been completed by V. D. Chappell, secretary-treasurer and professor of dairy manufacture at the state agricultural college. The entertainment committee has made plans for a big social time, and delegates are assured of a profitable and pleasant time.

"At the latest executive meeting it was decided that to win any of the premiums for good products the winners must be present," says Professor Chappell. "If the highest acoring exhibitor is not present, his entry will get the prizes, but he will not get the honor medals, which will go to the highest scoring exhibitor present. Everything is in the Oregon dairyman's favor this year, so we look for a record-breaking attendance."

A free cube, 6x6x7-inch, inside measurement, will be sent free of charge to all who request it. This is indorsed by Professor Chappell as a good move for uniformity.

Exhibits must be sent express prepaid not later than December 12 to the secretary at the Portland hotel.
