinced Urgency Is Real.

J. J. Handsaker, state director for the committee of near east relief, has just returned from Denver where a conference of directors and prominent workers in the cause of the Armenians and Syrians was held, and where accounts of the terrible conditions existing in the near east were given by men who had been on the scene recently.

"I went to Denver because I wanted to be sure and get myself right regarding conditions," said Mr. Handsaker. "I had told the stories of suffering, starving orphans of Armenia so often and it had become a part of me, and I wondered if it possibly could be true that thousands still were in such an unfortunate state. So I went and heard news fresh from Armenia and Syria and I found all the horrors still exist; people are still starving and although we have some splendid workers there and thousands of dollars have been given, the still is a vast amount of work to do."

"One man, Dr. Henry H. Riggs, whose wife and child died in Armenia, called us. 'Reduction in appropriations necessitates turning out many orphans to starve as winter begins, besides thousands already refused. We cannot do it.' Oregon must hear such an appeal," concluded Mr. Handsaker.

Christmas Offering Asked.
The special appeal at this time is for Christmas offerings to be given to the Armenians. Every Sunday school in Oregon has been asked to make an offering. Every man, woman and child who has something for which he may be thankful is called upon to make a thank offering.

The Nazarene church at Tillamook with but 50 members has made its Christmas pledge $240; the Christian of the same town with 250 members will give $525 and maybe more, and the Methodist Episcopal will donate at least $300.

A young girl whose mother died recently went to Mr. Handsaker with $100 of her savings which she gave to the Armenian relief fund as a memorial to the mother. To save a life will be a better memorial to my mother than a little marble slab would be," said the girl. Another girl, a member of the Nazarene Baptist church, who heard Mr. Handsaker speak, took three $20 bills, her savings, which she donated to the cause.

Many Thankful Pledges.
At the conference of state directors many doubled their pledges after hearing the accounts of suffering and starvation. Mr. Handsaker didn't make any pledge except this, "Oregon will not refuse the cry of these unhappy people, but I am morally certain we will send it."

Mr. Handsaker will speak to the White Temple Sunday school this morning. Dr. F. C. Murkotten, for ten years an Episcopal clergyman of Berkeley, chaplain of the Elks and but a few days ago returned from Armenia, Syria and Egypt, will be in Portland tomorrow and Tuesday and will address the Episcopalian and Baptist clergy, and probably the Rotary or other clubs.

Mr. Handsaker declared that the story, "The Land of the Stalking Death," in the National Geographic magazine, is arousing great interest and sympathy for Armenia, and the stories brought back by workers in the far-away land and the cablegrams for help are stirring America as never before.

It is a case of sending money, food and help now, or starvation later on, says Mr. Handsaker.

I Admit You Are Interested in "How Much Will It Cost?"

But I Am Staking My Reputation of 15 Years' Standing on the Results

DR. E. G. ANSPUND, D.D.S. My Practice is Limited to High-Class Dentistry Only.

It is human nature to buy the most for the least money, but too often "bargain hunters" overlook quality in scanning price-marks.

The pride I take in the fact that I have always given my patients "better dentistry for less money" is in the BETTER DENTISTRY, rather than in the lower price.

The savings possible in having dental work done in this office are due to the EFFICIENT BUSINESS SYSTEM—in other words, we save in our methods of doing business—NOT IN THE MATERIAL USED OR SERVICES RENDERED.

Don't ask prices of a professional man—until you first ask HOW CAPABLE HE IS.

A high price might frighten you away from a really high-class dentist or doctor, while a low price might arouse your suspicions unjustly.

Ask your friends and neighbors about the quality of work I have been giving them, the precautions taken against insanitary conditions; the skill of my staff of operators; the service rendered; the absence of pain. Draw your conclusions from this kind of evidence. Let the price I charge come as a pleasant surprise.

The QUALITY of work done in this office will never deteriorate—the price may change if "cost of production" makes it necessary, but not otherwise.

Be assured that here you are getting just as good dentistry as your money will buy ANYWHERE, and almost invariably for less than you would pay elsewhere for work at all comparable.

NATURE PLATES AND BRIDGE WORK

"Every Patient Must Be Absolutely and Forever Satisfied"

Open Nights

—is the motto of this office. Of the thousands of patients who have had their dental work done here in past years, I HAVE NEVER REFUSED to make good any complaint, REGARDLESS of whether it was OUR fault or the patient's. FIFTEEN-YEAR GUARANTEE.

Ivory Py-ra-lin

Interest in this beautiful and serviceable ware is nation-wide. Every woman aspires to own a complete set some time and there are many thousands of them who have not even started toward this goal. There are many thousands who have a few pieces and would gratefully welcome additions—particularly at Christmas time.

Ivory Py-ra-lin has the beautiful grain and true color tone of the tusk. It has the weight which assures practically indefinite service. You can fairly "feel" the quality in every piece. It is easy to see the thoroughness of the workmanship and the perfection in finishing; and in the brushes the quality of bristles used is apparent.

At the present time the assortments in The Owl Drug Stores are complete, but prompt action is advisable according to the experience of former holiday seasons.
